CHILD MEETS WITH FRIGHTFUL DEATH

The community was shocked Thursday morning to learn of the fatal accident which had befalled the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller late wednesday afternoon. Floyd, three years old, had been playing near a rubbish fire, which was supposed to have gone out, when his clothes caught on fire and he became so badly burned that death relieved his sufferings the next morning.

Mrs. Carl Ross' little girl was playing with the Miller children at the time. Hearing the cries of Floyd she went to his assistance. The accident happened but a few hundred feet from the house, but at a point where the children could not be seen. It is children could not b

It Will Be Cider Creek Hereafter. Cider creek is the name decided upon for the little stream on the East Side up the cauyon of which the grade for the Mount Hood railroad will extend. For several years the stream has been designated as Whiskey creek has been designated as Whiskey creek large March 26.

but to such a name there were several objections from the good people of the East Side.

eral objections from the good people of the East Side.

Cedar creek was suggested instead of whiskey creek, but as there is such a creek on the West Side very close to the creek on the East Side, and as Cider creek is a sort of compromise between the two and one considered.

dor creek is a sort of compromise between the two, and one considered very appropriate for an apple community, Cider creek it shall be called hereafter.

The name Whisky creek came from the distillery operated on the banks of the stream several years ago, when "moonshine" and apple jack were manufactured for those who desired something strong. John Schletzel was the old German who conducted the distillery. The building still stands putt he old distiller has left the country. It is said the old man used to try. It is said the old man used to make some strong alcohol from his apple-jack, which went 120 under test.

Mrs. Sanborn Loses Appeal.

State School Superintendent Ackerman has decided against Mrs. San-bern of this city and in favor of the phone in this district. Any one wantboard of directors in the case she appealed a couple months ago. The question was the one in which Mrs. Noza M. Sanborn, was compelled to take an infinate leave of absence, on account of troubles she had experienced with her pupils. She was kept on full pay, and her school was turned over to Superintendent Wiley, of the city sheek, and the mail to de ivered daily. The city sheek, and the mail to de ivered daily.
