

Hood River Glacier

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1905.

Bend, that thriving city down in Crook county, is now a regularly organized municipality, and to keep up with the progress of the times, the Bulletin has been much enlarged. The Bend boom appears to be a success. During 1904 over $100,000 was expended in building improvements in the city.

Too much money goes from Hood River to Portland for the purchase of vegetables. Some of the farmers here should see that this money remains at home. More vegetables were raised here last year than ever before, but there are yet opportunities to make money with vegetable gardens. It takes work, but it pays.

Up in Idaho the enterprising real estate dealers are using page ads to tell the world that that state won gold medals for agriculture and horticulture at the St. Louis fair. Here is a chance for Hood River land dealers. No other fruit in the country won honors on fruit that old Wasco did. A word to the wise should suffice.

Well, Oregon should be cut up into more counties, any way, says the Eugene Register. As the state grows the people should be brought closer to the commercial center of each county. Oregon now has 33 counties. It is time to change the figures. Thirty-three sounds musical but not big enough. The number 34 is better and denotes progress.

The Antelope Herald believes that the chances are bright for the creation of a new county from Southern Wasco and northern Crook, the proposed county to be called Jefferson. A very appropriate name, for as the Herald states it was under President Jefferson that the exploration of the Oregon country was made, and in the Southern corner of the proposed county stands majestic Mount Jefferson.

Axel H. Rahm has prepared a very interesting and instructive article on "The Viking and his Ship," which appears in another column in this week's Glacier. Mr. Rahm is also an artist, the picture of the Viking's ship (restored) is from a sketch made by him. The Vikings are thought to have been the real discoverers of America. Mr. Rahm was born in the homeland of these seafaring men of the early centuries. His writings on Scandinavian history are very entertaining, and we hope Mr. Rahm can find the time for further historical contributions to the Glacier.

The Portland fair is being advertised on all sides. An army of 800 men has been secured to actively represent the Lewis and Clark centennial in territories covering nearly the entire area of the United States. These men are the ones who come in contact with hundreds of tourists and housekeepers every month. The agents have promised to do all in their power to induce people to visit Portland next summer, and it is expected that their efforts will bring several hundred visitors to the fair.

A wholesale butcher of sheep occurred two weeks ago on the head waters of Crooked river. Such slaughtering of sheep has become the common thing in the interior counties since the war to the death between the cattle men and sheep men to see who can keep the other's flock off the public range by means fair or foul. The Prineville Journal denounces in a fearless manner these acts of lawlessness, and appeals to the better sense of the citizens to see that the guilty parties meet justice. Such an open expression in a land where one knows not his deadly enemies takes nerve. The whole thing calls for serious consideration. Local officers are powerless to quell the disturbances. It will cost a sacrifice of lives and money, but the state authorities should step in. Let the legislature endeavor to straighten out the tangle.

The hobo has been made the subject of much thought and study in recent years, says a writer in the Orchard and Farm. A comparison of authorities by the University of Missouri shows that the people of the United States pass out annually through their back doors nearly $10,000,000 worth of old clothes and cold victuals to the 46,000 tramps of the country. Yet 50 percent of these weary Willies have a trade or profession and could make a decent living if this irresistible antipathy for work had not seized them. Surprising as it may seem 90 percent of the American hobos are married men. "Driven from home by their wives," is the comment of the Miss ar species. We Americans usually pat ourselves on the back when talking of this part of our population and speak wisely about restriction of foreign immigration, but statistics show that over 50 percent of our tramp population is of American parentage.

Fellowship for the Ministers.
Rev. W. C. Evans and O. J. Nelson met Monday morning at the Congregational parsonage with Rev. W. C. G. more for a season of acquaintance and fellowship.

Other ministers were unavoidably absent and some were out of town, but there is a general desire among the pastors for co-operation. No steps were taken toward an organization, but there is to be a meeting Monday, January 23, at 10:30 sharp, with Rev. W. C. Evans at his home to which all the ministers of Hood River and vicinity are most cordially invited.

To Preserve Forestry Building.
Portland, Jan. 11.—It is probable that the forestry building at the Lewis and Clark centennial will be retained as a permanent structure after the exposition has closed. In order that this may be done it will be necessary that the legislature pass a special bill, since the act creating the position provided for the destruction of all the buildings.

