Ray Leslie of Seattle is visiting relatives at Twin Oaks farm.

Mrs. G. D. Woodworth and daughter were Portland visitors last week. G. R. Castner was up from Portland Tuesday to attend a special meeting of the board of directors of the Hood River Irrigation district. Marriage licenses were granted Thursday to T. F. Dunn and Margaret Denmore of Hood River, and James M. Thomas and Mary (an Indian woman). Richard Thompson leaves today for his home at Hood River. He put in the season with Emmett Olds' threshing outfit, and kept up an unflagging water supply.—Moro Observer. Mrs. J. E. Nichols is here on a visit to her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Adams, on route to her new home at Hood River, where Mr. Nichols is going into business.—Moro Observer. D. Allen Willey of the Outing Magazine, New York, is in the valley at the instance of R. M. Hall of the O. R. & N., to secure views of apple and berry farms, for a descriptive article on fruit culture. A box of handsome three and a half tier Snow apples were sent to the Wasco county exhibit last Friday by G. P. Knowles. Each apple is highly colored, and the display should attract attention at the fair. H. J. Hanson of Mount Hood is elated over the prospects of the extension of the Mount Hood railroad to his neighborhood, and will clear land this winter for a larger berry patch. His neighbor D. I. Miller has set 13 acres in berries this fall. J. M. Wright was awarded the contract for the erection of the A. O. Lindis cottage on Columbia avenue, between the residences of A. A. Jayne and E. O. Blanchard. The new building will cost in the neighborhood of $1800. Work will begin at once. C. G. Rolf is here from Boise, Idaho, looking for a fruit farm. Mr. Rolf came West from Wisconsin last year, and purchased land in the Boise valley. His lands fruit-growing in that country very uncertain because of the frosts, and is anxious to locate in Hood River. J. I. Miller finds strawberries the best paying crop he can grow, and is planning to clear five acres of ground for berries, which when planted will give him eleven acres of berries. His crop this year netted him over $150 an acre. His berries are not early, coming in after the berry season in the Hood river valley has passed its height. Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Arnold of Vineland, N. J., were guests during the week with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ontank. Both families were formerly neighbors in New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold are making an extensive tour of the Pacific coast. They visited the Yellowstone Park, and will return home by way of California. Rev. J. L. Hershner returned Monday evening from Seattle, where he attended the annual meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions. The meeting was one of national and international interest in that questions of home and foreign missions were concerned, and men of wide experience were present to present the needs and progress of various lands. Among those heard were Dr. Dawson of London and Washington Gladden of Ohio. Mr. Hershner reports Seattle a very beautiful and busy growing city. James Caruban of Dukus Valley, aged 19, was examined last week before County Judge Lake and adjudged insane. The young man has since been taken to the asylum at Salem. Some months ago, Caruban underwent an operation in Portland, and since that time he has never been quite right. At times he is violent and when the officers attempted to put him in the cell in the county jail, it took the combined force of the jailer and prisoners to manage him. Work is progressing on Captain and Mrs. Olson's 20-room hotel, which is nearing completion at Underwood, says the Pioneer. Mrs. Olson has had years of successful catering to the traveling public, has traveled extensively and is of that thorough, painstaking and genial disposition calculated to please. In fact press of travel has compelled the adding of tent after tent till they are already doing a good business in advance of opening the "Rockhaven." From its basement, hewn from solid rock throughout, light, health, breezeiness, comfort and handiness, drawn from Mrs. Olson's experience, has been planned and worked out in substantial detail.

