Creamery at Winans City Assured.

Winans, Or., June 28.—Editor Glacier: In the matter of a creamery to locate in Hood River valley, which proposition we have been pioneering (see our ad.), we can say that we have different capitalists now figuring on the proposition, which will be quickly settled and a creamery of ample capacity will soon be in operation at Winans City, the only true center of Hood River valley. Taking into consideration the country west and south of the forks of Hood River, and as the new railroad terminates at Winans City, the whole problem will be quickly solved. The people of Oregon City City treated the visitors very courteously, charging not 25c for beds and the same price for good meals.

"Thousands of dollars in the pockets of the farmers and thus to be distributed over the country, will be the result of the splendid rain," was the general comment as the rain came down copiously throughout the morning. And phone messages from Sherman county and all through the adjoining country brought reports of a steady down pour and a blessing to spring-sown grain, as well as a "filler for fall wheat." Ditch Survey Nearly Completed.

J. H. Shoemaker reports that the surveying party for the new west side ditch reached Green Point the first of the week, having surveyed a route ten miles from Hadley's gap, the starting point, and still have about five miles further to go before reaching the objective point on the east fork of Hood River. They expect to strike the river about three miles above Sandy Flat, at an elevation of about 500 feet above the head gate of the Farmers' Irrigating Co. ditch.

The route surveyed promises to be easy digging, only about 1,000 feet of rock excavation having been encountered, and only about 1,000 feet of flume will have to be built.

J. H. Shoemaker and F. C. Sherrich will start out prospecting other routes in a few days, and it is possible that a still more favorable route can be secured, that will still further reduce the expense of construction or shorten the distance of the main ditch.

MEETS HIS DEATH IN WHITE SALMON RIVER

Report reached this city yesterday of the drowning of George Boorman shortly before noon in the waters of the White Salmon river. George was in the employ of the Menominee Lumber Co., driving logs in the White Salmon river. It is said the young man started to wade the stream. He was a good swimmer, but possibly was carried by the swift waters under the logs, and there drowned.

His brother, Eben, in company with Frank Pierce and Will Wheeler, went to the scene of the accident shortly after noon in search for the body.

George was 22 years old, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Boorman, who reside on Phelps creek, two and a half miles west of the city. His parents have the sympathy of the community in their sudden grief. The young man was strong of physique and bright of mind.

Later—George, it seems, started to wade the stream about a mile and a half above the mouth. He was cautioned not to do so by Frank Pierce, who was with him. Getting into deeper water, the raging current held him under and the lad was drowned, while Mr. Pierce, though near at hand, was unable to render assistance.

Notes From the Enterprise.

Fred Lathy of Underwood is making regular shipments of peas to Portland every other day.

Don't forget that there is going to be a grand ball in White Salmon on the Fourth of July night. You should be sure to attend for it will do you good.

Wm. Wheeler, of Underwood while shoveling out the earth from the cellar of Mrs. Olsen's new house found two stone shakers perfectly alike and of the same size, and the two were found close together. They will be a value addition to his collection of Indian curios.

Many strangers going and coming to and from the fair are stopping off at White Salmon to look over the country. The extensive advertising of the White Salmon Land Company is beginning to show results.

There was a meeting of the school board Tuesday evening and arrangements made for the next term, which will commence the first Monday in september. Prof. Colburn accepted the principalship and a Miss Rathbone, of Lewis county, has been engaged for the primary. There will be a special school election called in the near future. Look out for our notices.