President Jefferson Myers of the state commission says that the members of the commission are in favor of preserving the building. Present plans are to have the building turned over to pioneers and war veterans for residences. The forestry building is the second largest log house ever erected. The logs of which it is built are from four to six feet in diameter.

CITY WILL FIGHT SUIT OF FOULTS

The city of Hood River has been asked by P. F. Fouts to return $25,000, which is alleged to be his share of a patent license made void by the local option election on and after January 1; the city council has formerly refused to return the money asked for, suit has been instituted in the circuit court and an attorney has been retained by the council to defend the city, and if necessary to fight the case to a finish.

Mr. Fouts made his request for license rebate at a special meeting of the council last Tuesday afternoon. Councilman Early moved that the rebate be not paid at present, and not at all if the city's attorney advised. This carried, and on motion by Frasier the judiciary committee was instructed to secure legal advice and to ascertain whether the city could be compelled to pay the money demanded by Fouts. If suit should be instituted the committee was also instructed to obtain an attorney to defend the town in the action.

The minutes of the special meeting were approved at the adjourned session Monday night. D. McDonald of the judiciary committee reported having received a letter from Attorney John J. Ballester of Portland, who agreed to take the city's defense in the Fouts suit, and who considers the city of Hood River has a "good deal more than even chance to win out."

On motion of Early the council voted to accept Attorney Ballester's offer to defend the city in the Fouts' suit for the sum of $100, and Mr. McDonald was instructed to notify the Pendleton attorney. The Pendleton attorney was secured because he has several similar cases on hand.

The suit of Fouts vs. the city of Hood River was filed in the circuit court last Thursday, and the town has ten days to act in the matter, or judgment will be rendered by default. W. H. Wilson of The Dalles has been retained as attorney for Mr. Fouts.

The report of Marshal Olinger showed $10.00, collected as impounding fees, had been turned into the city exchequer; also that 24 drunks had appeared on the police blotter for the six months of the latter half of 1904.

The finance committee rendered a complete report, something that has never been done before in the history of the city government of Hood River. Mayor Bowers thought the committee, consisting of Charles T. Early, D. McDonald and E. S. Mayes deserved a vote of thanks for their work. McDonald considered the thanks were due Mr. Early for the work he has been in in framing the report. The report appears in another column.

Mayor Bowers' report was read by Recorder Nickerson. The same appears in full in another column of this issue. The reports of treasurer Truman Butler and Recorder Nickerson were read and approved, as were all the other reports. The report of retiring Treasurer Butler or, E. L. Smith.

Ordinance No. 92, providing for a contract for water with Joe Wilson, was given third reading, and on motion of Dr. W. T. Rowley, read and passed.

The bond of E. L. Smith, city treasurer, with Geo. P. Crowell as surety, was presented and accepted.

Claims against the city, amounting to $200, were then allowed, as follows:

E. E. Lottimes, supplies, $ 2 71
Dr. W. T. Rowley, expenses, 10 00
R. D. Gould, board of prisoners, 19 80
Geo. L. Shoen, stationery, 90
Marshal Olinger, salary for Dec. 50 00
Gauger & Hartley, hauling gravel, 3 00
Gauger & Hartley, hauling gravel, 2 75
Gauger & Hartley, hauling gravel, 2 75
A statement from O. B. Hartley showed a balance of $180 in favor of the city.

WHEN TEDDY GETS THOSE FINE APPLES

President Roosevelt will no doubt say "delicious" when he samples those Hood River apples. * * * We are glad the Hood River people sent those fine apples. They will convince him that everything is not rotten in Oregon. —Irrigon Irrigator.

A Seed Planter's Guide.
A copy of the Portland Seed Co's new Annual and Seed Planter's Guide has just reached our office. It is a book of 100 pages, 7x10, handsomely illustrated, printed on good paper and bound in a fine colored lithographic cover.

We understand this year's edition of the Portland Seed Co's seed catalogue is the finest and most expensive ever put out by any seed house in this coast and sells thousands of dollars. Few persons realize the magnitude of the business of a seed house. From a small start 12 years ago, they have increased and enlarged until now they have the largest and most important seed business in the Northwest. Their new catalogue gives complete descriptions and prices of the best vegetable, flower, fruit and field seeds for this coast. It also gives price and description of incubators, brooders, poultry and live supplies, plants, roses, shrubs, spray nozzles, garden and lawn tools. Aside from containing the right prices on the above goods, it contains much valuable information.

