It should be gratifying alike to the people of Hood River and the O. R. & N. to realize that tangible results are showing themselves from the advertising matter prepared for the railroad by R. M. Hall, and scattered throughout the Middle West by the passenger department of this enterprising company. Two weeks ago, the Glacier made mention that Dr. D. F. Rae of Ferguson Falls, Minn., after reading the O. R. & N. year book sent him by M. F. Jacobs of this city, has decided to come to Oregon at once and to locate in Hood River. This week we have Land R. Rutherford visiting in the city and writing to his folks in Minnesota that Hood River is even prettier than the fine pictures in the railroad booklet. Mr. Rutherford, it is understood, has decided to locate here, and will be the means of inducing men of wealth to come here also. Two weeks ago, a farm journal at Des Moines, Wallace's Farmer, contained several Hood River views taken from the O. R. & N. booklet, and Eastern readers were at once so interested that letters have been received by local parties inquiring about Hood River, wanting to know if the big apples in the pictures were really true. Truman Butler, cashier of Butler & Co.'s bank, is in receipt of such a letter from O. L. Burney, Harrisonville, Mo. Re turns like these are conclusive evidence that Mr. Hall's advertising of Hood River is bringing immediate results.

The following scriptural quotation appears at the Head of Bro. Bennett's editorial column in the Irrigon Irrigator: "Thus saith the Lord, Make this valley full of ditches. * * * Ye shall not see rain; yet that valley shall be filled with water." II Kings, III, 20-17.

J. P. O'Brien, who will be made general manager of the Harriman system in Oregon, when Mr. Worthington leaves to assume his new duties in the East, is a good friend of Hood River, and the people here are pleased to see his abilities recognized by the railroad companies.

The appointment of G. R. Castner of Hood River as fruit inspector for Wasco county meets the approval of the fruit growers of the leading fruit county of the state. Mr. Castner can be counted upon to perform his duties without fear or favor, and furthermore is capable in all respects for his position to which he had been appointed by Judge Lake.

While Rev. Mr. Chambers, in his Memorial sermon at the opera house Sunday morning, was somewhat sweeping in his remarks concerning what he considers very serious tendencies of the American people in turning from the God of our fathers and a forgetfulness of true patriotism, let us rather forbear adverse criticism and do our best to correct a situation which we realize in many instances is not the healthiest.

When East Meets West. The exposition at Portland will do much toward giving the East a proper attitude of appreciation toward the West. The thousands of Easterners who will take advantage of the reduced railroad rates and attend the exposition, see the western country and its people, study conditions and take note of achievements, will return home with minds cleared of very much haziness that has beclouded them by reason of the acceptance of fictional caricatures as gospel fact. They will find all along the Pacific coast a civilization far advanced, splendid cities with skyscrapers, church spires, public libraries, universities of learning, and telephones. It is related that a Boston woman who visited St. Louis last year was amazed to learn that the telephone was in general use throughout that city. What will be her astonishment to find in Portland not only the telephone that talks, but the telephone that sees? At the Lewis and Clark exposition a device whereby one talking through a telephone may see the reflected features of the person at the other end of the line will be exhibited in practical operation for the first time in public, and strange to state it is the invention of a Portland man.

The east and the west will become acquainted at Portland. This will clear up many misconceptions on each side and will serve the stronger to cement the several sections of our land.

The law creating a hunters license of $1 for a year—as enacted by our recent legislature—is now in effect. All persons desiring to hunt after this time will be obliged to make his or her intention known to the country recorder, to whom must be paid the license fee, and receive a certificate or permit to hunt. Anyone may hunt upon his or her premises without a permit; this is the only exception under the law. Hunters from other states are obliged to pay a license of $10.

Professor Thomas Condon of the state university at Eugene, has retired, and his daughter, Mrs. H. F. McCormick, will keep up his classes till the end of the school year. He is 84 years of age, and the only member of the original faculty left of that institution. He is Oregon's "grand old man" among her educators.

The city of Bellingham is setting a shining example in civic haste these days that shows why the Whatcom county metropolis is flourishing like a green bay tree, says the Olympia Re-order. Yesterday, for instance, it let contracts for $30,000 worth of septic tanks for sewage, secured a few new industries, ended a successful financial revival, closed all public schools so the children could see the ball game, made a fairly good haul from the salmon run and contributed an additional bunch of money to the exposition exhibit fund. With a lusty civic spirit that sits up nights to do things in the way of general boosting, Bellingham will show her neighbors how to grow.

EASTERN CAPITALISTS INSPECT WATER POWER

H. L. Clarke of Philadelphia and F. Sullivan, jr., of Scranton, Pa., accompanied by C. F. Swigert of Portland, arrived here from Portland last Thursday evening, and the next morning made the trip to the Little White Salmon, in Skamania county, where they examined the possibilities of that stream for developing electric power. Messrs. Clarke and Sullivan are the Eastern capitalists who recently purchased the Portland Consolidated Street railway system, paying $6,000,000 for the same. While they would say nothing of their trip to the Little White Salmon, it has been known for several years that Mr. Swigert and the Portland capitalists have been interested in the harnessing of this mountain stream for the purpose of developing electrical energy for transmission to Portland.

A considerable sum of money has been expended in the last few years for surveys and purchase of rights of way for an extensive canal. The water power possibilities of the Little White Salmon are immense. It was once the intention of the promoters of the enterprise to drop the river over a 1000-foot cliff, but the government authorities would not permit this as it would turn the stream from its natural channel.

