SMITH & GALLIGAN,
Hood River, Or.

Mr. and Mrs. Laibe of The Dalles were in Hood River Tuesday.

Ed Rand and family of Sumpter are visiting relatives in Hood River.

Sunday the thermometer registered 39 degrees in the shade at The Dalles.

Mr. Rakestraw of Frankton is erecting a new barn to accommodate the size of this year's hay crop.

Mrs. M. P. DeWolf and A. H. DeWolf of Grand Forks, N. D., registered Tuesday at the Hotel Waucoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brice expect soon to occupy the Byrket cottage on River street. Mr. Brice is a bookkeeper in the banking house of Butler & Co.

Mrs. Clara Hubbard and Miss Esther Cable of San Francisco, Cal., arrived in Hood River last Wednesday. They are the guests of their aunt, Mrs. A. Tutts.

There's no need of any one going hungry for lack of work in The Dalles. Farmers are busy harvesting, and the Great Southern are in use of a large number of track-layers.

Mrs. J. C. Ruff, who was down from Mount Hood Tuesday, says that on Monday afternoon the thermometer in the shade on the north side of the house registered an even 100.

The watermelon season is now fairly opened at The Dalles, and the yield is very abundant. Wagons loaded arrive in the city every day, and are shipped to Portland and other less favored points.

R. M. Hookins returned from Hood River a few days ago where he spent several days, calling on Cyrus Vaughan, J. L. Davies and other former residents of this community.—Newberg Graphic.

The Dalles public schools were the recipients one day last week of a silver medal for work exhibited at the St. Louis exposition, and a bronze medal in conjunction with Ashland and McMinville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Cornell and little daughter of Locke, Ohio, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Gessling.

Mr. Cornwell is a brother of Mrs. Gessling. They are on their way to the Portland exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Aye of Manhattan, Kans., were guests during the week of Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Dumbis.

Mr. and Mrs. Aye visited at the Dalles, and left Tuesday for their home in Kansas.

Gladya, the 12-year-old daughter of T. A. Reavis, was badly scalded about the knees and feet Sunday morning. At last reports she was resting easy.

The young lady accidentally upset a lamp, and she was removing it from the stove.

A Hood River man is experimenting with a hop yard with such promising results that already the Hood Riverites begin to think their hops will rival their famous strawberries for a profitable crop.—Forest Grove.

Mrs. Mary A. Rickert and Mrs. John Alsop have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Butts for the past four weeks. Left Hood River last Friday. They will attend the fair in Portland for a few days before starting for their homes in Iowa and Illinois.

A large rattlesnake having eleven rattles and a button was killed on the Billings ranch one day last week.

Mrs. Billings drove the rattler into a log, where he was held at bay until a gentleman happened along with a gun, and his snakeship was promptly dispatched. Harold Billings killed another rattlesnake a few days afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. James Birge and children arrived this week from Marion county, Illinois, and are visiting relatives in the valley. Mrs. Birge was formerly Mrs. Cameron, and conducted the eating house for the lumber company at Viento. Jacob Copple, father of C. L. Copple, accompanied the party, also Mrs. Ann Kell, a sister of Mrs. J. H. Dukas.

Mrs. George Bentz and her two daughters, Agnes and Inez, Mr. and Mrs. Cooley and son Roy of Waterloo, Iowa, and Mr. Hazelton of Council Bluffs were guests last Sunday at the Billings home on the East Side. Mrs. Cooley is the mother of Mrs. Bentz.

She was greatly pleased with the beautiful mountain scenery and sparkling spring water on the Billings farm. Although over 50 years old, she walked a mile and a half and gathered six quarts of wild blackberries, which she preserved and will take with her to Iowa.

A. A. Jayne and family are enjoying an outing in the mountains.

N. Wheelton of The Dalles was a Hood River visitor Tuesday.

E. C. Sanderson, dean of the Eugene divinity school, preached Sunday morning at the Valley Christian church.

J. M. Parry, a business man of Moro, was in the city during the week, endeavoring to arrange a real estate trade.

Miss Ella Packard of Mansfield, Ark., and Miss Rogers of near Emporia, Kans., were guests last week of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Evans and family.

The Glacier office is now located in the northwest corner of the Davidson building, the concrete building on River street.

Miss Jessie Everett of Ohio is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kinney and Professor Everett, at their home on West River street.

Up to date 123 limiting licenses have been granted in Wasco county, and two of those are held by Indians, who are considered the best shots in this locality, says the Chronicle.

W. W. Dakin of Seattle, accompanied by his wife and two children, are the guests of C. U. Dakin and family. Mr. Dakin is in the employ of the Seattle Electric Co.