D. I. Stone returned last week from a trip to Portland.

William Shipman is now employed at the Commercial hotel in The Dalles. Miss Ethel Roberts is planning to attend the Monmouth Normal school this winter. W. L. Bingham left Monday for Cascade Locks, where he will work in the saw mill there. Miss Eva Nickelson left Monday, the 11th, for Walla Walla, to resume her studies at Whitman college. A force of two dozen men are operating the government fish hatchery at the mouth of the White Salmon river. Mrs. Dan Meares is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. Mrs. Foley is seriously ill with the same fever. The family of Bert Heath, who resided near the old armory building on River street, left last week for Portland. C. F. Waldo is making extensive improvements to his cottage on Oak street, just east of the United Brethren church. A. M. Kelsay and A. A. Allen have been absent during the week, looking over the lumbering situation at points below Portland. Mrs. Barton Davidson, nee Miss Vera Jackson of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Jackson. Mrs. DeGrath and Mrs. Chipping will receive the members of the Woman's Alliance and their friends at William G. Elliot, jr., hall Friday afternoon. Mr. Ogden, a South Portland grocer, was the guest Sunday at Twin Oaks farm. He left the next day for the upper valley, where he looked over a homestead claim. Rev. G. M. Beeler is endeavoring to create renewed interest in the gymnasium, and hopes to have the building open two nights each week. The reading room will also be reopened. Max and Ralph Heinrichs will return this week to Corvallis, to resume their work in the Oregon Agricultural college. Max is a senior this year, and his brother a member of the sophomore class. S. F. Fouts, who is now a member of the Portland law firm of Sweek & Co., is making a special study of irrigation laws and water rights. Mr. Fouts is planning to locate in Hood River within the next year. E. R. Bradley, the job printer, has installed a Moline press, a power cutter and a large assortment of job type of the latest design. Mr. Bradley now has one of the best equipped job offices outside of the city of Portland. W. O. Sanders is rushing work on the Sherman cottage on the East Side. He expects to have the building enclosed next week. P. F. Friday is erecting a large and commodious barn on his land adjoining Mr. Sherman. The boys who have been operating a sein for salmon on the sandbar below the city are meeting with very poor success. There seems to be very little salmon running past the gill netters at the mouth of the Columbia. In the contest over the will of the late David Dycors of Hood River, which was heard last week, Judge Lake has decided in favor of the devisees, W. E. and N. T. Neff and against a son, Joel Diers, who was the contestant. The case involved about $3200. S. D. Garner is home from Marion county, where he went with the family of Alfred Boorman and Mr. Eby. They were all gathering hops near Brooks, but the water not agreeing with Mr. Garner he returned home. The other members of the party were enjoying the outing. J. P. Thompson of The Dalles, owner of 120 acres of fine land in Dukus valley, the farm on which J. O. Cameron is located, was a Hood River visitor last week. Mr. Thompson has cleared 23 acres this summer, and has 92 acres seeded to hay. He intends to set an apple orchard, and will also purchase dairy cows. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Crandall of Lebanon were guests during the week of Professor and Mrs. W. A. Wiley. Mr. and Mrs. Crandall are the parents of Mrs. Wiley. Mrs. Wiley's brother, M. H. Crandall, accompanied by Mrs. Crandall and little son, of Roseburg, also visited here. Mr. Crandall is a conductor on the Southern Pacific line running out of Roseburg.

Mrs. J. F. Stranahan is home from a trip to Portland.

Miss Kate Earl of The Dalles is the guest of S. E. Bartness and family. W. B. Davidson left Thursday for Portland, where he is attending the exposition. George Platt of Waterloo, Iowa, was the guest last week of R. J. Melissac of Mount Hood. Mrs. D. D. Davidson of Coeur d'Alene was a guest during the week of Mrs. P. S. Davidson, sr.

Captain Gus Bartelle and Miss Maie Elton of The Dalles were married this week.

Miss Gladys Hartley has returned to Forest Grove to resume her studies in Pacific university. E. A. Franz and family and the family of D. Jackson arrived Tuesday from their eastern trip. Harold Hershner and Mair Dana left Monday for Forest Grove, where they will attend Pacific university this winter. Mrs. E. W. Spencer, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Irving Spencer, was the guest during the week of Mrs. P. S. Davidson, sr.

J. F. Stranahan was over from his White Salmon ranch Tuesday.

Mr. Stranahan reports that a valuable Jersey cow of his is not expected to live. R. Smith, one of the new stockholders in the Davenport Bros. Lumber Co., came up from Portland Monday, and went out the next day to Green Point. J. W. Rigby and Rev. Mr. Kennedy have secured eight acres of land of the Erwin & Watson tract just east of the Foley place, and are erecting a house thereon. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Huxley were in Mosier Saturday, where Mr. Huxley purchased 120 acres of fruit land from John Miles, situated on The Dalles road four miles south east of the depot. About 25 acres of the land has been cleared and planted to hay and vegetables. Fruitgrowers state that the apples will mature earlier this year than common. The summer was long and warm, and the fruit ripened much more rapidly than usual. Most of it is of large size and very fine quality. Picking of the winter apples in many orchards will begin shortly after the first of October. Interest in the tent meetings conducted by Evangelist Handwerker continues strong, the attendance being very good each evening. Up to Tuesday night over 21 additions to the Christian church had been secured, seven by baptism. Sunday afternoon there will be special baptismal services on the farm of D. N. Hyerlee, a mile west of the city. There have been intermittent showers during the week, which has freshened up the atmosphere, and made traveling over the good roads much more pleasant. The peaks of Adams and Hood show a bright coat of fresh snow. What forest fires were burning in this part of the Northwest have been extinguished, and the atmosphere is very clear. Jimmy DeBorde and Charles Foster report fishing in the White Salmon never better. They returned the other day loaded down with salmon trout and a stock of fish stories. Jimmy landed one monster fish weighing 33 pounds. This is couched for those who weighed the salmon, but the boys also tell of cutting open the salmon for the eggs, when a large mudcat was found in the stomach of the fish. "Why, that thing's alive," said Jimmy, and sure enough as he cast it into the water it revived in a moment and went paddling down the stream.