Without these Eastern capitalists are becoming interested in the undertaking, and the construction of a large electrical plant within a few years is not an improbability. The visitors expressed themselves as highly pleased with the stream, location and its possible power-producing qualities. Settlers within the Chenoweth neighborhood feel jubilant over the prospect that something will probably be done on the Little White Salmon by the Eastern capitalists. It has been known that an irrigation system has been under contemplation by the parties connected with the power plant scheme, and that over 2000 acres of stumped land has been bought up by Portland parties interested in the project.

This stumped land is all tillable, and would make the best apple land if water could be placed upon it. An irrigation ditch here is entirely feasible, surveys having been made to determine this fact, and should one be constructed for this 2000-acre tract, the farmers of Chenoweth believe they also will have water. An irrigation system in this section of Skamania county would offer inducements to settlers, and that section would no doubt take on quite an extended boom.

VOTE FOR SALOONS AND HAVE LIVE CITY

To the voters of Hood River: The time has arrived when we the citizens of Hood River, are required to stop and think of politics. The time has arrived when we as a whole must vote on an serious and emphatically important question, Local Option either for or against.

One—Do the citizens of the city think as a whole that the town is better in every way since Local Option has been in force? No. Two—Is there not more drunkenness in the city today than there was before Local Option was in force? Yes. Three—Do the merchants think that the trade in drygoods and groceries, etc., has diminished or increased? Lots of money leaves this town to be expended in The Dalles and Portland, and the city has been dead since the saloons were closed.

Four—If the city goes dry and other towns near, The Dalles and Portland, are wet does not the money that would be otherwise expended in Hood River, go to those towns? Yes. Five—Do loggers, lumbermen and timbermen of all kinds spend their money here or in other towns? Look at the trains and see. Every train that goes out carries them to Portland and The Dalles.

Six—Does the city pay the general bills as promptly as it did when the saloons were running in Hood River, or are they laid upon the table indefinitely, or discounted? Ask the men who have presented bills to the city for payment.

Seven—Is there no whiskey or other liquor sold in Hood River, today, and are there not more drunks in town than ever before. We all know there is. Eight—Are not the druggists pestering nearly to death with people wanting liquor for medical and other purposes, and are they not compelled to refuse, often losing a good patient because he cannot have liquor when some member of his family are sick, and it is not necessary to pay for a prescription before one can get liquor for medical purposes. Prescriptions cost $1.00.

Program Mount Hood School. Patrons of the Mount Hood school state that the closing exercises of the term conducted, Friday, May 19, by Miss Nan Cooper, principal, were the best ever given there. The pupils did their part in a very creditable manner. Miss Cooper was assisted greatly by her sister Mildred, who managed the music in the entertainment. Miss Nan Cooper and her sister visited in The Dalles during the week, but expected to return yesterday to spend the summer at Mount Hood. Following is the program:

Part I.
Greeting chorus, "May," Class.
Recitation, "Our Hired Girl," Vera Lafferty.
Song, "Swinging 'Neath the Old Apple Tree," School.
Recitation, "Youthful Aspirations," Bruce Billings.
Song, "Pansies," Three Girls.
Recitation, "Elmer Brown," Cecil Lafferty.
Solo, "I've Grown So Used to You," Hattie Cooper.
Recitation, "The Flag Above the School House Door," Rosa Wishart.
Song, "This May Day Morn," School.
Recitation, "To An Apron," Blanche Lafferty.
Recitation, "Darions Green and His Flying Machine," Myron Wishart.

Part II.
May Festival.
1. Crowning the May Queen.
2. Call to the Flowers.
3. Flower Song.
4. May Queen's Guards.
5. Grand March.
6. Braiding the May Pole.

Quality vs. Quantity. Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, Weak Heart, etc. Sold by G. E. Williams.

We Must Wash. We may live without poetry, music and art. We may live without conscience, may love without heart. We may live without mothers, live without hope. But civilized women cannot live without soap. We may live without book—what is knowledge but sorrow. We may live without beauty—it fades on the morrow. We may live without lawsuit—indictments are squashing. But where if the one who can live without washing. Patronize the Hood River Steam Laundry, Glen Fabrik, proprietor.

Tells His Friends of Oregon. W. C. Martin, the Glacier's valued correspondent in the Crapper neighborhood, was formerly a resident of Florida. He frequently furnishes articles for the Ocala (Fla.) Star, his home paper, in which he never misses an opportunity to advertise the Oregon country to his friends in the Southland. Following is one of his recent letters to the Ocala Star:

"The trees of the Pacific coast constitute one of the most interesting features of the country. The big redwood trees of California have almost world-wide notoriety. Oregon does not produce trees of such size, but comes in as a good second. The timber that is of the greatest value in this country is the Douglas fir. It is in great demand for shipbuilding, and all kinds of structural work. The railroad companies use a great deal of it for bridges and building cars. The masts of the Emperor of Germany's yacht are made of Oregon fir.

"What greatly surprises the Eastern lumberman who visits the forests of Oregon and Washington for the first time is the immense size of the average logs handled by the local saw mills and the great height the trees attain before the first limb is encountered. The red fir often runs skyward 125 feet without a branch of any kind, absolutely clear timber on this height. Trees are often found on the Pacific coast which make from 10,000 to 12,000 cubic feet of lumber to the tree, and ten cords of wood to the tree is not unusual. There is a considerable amount of oak in this country, but is valuable only for fuel.