Martin Einstrum is now sole proprietor of the cigar and confectionary business and the Hazelwood ice cream parlors, formerly the business of Will Sheets.

S. A. Knapp is making extensive improvements to his residence on River street. When completed he will have one of the neatest homes in that part of the city.

J. M. Schmeltzer, clerk in the tax and abstract office of John Island Henderson, spent several days last week visiting at Hillsboro, Forest Grove and other valley towns.

A. Crofton of Portland, accompanied by his wife and child, arrived Sunday morning at Hood River, and is in the valley, and in the afternoon crossed the river to the Jewett cottages at White Salmon.

The assessor's census of towns outside of The Dalles gives the following: Antelope city, 275; Antelope precinct, 343; Shaniko city, 215; Shaniko precinct, 322; Halkerton precinct, 109; Wasco county, east of Deschutes river, 191.

Dr. M. F. Shaw announces that he has opened offices in the Jackson building and has again resumed practice in Hood River. Five years ago Dr. Shaw gave up his practice in Hood River, and a part of this time he spent in southern Oregon.

A. W. Onk has sold his ten-acre one mile south of the Barrett school house to H. C. Hougat and son Joseph, who expect to improve the land and build a home there. Mr. Hougat having bargained to sell his farm on the banks of Hood River.

The skill with which the Portland street car lines handle the crowds of visitors to the exposition is a matter of favorable comment from all quarters. Though from 1,500 to 10,000 people ride to the fair every day, there is practically no crowding, and the conductors are winning praise for their uniform courtesy and attention to the passengers. The exposition is only fifteen minutes' ride from the business center of Portland.

A few evenings ago a logger entered a store on Oak street and bought a pair of loggers' shoes. The customer had just enough jaw on to make him loquacious, and as he sat placing his shoes he told of the many places he had been of and the prominent lad he had met. Pete Isenberg was one of the group of loungers in the store, and the proprietor, who is known to be fond of a joke, asked the customer if he had ever met Pete Isenberg, known as Mountain Pete, the celebrated desperado of Idaho in the Wall-Montana. The logger knew Pete well and gave a glowing description of Pete's career as a bad man of the first magnitude. He was then asked if he knew Sam Bartness, a well known faro dealer of Helena. Many a time had the logger kicked the tiger when Sam presided over the cloth. Finally after several other names that corresponded with the names of well known Hood River citizens had been mentioned, the logger was asked if he ever met Dad Fonda, a Methodist preacher who at one time rode the circuit in Idaho. At the mention of the last name the logger began to see a light, and as the crowd laughed, the customer was in a fair mood to clean out the crowd, but evidently he had learned that "discretion is the better part of valor," and he silently left the store.

H. E. Davidson was a Portland visitor this week.

Mr. H. M. Wood went to the Locks, Wednesday morning.

H. W. Wait spent several days in Portland last week.

Sam Hartness is building a new barn on his property on Irving street.

Dr. C. H. Jenkins and family are camping on the Little White Salmon.

A. D. Moe and family were seeing the sights at the exposition last week.

Chester Jackson of Portland, is visiting in this city with his friend, Harold Wood.

Frank Button is home from Lane county, where he is engaged in the logging business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Doble of Grays Harbor are the guests of his cousin, C. U. Dakin.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Clarke are taking an outing at the beach for the benefit of Mr. Clarke's health.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wood returned by boat, Tuesday afternoon, from Portland where they have been visiting the fair for several weeks.

Miss Alice Yates of Park Rapids, Minn., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yates and family. Miss Yates is a niece of Postmaster Yates.

Dr. Osburn of LaPorte City, Iowa, is in the valley visiting his former neighbor, W. Fike. The doctor is also looking for a business location.

A. J. McLane, who was down from Mount Hood Wednesday, says there are many people from the lower valley camped along the trout streams of the Mount Hood country.

Robert McComb of Seattle, accompanied by Louis Svartz, after visiting the exposition at Portland, arrived in Hood River Wednesday, by boat and are guests at Twin Oak farm.

F. W. Andrew of East Grand Forks, Minn., is here visiting the family of C. G. Metcalf, and looking after his young orchard. He reports S. Barker preparing to move out to Hood River to make this his home.

Miss Lotta Record has returned to her home in Everett, Wash., after visiting with the family of W. M. Moses. She was accompanied to Portland by Mrs. Moses and children, who will take in the exposition and visit relatives at Woodburn before returning.

