Issued every Thursday by ARTHUR D. MOE, Publisher.
Terms of subscription—$1.50 a year when paid in advance.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1905.

We have been asked to buy stock in the American Type Foundry trust, the company forwarding confidential letters telling that a good opening there is to get a bunch of choice shares. We would suppose the type foundry to be satisfied with their enormous profits and systematic robbery of publishers and printing houses, and content to let the printers rest at that, rather than to launch a scheme of frenzied finance, with weekly newspapers as victims.

A Eugene real estate dealer has received 117 inquiries from the east since January 1. From this basis, the Register figures out that Oregon's population will be increased by a quarter of a million inside of a year.

With fruit trees in full bloom and grass on the lawns, the Easterner who has just arrived to view the Oregon country, writes back home at once for his family to come on. Oregon is the finest country he ever saw.

The portage railroad at Collio is to be completed by May 15, but where is the steamboat line on the upper Columbia, which in competition with the railroads is to reduce the freight rates?

The county fruit inspector at North Yakima last week condemned 60,000 fruit trees sent from Missouri. The taxes were effected with wolly aphids, and were ordered burned.

The Japs have taken Tin Pass, which assured them a tin pass to Harbin, suggests the office devil.

Would Force People to Subscribe.
A solicitor representing an afternoon paper in Portland, called at the office of Attorney Jayne one day last week. In an endeavor to get a subscription from Wasco county's representative, the young man remarked, "Why don't you know that the— did more than any other paper to kill the Jayne bill?" Jayne smiled blandly and remarked, "Is that so?" The young man began to get his bearings and slid out.

Next door he endeavored to get another subscription. Meeting with no better success he began a course of blackmail, throwing out the hint that if people of a town did not support the Portland paper they could be made to regret it. The smart Aleck got very few subscriptions.

Hood River Flour to the Front.
The Hood River Milling Co. are now turning out heavy family flour. They have made a fancy investment and are entertaining a progressive and are doing everything they can to help develop Hood River valley.

They are turning out three grades of flour for the local market besides the export brand. They also make all kinds of Graham's. They are particularly proud of their "Hood River" and "Cupid" brands of flour and they intend to make the "Hood River" flour as famous in the Oregon markets as Hood River apples and strawberries are in the markets of the world. Use home made flour and thus help build up your own community.

The cordially invite visitors to go through the mill.

Whist Club Meet with Mrs. Bone.
The ladies of the Cascade Whist club were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. W. Bone. Mrs. Bone won first prize, a picture of the "Little Dutch Girl" framed in burnt wood, which has been designed by Mrs. Bone herself. The club is the winner of Gifford's Indian medals, framed in burnt leather, which she highly prizes. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Bone.

These present were given by J. F. Stranahan, J. F. Watt, E. O. Blanche, A. M. Kalsay, C. R. Bone, Arthur Davidson, G. E. Williams, C. T. Early, A. A. Jayne, M. F. Shaw, N. W. Bone, T. J. Kinnaird, Will Haines, Bert Gray, and Y. J. Young.

The next meeting of the club will be a party tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Stewart, on State street.

Mrs. C. I. Rogers, who has been confined in the North Pacific Sanitarium, Portland, with typhoid fever, was on the way to recovery when she was suddenly attacked with a hemorrhage of the brain the first of last week and Mr. Rogers telephoned for. When he reached his wife's bedside, the physician told him she had only one chance in 2000 of ever recovering, but Thursday, the report came to Hood River that she was gaining rapidly and her case was now quite hopeful.

Land Plaster at Holman & Co.
Have not yet received permit. "If the Mountain View Ditch Co. had its permit from the government to cross the forest reserve, a gang of men in a month could complete the work to bring out all the water the Upper Mount Hood farmers could make use of," remarked Henry Goff of Mount Hood, who was in the city Saturday.

THIEVES RAID MANY HOMES

Robbers made a wholesale raid in Hood River early Tuesday morning, entering the houses of Postmaster Yates, Dr. Brosius, A. D. Moe, Rev. J. W. Bigby, C. H. Vaughan, the Commercial Rooming house and the room of Frank Quinn in the Artisan hall building.

Ralph Laraway who, was spending the night at the home of Carl Vaughan was the heaviest loser. The thieves walked away with a good pair of trousers, a $60 gold watch and several pieces of jewelry. The watch had been a gift which he very much prized.

Postmaster Yates says his wife had gone through his trousers the night before, and the robbers did nothing more than take them down stairs, turn the pockets inside out and leave them on the floor.

Dr. Brosius missed $12 in cash and his account book. In some of the houses entered, the thieves left mud tracks made by their stocking feet. They effected entrances with pass keys, and left the doors open when they went out. It is thought the robbers were professional housebreakers. Several people recall seeing suspicious looking characters about the city previous to the robbery.

The hen house of D. McDonald on State street was entered the same night, and a setting hen robbed of a dozen eggs which she had been sitting for two weeks.

Deputy Olinger believes it to have been the work of one man. He sent a description of the stolen watches to Portland, but says he does not expect the police in that city to do anything, as it is their custom to give no attention to such matters unless they are given a liberal supply of money in advance.

