

PITTSBURG CLUB CALLS FOR SPITZ

The Hood River Apple growers' union need an order recently from Max Heinrich, manager of the Dungsene club, in Pittsburg, Pa., for an express shipment of a half dozen boxes of Hood River Spitzbergers.

The Yellow Newtown is still a staunch favorite with the apple-eating public. Orders for this variety have been falling into the office of the Apple Growers' union almost faster than they can be filled.

The total shipments of the Hood River Apple Growers' union to date amount to 102 carloads. Sears & Porter, who have been very good to the union, have sent out about 29 cars, with more to come.

A large number of seconds are being shipped direct by the grower to Portland. The Portland market has picked up lately and many Hood River apples are drifting to that city.

WILL GRIND FLOUR IN TWO WEEKS MORE

The Hood River Milling Co. hopes to be grinding out flour by the middle of the month. The work of installing the five carloads of machinery has taken several weeks, and there is a large amount of work to be completed yet, before the mill will be ready for operations.

Joe Wilson is busy this week digging ditch for the iron pipe up the hill to the reservoir. The mill will be operated by water power. A pelton wheel has been ordered that will furnish 175 horsepower if necessary.
