IN MEMORY OF FRANCES WILLARD

The W. C. T. U. met as announced, in the U. B. church, Tuesday evening at 2 o'clock. A program had been prepared in honor of the memory of Frances E. Willard, who was the beloved and trusted leader of the White Ribbon forces from 1874 to the time of her death in 1898.

Marble Tribute to Frances Willard. The snow-white marble statue of Miss Frances Willard, conspicuous as the only statue of a woman among a score or more of images of noted men, was unveiled in the statutory hall of the capitol at Washington, Friday afternoon February 17, with exercises of a highly interesting and impressive character.

No More Phones on Mount Hood. Hood River, Oregon, Feb. 20, 1905. Editor Glacier.—In answer to the many comments of your various correspondents in regard to the poor service on the "Cloud Cap Inn Telephone line," I take this method of informing the patrons of the line, that from and after April 1, all telephone calls received from the line except the one at Bert Sandmann's house at Mount Hood, and so remove the cause of so much dissatisfaction to the concerned.

Surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Mason. Friends and neighbors of A. I. Mason at Pine Grove gathered for a social evening and a surprise party at the Mason home last Friday evening. Refreshments were served, and it is not necessary to state that a jolly good time is reported by all.

Institute Uniform Company. Brigadier General J. C. Jones, Oregon brigade, uniform rank, Woodmen of the World, was in Hood River Wednesday night and addressed the local camp. General Jones' flow of humor kept the house in a continuous uproar, and he was voted the entertainment for excellence by his fellow Woodmen in this city. Jones also represents the Tilton Bros., furnace dealers.

Grateful for Kind Deeds. Mrs. J. B. King played the part of good Samaritan last Friday and Saturday by paper hanging and other work for Mrs. N. Noteman, who is comfortable. Mrs. Noteman has been on the sick list for the last month and it is such kind acts to those who live lonely lives that show that the spirit of Christ is still among us.

Should the senior senator of Oregon go into retirement, either forced or voluntary, what an unseemly spectacle there would be to do the senatorial toga. In fact, already the political vultures imagine they smell prey, and are trimming their sails accordingly. Its funny, genuinely so, if it is costly to the people talk and rant about the "choice of the people" when it comes to electing senators, or almost any other officers for that matter. It has got so nowadays that public offices, where the emoluments are of any consideration, are regarded as legitimate articles of barter. But such is politics.—St. Johns Review.

Her Opinion of the Choir. Senator Prouse says that a friend of his residing at Wilkes-Barre recently engaged a niece to a Scotch girl just come to this country. It appears that one Sunday the lady induced the nurse, who is of the strictest sort of Presbyterians, to attend a beautiful church service in Wilkes-Barre.
