BINGEN LOOKS FOR RAILROAD

CEPTAIN IT WILL COME SOON

Stranger Seeks to Secure a Lease on Valuable Ground—Real Estate Starts Booming.

By a Staff Correspondent.
Bingen, Wash., June 20.—The announcement comes from the general manager of the Harriman lines in the northwest that Harriman and Hill have got together and will at once allow work to be started on the much talked of line of railroad from Riparia, Wash., to Lewiston, along the north bank of the Snake river. The Harriman interests will do the work, but the Hill lines hold the right to use the road, which is to be extended from Lewiston into the Clearwater and other rich agricultural districts as soon as routes can be determined and rights of way secured. From Lewiston on the two systems will build the line jointly.

This action is considered positive proof that the Harriman and Hill interests are agreed on a course of northwestern development and will pursue it at once, shutting out competition from proposed electric lines.

Bingen is a tremble with agitation. The people who have watched and waited for the coming of a railroad or something that would tend to give positive assurance are holding jollification meetings and shaking hands with one another.

Theodore Saksdorf and his brothers are wearing broad smiles these days and the old pioneers who have scanned the mountains and the rivers for hostile Indians are now brushing the brims of the hats back and looking down the river bank along the proposed route of the new road. There is no question but what the Harriman system will soon have two competitors in the transportation business between Portland and the east. The Milwaukee road is heading this way, and the extension is being pushed from Chamberlain, South Dakota, with tremendous energy. As soon as this road enters the territory now under a flag of truce between the Harriman and Hill forces, the armistice will be at an end. The Hill roads will have to fight independently for the business or be worsted by the Milwaukee.

Official announcement was made recently by President Earle regarding the construction of the line from Chamberlain to the Hills, but he did not disclose the colossal plans of the company. But it is certain as anything can be in this world that the Milwaukee will have a road completed to the Pacific coast as soon as rails can be laid over the route that has been selected for it. Several routes were surveyed. I am unable to say which will be followed. But it is ridiculous to doubt the clear purposes of the company. In the engineering department of the road it is now common knowledge. The road will tap the oil and coal fields of Wyoming, although the main line will not necessarily enter these regions.

The route will, in all likelihood, skirt the north boundary of Yellowstone Park, pass through southern Montana along a fork of the Wisdom river, enter Idaho through the Lolo pass in the Bitter Root mountains, come down the north bank of the Columbia and cross the river over its own bridge, and enter Portland over the terminals of the Oregon Water Power & Railway company.

It is an assured fact that the director has voted to build to Portland and that the gigantic undertaking is under way, and every modern method and machine has been brought into action to rush the construction work. So soon as there is a vision in the little town that has been dormant for some time that a new city is to spring up, Saturday a stranger from Portland was endeavoring to secure a lease on the large Thomas store building, but failed owing to the fact that the owner would not lease for a term of years. A new wagon and blacksmith shop is to open, a meat market will be opened this week, and a barber is coming and Ed Saksdorf, the proprietor of the Maple Hotel, is making great preparations to take care of the crowds that will be attracted by the new road.

Ed Saksdorf has many fine lots in the city that he is offering for sale and he has no lack of takers. Money has been optioned as a result of the publicity given the proposed new road.

P. Tamos will put on his new stage line this week making the Trout Lake country every other day. Hereafter all boats will stop and Bingen will become lively. There is no question but what it is the prettiest spot on the Columbia river. Most of the land is as nature left it, here and there a tree only. No finer town sites was ever laid out by experienced engineers.

The travel of visitors this year has been large. It is an ideal spot and is being taken advantage of by all who appreciate a nice, beautiful place to go to.

Found a Cure for Dyspepsia.
Mrs. S. Lindsay, of Fort William, Ontario, Canada, who has suffered quite a number of years from dyspepsia and great pain in the stomach, was advised by her druggist to take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. She did so and says, "I find that they have done me a great deal of good. I have never had any suffering since I began using them." If troubled with dyspepsia or indigestion why not take these Tablets, get well and stay well? For sale by Williams Pharmacy.

A flock of swallows have taken up their habitation in the Caves of the United States Government building at the Lewis and Clark fair, and all efforts to dislodge them have failed. The Government officials have decided to let the birds remain, and they are providing quite an attraction to the thousands who daily visit Uncle Sam's magnificent display.

C. D. Nickelsen, formerly of this city, writes the following letter to Roswell Shelley, the Glacier's correspondent from Odell:

"I have noticed your articles in the Glacier from time to time in reference to starting a creamery in Hood River. I am a property owner in Hood River valley, and for this reason I am especially interested.

"I am out here in Minnesota in a town where we have a creamery and I am of the conviction that a creamery in Hood River would help Hood River valley more than any other one institution that could be established there. It brings in outside money and distributes it so nicely among the farmers and gives them a source of constant revenue. Hood River is an ideal place for a creamery. The one here is run on the co-operative plan. It is owned by the patrons and is a financial success. The manager here is a practical butter maker and a splendid gentleman. I have been talking to him about Hood River with its opportunities and am sure he would come and undertake the work if he could get the co-operation of the farmers there. You could never get a more reliable and successful man to undertake it. His butter shipment today amounted to $600.00. Farmers here are getting as high as $10 net profit per cow per month.

"A creamery would be worth a great deal more to Hood River than a woolen mill or flour mill, because it consumes and creates a demand for a strictly home product.

"Now, Mr. Shelley, I wish you could do something to consummate the plan. I should be glad to put you in correspondence with him, if you could be interested. It does not require a fortune to build a plant, and I am sure that many farmers would interest themselves. I should be glad to hear from you in any event. I am a brother of J. R. Nickelsen in Hood River. I presume this will be reference sufficient as to my identity. A creamery in Hood River cannot fail."

Stocking the Fish Streams.
Charles Waters, who was over from White Salmon Monday morning, says he is expecting 10,000 rainbow trout in a few days from the hatchery at Oregon City. These trout came originally from Leadville, Col. Mr. Waters has arranged with the government fish commission to place them in the Rattlesnake creek and several small lakes in the vicinity of Trout Lake in the Mount Adams country.

Mr. Waters has done much to replenish the streams of Klickitat county with fish, and when this lot will have been planted, it will make a total of 45,000 trout which he has placed in the streams and lakes of the state of Washington.

Huge Task.
It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver and stomach. Guaranteed by C. N. Clarke, druggist; price 50c."

Frank Ries Trial Postponed.
The trial of Frank Ries has been postponed until the November term of court at the request of Attorney Wilson for the defense, who has been unable to secure important witnesses, among them W. H. Rodenheiser, who is said to be well informed on the relation existing between Ries and the deceased Foss, and to have heard Foss threaten to kill Ries.

Captain Forfeit Licenses.
As a result of the investigation concerning the collision between the steamers Dalles City and Spencer near Linton May 31, both Captain Spencer, who was at the wheel of his own boat, and Captain Sid Seammom, of the Dalles City, have forfeited their licenses for six months. Captain Spencer, it is understood, will carry the matter to a higher tribunal.