If our readers are interested in this line they can secure a copy of this new Annual by writing Portland Seed Co., Portland, Oregon.

Furn New Real Estate Agency.
W. J. Baker, the real estate agent, announces that Harry DeWitt has entered into partnership with him. The combined year promises much in the real estate line in Hood River, and the new firm of Baker & Co. propose to catch their share of the business. As Mr. DeWitt is an experienced stenographer, this company is now prepared to do as drawing up deeds, mortgages, writing insurance, etc.

CITY STREET WORK TOOK LARGE SUMS

Following is a summary of the report of the finance committee as returned to the council Monday night. The remainder of the report gives the warrants drawn during the year 1904, the same having been published from time to time in the Glacier's reports of the council meetings:

Hood River, Or., Jan. 2, 1905.—To the Honorable Mayor and Council—Gentlemen: Attached hereto find our annual financial statement, which we trust will meet with your approval. In compiling this statement we have allowed street improvements to carry "meats to prisoners," etc., owing to the fact that the streets derived all the benefit that was obtained from such source.

The accounts of the treasurer, recorder and street commissioner we have checked over carefully, and so far as we can determine they are O. K. Police Department has not been checked up, have the others, owing to the delay in filing report.

As to the outstanding warrants, will say that $500 of the present indebtedness is on the electrical engine and lamp in one and two years from November 22, 1904. This committee has arranged with our local banks to carry such overdrafts as may be made, with interest at 6 percent. Respectfully submitted,

CHAS. T. EARLY,
E. S. MAYES,
D. McDONALD,
Finance Committee.

When Barman's Burned.

Barman's wagon, dented July 12, 1904, was one of the most burning city. It was in the driveway. Chief John Becker was in charge, assisted by Oen, Bates, Lamb, Chancy, Brewster and Sullivan. Thousands crowded Broadway clear up to Park place as well as Park row, while the park in front was black with people. It was fun to see the boys at the outset of the fire bringing out Barman's old stuffed images and wax figures. One fellow ran out with Henry Clay under one arm and General Winfield Scott under the other. Queen Victoria was dragged out by the hat of her head. Miss, queen of Scots, was tossed out of the second story window, followed by Miss the prince. Head Carpenter Walter of the theater, who was also a member of Engine No. 28, that lay in Ann street, got so excited that he fell headlong down the main entrance stairway with Napoleon in one hand and Walker, filibuster, in the other.

The happy family that attracted as much attention in those days were determined not to leave. The cage door was thrown wide open and the birds and animals punched with sticks to drive them out, but few would accept their liberty and were burned to death. All of the 100,000 curiosities were destroyed.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

United States Land Office, The Dalles, Oregon, Aug. 23, 1904.—Notice is hereby given that to comply with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 8, 1878, entitled "An act to dispose of public lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1882.

GEORGE A. WRIGHT of Hood River, county of Wasco, state of Oregon, has on March 2, 1904 filed in this office his statement No. 2284, for the purchase of Section 24, Township 28 N., Range 10 E., W. 4, 1905, and he asks that the land subject to the purchase be sold to him for the purpose of agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before the register and receiver of the office on or before said date, the 15th day of December, 1904.

W. C. Evans of Viento, Oregon; Geo. H. Smith of Hood River, Oregon; Robert Wright of Viento, Oregon.

W. C. Evans and O. J. Nelson met Monday morning at the Congregational parsonage with Rev. W. C. G. more for a season of acquaintance and fellowship.

Other ministers were unavoidably absent and some were out of town, but there is a general desire among the pastors for co-operation. No steps were taken toward an organization, but there is to be a meeting Monday, January 23, at 10:30 sharp, with Rev. W. C. Evans at his home to which all the ministers of Hood River and vicinity are most cordially invited.

One fellow ran out with Henry Clay under one arm and General Winfield Scott under the other. Queen Victoria was dragged out by the hat of her head. Miss, queen of Scots, was tossed out of the second story window, followed by Miss the prince. Head Carpenter Walter of the theater, who was also a member of Engine No. 28, that lay in Ann street, got so excited that he fell headlong down the main entrance stairway with Napoleon in one hand and Walker, filibuster, in the other.

When Barman's Burned. Barman's wagon, dented July 12, 1904, was one of the most burning city. It was in the driveway. Chief John Becker was in charge, assisted by Oen, Bates, Lamb, Chancy, Brewster and Sullivan.
