

MILL IS NOW MAKING FLOUR

The Hood River flouring mill is grinding wheat, and Hood River can eat bread baked from home-made flour. Patronize home industry and ask for the Hood River product.

Cascade Mills, the name of the mill company has adopted, and which name will appear on the sacks filled at the flouring mill. There will be three grades of flour, known as Silver Dust, Hood River and Cupid Patent.

The latest improved machinery has been installed in the mill, and Manager Alpin, who is a thoroughly practical miller of years experience, will be enabled to turn out the very best flour product.

Several millwrights were sent west with the machinery from the foundries and factories in the East, and they all state that the Hood River mill is of the latest type, and in the charge of a miller who thoroughly understands his business.

A Glacier representative was shown through the mill last week, when the machinery was put in motion by turning on the water power. The power that operates the mill is supplied by the water power system of Joseph A. Wilson, who gets his water from Indian creek, in the southern part of the city.

When Mr. Alpin turned the brake of the sprocket wheel attachment, connected with the huge water motor, the belts and machinery began to move as if put together with velvet bearings. Mr. Wilson's water power is the largest individual enterprise ever undertaken in Hood River.

Mr. Wilson by supplying power at reasonable rates made it possible for the flouring mill to locate here, and is in position to supply motor force to many other manufacturing enterprises that should be induced to invest their capital in Hood River.

Entertainers at High Five. Mrs. Charles H. Castner entertained on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons of last week in a most delightful manner at her cozy home on the heights. High Five was played at four tables, each afternoon, after which delicious refreshments were served.

No City With Like Possibilities. "No town in Oregon seems to me to have the possibilities before it as does Hood River," remarked W. E. Rothery, of Portland, Northwestern manager of the Calkins Newspaper Syndicate, who was visiting in Hood River last Saturday, the guest of J. F. Batcaldier.

Card of Thanks. We desire to express our heart felt thanks for kindness shown us in so many ways by our friends and neighbors when the body of our loved one was laid to its final rest in Hood River. Though far away we have heard of the kind and loving sympathy in words and deeds for which we are very grateful.

Railroad Officials in Town. The O. R. & N. special car No. 92 was in Hood River Sunday, having brought up from Portland J. P. O'Brien, general superintendent of the road; M. J. Buckley, division superintendent; J. P. Newell, division engineer, and W. A. Storey, superintendent of bridges and buildings.

Mr. Rothery is the Portland representative of the Orchard and Farm of San Francisco, which will have a special article on Hood River in the current number. Mr. Rothery promises to give Hood River frequent mention in his paper.

SNOW & UPSON PUT IN POWER HAMMER

Snow & Upson, the leading blacksmiths of the city, have installed a power trip hammer that will strike a 600-pound blow. The hammer as well as the other machinery in the shop, is operated by water power furnished by Joe Wilson's water system, recently completed.

While the trip hammer is pounding away on a piece of steel, another blacksmith bores a hole with a power drill. The furnace is fanned with a power blower, and a band saw will in a moment saw through a piece of the hardest oak that would require a half hour to sever with an ax.

With this new machinery, installed at a cost of $500, Snow & Upson are enabled to do anything in light or heavy iron work. When in town drop around and see the big hammer at work. It will be well worth your time.

Snow & Upson came to Hood River two years ago, and started into business in a little shack in the East end of town. Later they bought out J. R. Nickelsen, and today they have a completey furnished a shop as can be found in the country. Fine blacksmithing is a specialty with this firm, and they have now with them, Harry Mollen, an expert plow-man. If there is anything wrong with that plow of yours take it to Snow & Upson. Mollen will make it better than new.

Mr. Snow is a wagon-maker as well as a blacksmith. There is nothing about a wagon or buggy which he cannot duplicate, and make better than the original. He is kept busy most of the time at his fine wagon making. Anything about your wagon made of wood or iron can be replaced at Snow & Upson's.

The gentlemen are enterprising and progressive in every sense of the word. Mr. Snow has worked at blacksmithing for 30 years, but with all the late trade journals at his home, he is up to date in his work and knowledge of the trade as the latest graduated mechanical engineer. Mr. Snow worked years ago in the shops of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Upson learned to weld iron in Elkhart, Ind. Both are well pleased with Hood River, and the business they have developed during their two years residence here.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Cooper. Mrs. Henrietta Knerr Cooper, wife of Dr. J. P. Cooper, died on Thursday evening, March 2, at the family residence in Hood River, aged 50 years, 11 months, and 27 days.

Mrs. Cooper had been ill about one week, and while her condition was not family a great deal of anxiety, it was not thought that her sickness would terminate fatally. Dr. Cooper came from Iowa to Hood River last November, for the benefit of his wife's health. The change of scene and climate wrought a great improvement in her condition so that the family recently concluded to make their permanent home in Hood River. Her unexpected death was a great shock to her family.

Deceased was born in Germanville, Iowa in 1854. In 1876 she removed to Montgomery county, Iowa, where she resided until 1883, when she was united in marriage with her present husband, Dr. J. P. Cooper. Since her marriage until coming to Hood River, the family resided at Villisca, Iowa.

Mrs. Cooper was a woman of prominence and influence in her home city. She was an active and devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church and during all her life time was a firm believer in the Christian religion. The strong influences of her life ran out through channels of beneficence and philanthropy to bless humanity.

The intelligence of her sudden death, to her large circle of neighbors and friends in Villisca, Iowa, where so large a part of her life had been spent, will be a deep and painful blow, but the influence of her well spent life will remain to further enrich and help these lives.

The funeral services were conducted at the Congregational church Saturday morning by Rev. J. L. Herscher, assisted by Rev. W. C. Gilmore. As the family had planned to make Hood River their home, the mortal remains of Mrs. Cooper were laid to rest in Willowdale cemetery. Her husband, Dr. Cooper, and their daughter, Miss Florida, as well as other members of the family, have the deep, heartfelt sympathy of the people of Hood River, in this their sad hour of trial and bereavement.

Night Prowling Thieves. Croup and Whooping Cough come like a thief in the night, stealing in to fasten the fangs of mortal disease upon the children as they peacefully sleep in their little beds. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, the new discovery for Coughs and Colds will drive all these death-dealing demons away before the doctor can arrive. It protects the lives and health of the little ones. Contains no opiates. Keep it handy. Sold by G. E. Williams.

Incredible Brutality. It would have been incredible brutality if Chas. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. "My boy" he says, "cut a fearful gash over his eye, so I applied Bucklen's Arnica salve, which quickly healed it and saved his eye." Good for burns and ulcers too. Only 25c at C. N.
