THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1905.

Maverick is a new calf in the journalistic field at Baker City. May no prodigal ever get his lariat on it.

Ten years ago, F. C. Sherrieb, a west side farmer, found it difficult to mortgage his 150 acres for $500 with which to secure water on his ranch. Today he is erecting an $1,800 home, and has money to spare. An excellent example of what water will do for Hood River land and its owner.

"Hood River as a Manufacturing Center" in an excellent article in the May issue of Orchard and Farm by J. F. Bachelder of the Hood River Development Co. There in much other matter in this issue devoted to the promotion of general development in Oregon. W. E. Kothery, who is particularly well acquainted with the Northwest field, and whom the Glacier quoted in an interview a few months ago as being so highly pleased with this city, has editorial and business charge of the Portland bureau of Orchard and Farm. This popular magazine will in the future continue to devote a large portion of the space to the Northwest.

Booster, a Fine Publication.
J. C. Dawson, representing the Oregon Booster, a new publication at Portland devoted to advancing the interests of the state of Oregon, is in the city securing subscriptions and advertising from the business men of Hood River. Mr. Dawson has promised a special descriptive article on Hood River's fruit industry and the good possibilities for manufacturing at this point.

The Booster, and a true booster in every sense of the word, first saw the night of day about three months ago. This splendid weekly now has a circulation beyond the 100 mark. Half this number goes to Eastern people. Printed on elegant book paper, the half tone engravings in the Booster appear to a fine advantage. The booster is one of the finest publications of its kind on the coast, and well deserving of patronage.

Mr. Dawson was at Corvallis the other day. He says outside of Hood River that city is the center of one of the best parts of Oregon. The people there are up and coming. They are boosters too, and on Corvallis day at the exposition, 1800 of the people of Corvallis and Benton county will go to Portland to make their country known to the world.

"Why," says Mr. Dawson, "there won't be any enough to take every boat on the river has been secured."
"Say, but you people are getting out the brightest weekly paper I ever saw. You certainly have a good town behind you."

Miss Margarita Fischer Coming.
Miss Margarita Fischer, and her superb company, will appear for two nights at the opera house in Hood River, Monday and Tuesday, May 22 and 23. Speaking of Miss Fischer's recent tour into southwestern Washington, the Hoquiam Washingtonian says:

"Last night Miss Margarita Fischer opened her week's engagement at the Hoquiam theatre in the dramatic production of the 'Colonel's Wife.' The play was extremely interesting through out the whole performance and Miss Fischer as leading lady played her part with the satisfaction of all. She is a star and her work was finished and pleasing. Miss Fischer has just passed the age of 18 and her acting, for one so young, is marvelous. The costumes were most beautiful and her support was excellent. The play which was well produced, had a good moral. The scene in four acts being in Washington, D. C., and dealing with society life in the great capital. It was refined throughout and the audience was much impressed."

The specialties were all good, especially the song and dance by the comedian Fred Green. His jokes were new and full of wit and his sayings made a hit with the gallery.
Remember the date, Monday and Tuesday, May 22 and 23. Don't miss these performances as both press and public pronounce the Fischer Co. the best repertoire company on the coast this season. Prices, 50c, 35c. Children 25c.

BARRETT.
Mrs. J. H. Shanks and daughter Katy, 10 a. m.; Miss Ma Shanks of Simpson Kansas, after spending the winter in Los Angeles, California, have been visiting the family of Leo Morse for the past two weeks. They left for their home in Kansas this week.

Mr. Countryman has done good work in blasting out a large stump opposite the Barrett school house. More improvements in the district, which means an increase in the value of property.

J. Helms, on Rockford avenue, has treated his house to a coat of good paint. Yes, of course, it will have things up to date. Well, why not, as we only pass this way once.

Edward Watts from Lake Mills, Iowa, a brother-in-law of Mr. Brayford, arrived in Hood River, Friday. Mr. Watts expects to make his home in Hood River. He is a first-class plasterer and expects to do that kind of work in this part of the country.

Will Nichols is busy hauling berry crates. Will says he will have lots of berries. Mrs. Nichols was called to the bedside of her sick mother who resides at Woodport, Canada. Mrs. Nichols at Hood River on Thursday night and expects to arrive at her mother's home in five days.