Rev. Father J. M. Hickey of Wasco was in the city Wednesday. Father Hickey began last March the publication of the Occidental at Wasco, a quarterly magazine and church paper which is meeting with decided success, so much so that Father Hickey hopes to issue the paper monthly, and thinks he will be compelled to move to Portland, where he can devote his entire attention to the work.

A party of Kansas editors and their wives passed through Hood River on the delayed train, Tuesday morning.

E. P. Isenberg was present at the depot to see Ben Mickel, a member of the party from Soldier, Kans., where Mr. Isenberg formerly resided. It was the intention of the editors to take the boat at The Dalles, and make the rest of the trip to Portland on the river, but the train being late the steamer could not wait for them. Had they made the river trip, Mr. Isenberg intended to go with them as far as the Locks, and return on the train. The Kansas newspaper men were decorated with large sunflowers. They were on a special excursion to the Lewis and Clark exposition.

Born.

In Mosier, Or., Wednesday, August 2, to Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Bailey, a son.

Married.

At The Dalles, Ore., Aug. 1, 1905, at the court house, Mrs. Susie Morgan and Humphrey Pough. Rev. Skipworth of the M. E. Church performed the marriage ceremony.

In Portland, Wednesday, August 2, at the home of the bride's uncle, Howard M. Fairfield, Lucy Jean Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Roberts of Hood River, to Harry E. Buxton of Corvallis. Rev. Dr. Hill officiated. No cards.

Rags Wanted.

The H. E. L. P. & W. Co. will pay 3c per pound for clean cotton rags at their office, either white or colored. They must be large enough for wiping machinery.

Additional Odell Notes.

B. Jones of Belmont, with his family and the Mathews Bros., one from North Dakota and one from Los Angeles, Cal., were in the party. In circling the east side of the valley strangers always get a peep at Odell and are invariably impressed with the fact that once here they are at the Hub. These people were pleased with the valley.

Mr. Strong, who lives near Odell, has an exhibition at the Little White Salmon a stalk of corn 8 1/2 feet in length and grown without water. R. F. Shoemaker of the west side informs us he has five acres of hops growing in his place that promise well. If the valley can develop hops and corn, then another laurel will be added to our valley.

Last Sunday the Little White Salmon shipped its first car of wood for the season. The wood business is on the bum this year. It is a fact that wood is being delivered in town for less than the cost of laying it there, but the advent of the railroad here will equalize the problem.

Frank Neff and wife are rusticiating at Collons Springs for a month. August, with its dust and heat, is the time to seek health resorts.

GLACIER.

Mrs. George Weygant is slowly improving.

Mrs. Lukenirler from Portland is spending a few days on her homestead.

Mrs. Ruff and daughter and Miss Teyson will return to Portland Tuesday, after a three week's visit at Glacier View.

We expect to hear of Jim Davidson making a trip to Portland soon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Morton and Miss Morgan spent Friday and Saturday at the Inn.

Miss Morgan will return to Portland this week, after a two weeks' visit at Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Morton's.

A fire was set by some unknown person near the Hudson ranch last Saturday, which caused considerable excitement in the Glacier vicinity, it being reported that the Hudson house was on fire. But on investigation it was found that no damage had been done.

Prize for Portland Yell.

Special to the Glacier.

Portland, Aug. 9.—If you want to make $25 easily, try your hand at writing a yell for Portland at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The date is September 30, but the yell must be in the hands of the committee by August 31. The exposition company offers a prize of $25 to the person who submits the yell that may be considered best for the purpose. Contestants should remember that something in the nature of a college yell is wanted, but it must be original and striking. The contest is open to all. All yells should be sent to Henry E. Reed, secretary of the exposition, the envelopes being marked "Portland Day."

Another prize of $25 is offered, under the same conditions, to the person writing the best slogan for Portland. By slogan is meant a catch-phrase such as the one used by Tacoma to excellent effect, "Watch Tacoma Grow." The name of Portland, of course, must figure. The slogan must have the merit of being lively and convincing—something that will cause people to think and talk about Portland and ask questions. It must not be more than five words, but may be less.

The results in these two interesting and novel contests will be announced shortly after the 31st of August. Portland day, September 30, promises to be the biggest day of the entire exposition in point of attendance and general interest.

Passer-by (as drunken man collides with him)—"What do you want?" Tippler—"Nothing. I've got all I can carry now!"

If all the free shows inside the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds, such as moving picture exhibits, stereoscopic entertainments and the like, were charged for at the rate of 25 cents a show, the average price for such performances when given outside, it would cost the visitor $2.25 to see them all. There are nine of these shows, and all are absolutely free to exposition visitors. Each show gives several performances daily.
