

ANNOUNCEMENT

OF THE

Hood River Electric Light, Power & Water Company

We fully appreciate the manner in which the public approved of our investment and effort in improving the water service, as was shown by the recent elections. These elections demonstrate conclusively that the people of Hood River believe in fair treatment of large investments, and they mark an epoch in the progress of the city.

Our Company is now building a dam, and installing a new modern electric power and lighting plant, expected to be in operation by October 1st, which will furnish over 600 horse power, and capable of developing over 3,000 horse power from the same dam. A day current will be furnished as soon as there is business enough to warrant.

To demonstrate our appreciation of the manner in which the public has approved of our effort in improving the water service, we take pleasure in announcing that water rates for house service will be reduced from $1.25 to $1.00 per month. This cannot be done now owing to the extreme heavy expense being incurred, but will be effective within twelve months, and probably by January 1st, 1906. The rates for all classes of special service will be adjusted to correspond with the service rendered, and the rates made to compare with the rates in other cities.

We thank our many friends for their support and patronage.

HOOD RIVER ELECTRIC LIGHT, POWER & WATER CO.
By H. F. Davidson, President.

FARMERS FILING ON WATER RIGHTS

Special to the Glacier.
Goldendale, Wash., July 18.—Since the adjournment of superior court last week there has been a rush of filings on water rights. The two cases before Judge McCreadie were taken under advisement, and will probably be continued to the September term. Rudolph Lauterbach of White Salmon has a case in equity against C. D. Moore, which was argued before the judge last week, and the demurrer over ruled. The defendant was granted 20 days to answer. Moore it seems has been using water from a spring having its source on Lauterbach's property on the mountain side. Lauterbach claims Moore has no right to the water, while the latter declares the owner of the spring has no right to divert the stream from its natural channel.

The case of A. J. Taylor vs. George W. Moore has been taken under advisement. This is a case where Taylor owns a sawmill on Mill creek. Moore has taken the water from the stream further up the creek, thus taking the water power for the mill. A question of riparian rights comes up here.

Farmers are manifesting considerable interest in the cases, inasmuch as many of them will be affected by the decisions. Several have already taken time by the forelock and are filing on their riparian rights.

In the case of J. G. Allyn vs. Homer Lee, et al.; labor lien and foreclosure, plaintiff was awarded $10, the cost going to defendant. Suit was for $65, said to be due for carpenter work.

Death Comes Sudden to H. J. Byrkkett.
Harvey J. Byrkkett, a veteran of the late war, and a highly respected citizen of Hood River, was overcome with a stroke of apoplexy early Saturday evening, and died at 7 o'clock Monday morning. The body was taken that morning to Trout Lake, his former home, where funeral services were conducted Tuesday.

To all respects Mr. Byrkkett was in his usual good health. He had gone into the garden after supper to gather some vegetables. Passersby noticed him sitting on the ground inquired what the matter was. He replied that he was not feeling well. Shortly afterward neighbors noticed him prostrate, and he was carried into his room. He lost consciousness within a few minutes, and lay thus in a comatose state until he answered the last roll call.

His sudden death was a painful surprise to all. All day Saturday he was arranging for a trip he was to have made Sunday morning to Trout Lake in company with Mr. Blanchard. Friends and comrades of the Grand Army did all that was possible for the old man in his dying hours. A squad of old soldiers escorted the body to the ferry landing with a large American flag draped about the casket as it was borne through the city.

Many of the members of the local Grand Army post had not received the news of the death of Mr. Byrkkett Monday morning, when the body was taken to Trout Lake, and regretted deeply not being able to render their former comrade the military honors due him. The old soldiers who were pall bearers for the body on its way to the boat landing were H. H. Bailey, A. L. Phelps, T. J. Cunningham, C. F. Waid, S. Koppin.

Funeral services at Trout Lake were preached by Rev. J. S. Rhoads of the United Brethren church, who had been a neighbor of the deceased a year before his death. Interment was made in the family burying plot, beside a child and grandchild.

Besides a wife, Mr. Byrkkett leaves a son, Rufus Byrkkett, of Trout Lake, and a daughter, the wife of William Coste, state representative from Klickitat county. Judge A. K. Byrkkett of Ringo is also a brother of the deceased.

Harvey J. Byrkkett was born in Ohio 70 years ago. He served throughout the war in an Ohio regiment. In the early 70's he settled at Trout Lake, where he resided until coming to Hood River some five or six years ago. In his death, the town has lost an exemplary citizen, and a kind neighbor.

Tells of Work of Children's Home.

Rev. M. V. Crouse, superintendent of the Children's Home at Cincinnati, and brother of Mrs. S. E. Bartness of this city, preached Sunday morning at the United Brethren church. His address told of the work of Children's homes, and was a very interesting and able sermon. Rev. Mr. Crouse has been interested in charitable work the greater part of his life.

In the evening, Rev. J. D. Rhoads preached a farewell sermon to his Hood River congregation. Mr. Rhoads has been elected presiding elder of the Oregon district of the United Brethren church, and is preparing to move with his family to Philomath. He will also be in charge of the church at that place. Rev. Mr. Rhoads supercedes Rev. Mr. Neff as presiding elder for the Oregon district.

The church in this city will be filled by Rev. G. J. Beeler, who will be here from Harland, Kans., some time in August.