The ice cream social and entertainment given under the auspices of the Turner society on Thursday was well attended. At the Barrett school house, and all went home well pleased.

NOTED VISITORS

SEE THE VALLEY

"My, but they were surprised when we reached the top of the East Side, and the whole party went into wild exclamations of ecstasy at the grand scene spread out before them," said Charles T. Early, who in company with W. H. Eccles, drove the following party of visitors through the orchards and berry fields of Hood River valley, Tuesday afternoon:

United States Senator John H. Mitchell, John W. Yerkes, commissioner of internal revenue at Washington, D. C., M. G. Hall, manager of the Northern Pacific Express Co., David M. Dunn and Mrs. Dunn of Portland, and Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska. Mrs. Early accompanied the party on the trip through the valley. The distinguished visitors made the trip from Portland on the Northern Pacific. They returned on delayed No. 1, Tuesday evening.

WILL HAVE A DAY AT THE FAIR

Hood River is to be given a special day at the Lewis and Clark exposition, Homer H. Hallock, traveling representative of the fair, was in Hood River, Tuesday, making a personal call upon the business men to see after arranging for a Hood River day at the exposition.

Mr. Hallock met wherever he went, evidences of the Hood River spirit which has won so much for the town and valley. He was convinced at once that the matter would be taken hold in the right way, and that Hood River day at the Lewis and Clark fair will be a complete success from start to finish.

"I never saw such a community where the people all seemed to be one accord," remarked Mr. Hallock. "Your whole town of people appears to be pulling harmoniously together, and pulling hard, too. Dan Maloney, the 'father' of the exposition, was speaking to me the other day about the necessity for concentrated action in public undertakings. 'Individual efforts will count for little unless the whole community places their heart in the matter,' said Mr. Maloney. 'You people here in Hood River have the right idea in the matter, and are bound to succeed, I can see that.'"

"The idea that people who will attend the fair this summer will be held up for ridiculous prices for lodging is far from the truth," continued Mr. Hallock. "The exposition managers have looked after this matter very thoroughly. Companies have been formed who have listed all the available rooming houses in the city, and the prices which will be charged for the same, from 50c to $3 are guaranteed by the fair management to be that and no more."

"If an overcharge is made, by reporting to the fair management there will be parties there to see that corrections are made. Visitors will be expected to know about what price accommodations they wish. Those who want a 50c lodging room can have it, and those who want something better can secure it. There will be ample accommodations in Portland for all who come. The exposition managers will guarantee to find accommodations."

The date for the Hood River day at the fair will be arranged for later. It is proposed that the president of the commercial club call an open meeting sometime when the matter can be discussed and a convenient date arranged.

Later in the afternoon, Mr. Hallock was taken for a drive through the valley by Jack Dagley.

Mrs. Graves to Lecture Here.
Mrs. M. N. Graves of Central, Wash., national organizer and lecturer for the W. C. T. U., will speak in Hood River at some date in the near future.

The press of the United States speaks very highly of Mrs. Graves as a public speaker and able exponent of her cause. The Aberdeen Herald said in a recent issue:

"The city was treated to a rare good fortune last Sunday in the several addresses given by Mrs. M. N. Graves. Her eloquence, which is unusual in the average woman speaker, thrilled the audience which filled the Methodist church."

A Creeping Death.
Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Rocky's Arnicin Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. Get at C. N. Clarke's drug store.

MRS. KISER KIDNAPS GRANDSON JAMES

Child stealing is the charge made against D. K. Kiser and Malinda Kiser, wife, in a complaint sworn to in Justice Nicholson's court Tuesday morning by Willis Hubbard, father of a boy whose grandparents are alleged to have kidnapped and smuggled off to Tennessee, who is 13 years old. The tickets were good for a trip to Tennessee, and the next morning Mrs. Kiser and her grandson left here for the sunny Southland without Willis being aware of the unlawful proceedings of his mother-in-law.

The father of the lad on discovering the true state of affairs the next day was very much upset. He was advised to have a warrant sworn out for his mother-in-law, and a sheriff in one of the Eastern Oregon counties instructed by telegraph to arrest her at La Grande or Baker City. This was two swift a pace for Willis, wondering over the matter until his son was outside the Commonwealth of Oregon.