The thief made an attempt to enter the house of Sam Hartness, but was scared out by a little dog in the kitchen. Sam says the dog barked so furiously that he went down stairs and opened the door, when the dog tore around the yard at a great rate.

At the Commercial house, Charley Morse's watch was taken; also a watch from Jess, the Japanese, and some of his money. Some $7 in money was secured from a roomer in the Rigby home.

The robber discarded an old slouch hat and a pair of trousers on the sidewalk on the West River street. No further evidence has been found of the thief.

MEETING IS CALLED OFF

Because it was impossible to come to an agreement with the railroad companies concerning rates to the April convention of the Development League, the meeting has been called off.

This decision comes as a result of a meeting between Tom Richardson, secretary and treasurer of the league, and A. A. Craig, general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. Co.; A. D. Carlton, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific; W. E. Coman, general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific lines in Oregon; and A. B. Smith, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific of St. Paul. Secretary Richardson asked the agents for a one-fare rate which was refused. The agents of discussion resulted in an agreement, and after a stormy session the conference broke up. Mr. Richardson's mission came to naught and the intended annual convention of the Oregon Development League in Portland went up in smoke.

E. L. Smith, president of the league, regrets very much that no agreement can be reached with the agents concerning a one-fare rate. He believes the roads would have made money at this rate.

"We had planned to have a gigantic convention and large numbers of delegates had already been appointed to attend," said Tom Richardson. "The Marquam theater had been donated free for the use of the delegates and our plans contemplated a convention of such magnitude that we were planning to hold it in sections, each section to be devoted to different interests."

"We could not afford to run any risk of a small attendance. The only guarantee against this was a one-fare rate. We asked it and were refused. An offer of a one-and-one-third, the regular rate, was made us, but this would have served our purpose."

He says that Oregon is the only state I know of where the railroads do not allow a one-fare rate. They do his for such movements as the Oregon Development League in every section of the country where I have ever been. They can afford to do it for the sole purpose of the league is the development of the state that large."

Ball Playing Starts Runaway.
Boys playing ball on River street Thursday afternoon caused Milton Pealer's team to runaway. The team was in front of McDonald's store, when they jacked loose and dashed down the avenue at a fire engine pace. In a moment the team horses crashed into the porch of the Fewel building, which collapsed like an awning.

The wagon broke here, and with the front horses torn up first street toward Luckey's blacksmith shop, and were finally stopped, but not until the harness was torn into shreds. Pealer had just come in with a load of brick for the Davidson warehouse.

GRADERS START IN FEW WEEKS

As announced by the Glacier last week in an interview with W. H. E. Clark, president of the Mount Hood Railroad Co., the proposed road up Hood River valley will be in operation by the first of October.

The route surveyed for the road, and the one which will probably be selected, leaves the O. R. & N. just east of the depot, swings around the point above the county bridge and crosses to the east side about a mile and a half up the stream.

A 200-foot tunnel will have to be bored at Johnson's point. Continuing thence about a half a mile above the power house of the Light Co., the road makes a turn on Francis land, and continuing on a three per cent grade follows up Cedar creek to Mason's place. The line passes to the right of the timbered butte, on to the Harrison ranch; up Long creek and on to Odell, passing near the Little White Store; thence southwest past the property of George T. Prather and A. S. Blowers and on to the timber of the Oregon Lumber Co. south of Winans.

The exact terminus of the road has not been established. The road will be continued no further than the timber this summer, but Mr. West says it is the intention of his company to continue on to Mount Hood in a year or two.

C. W. Nibley, president of the La Grande Lumber Co., and a stockholder in the Mount Hood Railroad Co., was in Hood River Tuesday. He expressed himself as very much favoring a route up the West Side. This being so much cheaper, and easier to build, besides being nearer the timber of the company.

Accepts Advertising Proposition.
At a meeting of the Commercial club Tuesday night, an advertising offer from the Evening Telegram for a special write up of Hood River was accepted. The Commercial club is to give $150, and receive 500 copies of the paper. This special edition will be sent to 3000 names of people who are coming west in the month of April.

The subscription paper passed about town last week was annulled and a new one put out instead. It was agreed by the club to raise a $1500 guarantee fund by the club for advertising purposes, and that no further donations be asked of the business men this year. J. F. Batschler declined his name on the list for $100.

It is the intention of his company to circulate the subscription paper among the farmers of the valley who have land for sale. Contributions will also be expected from all farmers who wish to attract immigration to the valley.

Have You Sprayed Yet?
Get your material of Clarke & save money.
The Chinese who have rented ground on the Paradise farm for a truck garden appear to have more than their share of trouble. While plowing a few weeks ago, an old white horse ran off, and smashed up all the farming machinery. Last week one of the company wished to pull out and go to Portland, and a family racket ensued. Tuesday, while

Mme. Abbott's MILLINERY ANNOUNCEMENT

Having rented the building known as the E. L. Smith office, situated next to Bradley's printing office, I announce to the public in general that I shall be ready to fill all orders for dress millinery on and after March 20th. I have spared no pains in selecting the latest styles in dress millinery, and I am confident that my goods will compare favorably with those of any milliner in the city. My prices are made in order for those not wishing a hot duplicate.