Charles Condon was sent to the Dalles Monday to confer with District Attorney Meade, who advised action in the Justice court, where he considered Mr. Kiser would be brought to see the error of his way, and secure the release of his grandson, without further delay. If Judge Nicholson believes it necessary, provided Kiser is obdurate in the matter, he will be bound over to the circuit court and reputation papers sent for the return of Mrs. Kiser and the boy James.

Conviction for child stealing is a serious offense. It may mean from one to 20 years in the penitentiary, or a fine not to exceed $10,000.

METHODISTS MEET IN ANNUAL SESSION

Thirty-seven different churches are represented at the Dalles district conference of the M. E. church, which convened in this city Tuesday night. Elder G. M. Booth is presiding at the conference, with Rev. Walton Skipworth of the Dalles, secretary.

Reports throughout the district show a large increase in membership. The finances of the district are excellent. Rev. W. J. Baldwin of Arlington led the devotional exercises yesterday morning. "Is the Epworth League meeting its original intention?" was an able paper by Rev. John Evans of Moro. The second paper of the day was by Rev. Robert Warner who discussed business principles and methods in church finance. Rev. H. C. Clark led the devotion in the afternoon. The evening meeting was occupied by a sermon by Rev. Walton Skipworth of the Dalles. The sessions of the conference are held in the auditorium of the Methodist church.

Fruit Crop Notes.
Reports from the Sacramento valley state that the prospect for cherries of the earlier varieties and of Black Tartary is good. On Royal Anna there will be a very marked shortage. The crop of apples will be good. For other varieties of fruits and grapes it is too early to say positively or accurately. Suffice it to say that the general prospect for all varieties in all districts at this writing is good with the possible exception of peaches and pears.

For bargains in plain band and settings, call on Clarke, the jeweler.

..New Commission House.. IN PORTLAND

W E desire to announce to the fruit growers and shippers of Hood River and tributary points that we have opened a new wholesale fruit, produce and commission business at the above address. While our firm may be new to many, members of our firm are far from being new to the business as Mr. Koskey has been in the employ of another Front street commission house for almost twenty years, and Mr. McEwen was with the same firm for twelve years. We are therefore closely in touch with the Portland trade and our location is right in the heart of the commission district, and consignments of strawberries, or other fruits or produce will be the immediate attention of the city buyers. We will get the best possible price for goods sent us and render sales with check promptly. Consignments solicited. 129 Front street. M'EWEN & KOSKEY. Portland, Ore.

IS AFTER SECRET FOR FINE APPLES

Dr. Robinson of Washington, D. C., owner of a 60-acre farm in Albemarle county, Virginia, where the famous Newtown pippins were grown that supplied the royal family of England with apples for 40 years, was in Hood River last week, the guest of R. H. Wallace.

Dr. Robinson was taken for a drive about the valley by Mr. Wallace. The visitor was very highly impressed with the country. The doctor has read a great deal about Hood River and made the visit here especially to discover the secret of why Hood River apples are not excelled anywhere in the world.

The climate and soil of Virginia are similar to this country, says Dr. Robinson, and he intends to inject Hood River methods there. The doctor took samples of soil of the valley back with him to Washington, where he will have it examined by the agricultural department, to discover if he can, what is lacking in the soil of Virginia.

In Virginia the doctor is a member of an exclusive farmers' club of 12 members, who meet at each other's home, have a dinner and discuss methods of growing fruit. Some of the orchards in Virginia are over 100 years old. Trees are never cultivated nor sprayed. Some of them are 75 feet high.

Some of the apples must be of fine quality, as Dr. Robinson has received as high as $5.00 a barrel for Wisconsin fruit. Boxes are not used in Virginia, but the doctor intends to introduce this method of placing his Newtowns on the market.

Never touch a telephone wire, is a good rule to observe. The folly of so doing was demonstrated at John Day last Tuesday, when a young lady came in contact with a live wire and was rendered unconscious. At last account she was still seriously ill; but it was thought would recover. The Dalles Chronicle.
