

LOCAL SPORTS TELL TALE OF FISHING TRIP

A fishing party consisting of William Stewart, P. M. Hall-Lewis, E. S. Bryce, James DeBorde, Major Booth, O. H. Gray, Charles Foster, Ralph Reed and father, Fred Wheeler, Mr. Bishop, Cecil Holman, Ralph Laraway and Thomas Kinnard chartered the steamer Maja last Thursday and proceeded to Little White Salmon to snare the wily trout. All of the boys say they enjoyed the trip more than any heretofore taken. No accident happened to mar the fun, except a few broken fish poles; also exit a few spoon hooks, leaders and lines.

Good trout fishing was to be had at the junction of the two rivers, but the big sport was up near the hatchery, where several fine holes were discovered full of big salmon. And those holes are as far as the majority of the boys ever got. Landing salmon that weigh from 15 to 20 pounds on a 5-ounce pole is an amateur's sport, and very few succeeded in taking the big game from the water.

Mr. Bishop was rigged up with a telegraph pole with clothes line attachment and grappling irons for hooks. He succeeded in landing the first salmon. He would place the butt of the pole on the fourth button of his vest, (fourth from the top) and with both hands on the rod try to throw Mr. Fish over the mountain. The old gentleman Reed asked his son what he intended to do with that little thing, (meaning the 8-ounce rod), which might hold a fish over a pound. Shortly after Mr. Reed, jr., hooked a salmon as large as a hog, and weighing close to 50 pounds, and succeeded in landing him on the very same rod, which the old gentleman thought would not hold a two-pounder. That is science.

At one time O. H. Gray, Cecil Holman, Ralph Laraway and Ralph Reed all had a salmon each hooked in the same pool and standing in a space of ten feet. Excitement was high at that stage, but a wreck was all that was left of the tackle after 15 minutes of hard fighting. None of the four succeeded in making the land without broken poles, crippled reels and lines minus their hooks. But the supply was plentiful, and they had the habit—had by this time. Dynamite could not have driven them from the sport, for sport it was, and of the richest kind. Stewart, DeBorde and Bryce were the only hard worked fishermen that day. They fished hard from early morn till late at eve. But their efforts were rewarded by a catch of 20 fine salmon trout.

Hot coffee was served on the boat with the luncheon, and the appetites that had been growing all day were appeased. A whistle from the boat's siren, the jingle, jingle of a bell in the engine room, and all were off for home tired but happy.

Some of the stories that are coming out now as to the way some of the married men got the day off for fishing was great. The majority of them got their wives to the notion to go to Portland to see the fair. Others had different ideas.

Stewart's Land Deal.—Mr. Stewart claimed that he had a deal on 20 timber and that he could not possibly go to Portland as it was so essential that he should remain at home and see to business. What will his wife say?

Kinnard's Bad Foot.—Tom Kinnard the night before last after limping into the house with a turned up ankle, but with hard coaxing his wife was persuaded to go on to Portland promising to be back on the first train. As she went out the front Tom went through the back door. What will his wife say?

P. M. Hall-Lewis had to help survey the North bank. Yes!

James DeBorde thought he had the small pox. Oh, ho, water was sent home to clean out the barber shop, as the state board of health had warned him of dire consequences. He stayed home; oh yes!

Mr. Bryce said that Hood river was so muddy that he was afraid that if he did not watch it pretty close it would clear up. He did not say how.

Fossil's Water Supply.
The town of Fossil's fine gravity system of water works is paying for itself, in spite of the very low rates ($1.25 per month for each family and $5 per year for irrigation) that prevail. Recently the water committee, finding that the sinking fund contained considerably over a thousand dollars, redeemed two of the $500 water bonds held by French & Co. It is expected that all the bonds will be redeemed within five years, and then the town will have its water system entirely free of debt. Water rates will then probably be cut in two, and a few other savings added to the system to offset the increase in population. The piping of the Starr spring into Fossil has done more for the town than any other agency. Typhoid and other diseases that formerly raged in the days of wild water are now unknown here, and the beauty of our trees, flowers and lawns, all impossible without the generous water, furnishes pleasure to all our own people and excites the admiration of every stranger who comes within our gates. —Journal.

All Three Found Guilty.
The third trial of Williamson, Guener and Biggs resulted in a verdict of guilty of the crime charged in the indictment—conspiring to suborn perjury. The jury voted for six hours before an agreement was reached one juror standing out for acquittal. The penalty for the crime of which these men are convicted is a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years. The jury recommended them to the leniency of the court. Counsel for the defense gave notice of motion for a new trial.

Wards Off Pneumonia.
All coughs, colds and pulmonary complaints that are curable are quickly cured by one minute Cough Cure. Clears the phlegm, drains out inflammation and soothes the affected parts, strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia. Harmless and pleasant to take. Sold by G. E. Williams.

"Mrs. Nagget," said the doctor, "your husband needs a rest. He must go to Europe for three months."
"Oh, splendid!" she exclaimed, "I'll be delighted to go there."
"Very good. You can go for three months after he comes back. That will give him six months' rest."

A Pleasure to all.
No pill is as pleasant and positive as De Witt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills are so mild and effective that children, delicate ladies and weak people enjoy their cleansing effect, while strong people say they are the best liver pills sold. Sold by Williams Pharmacy.

M. P.'S LITTLE JOKE ON SENATOR FULTON

"I am conversant; the strike has been called off in my organic system, and work has been resumed all along the line," remarked M. P. Isenberg as he sauntered into the Glacier sanatorium last Saturday. "Since my last statement relative to the peace conference, I have been carefully noting the opinions of the men throughout the state on the subject. The Oregonian of September 22 contained statements from 21 prominent men, residents of 11 different counties in the state. They all agree that such a meeting will do no harm provided there is nothing done, such as attempting to vitiate or prevent any of the provisions of the direct primary law, or assuming any of the powers which belonged to a convention of regularly elected delegates under the old method of nominating candidates."

"Walter Tooz of Marion county very wisely adds this conclusion: 'Republican voters no longer will tolerate the dictation of party leaders or vote decisions made by them in secret conclaves.' With these provisions, the meeting may do some good. This is the opinion expressed in nearly all of the above mentioned communications."

"Senator Fulton, just before leaving for Washington, in an interview with an Oregonian correspondent recommended 'clubs in every county in the state' I accept this amendment instead of the kicking proposition recommended by me last week. I differ with the Senator only this far. He suggests organizing clubs; I say cut them, for they are not needed in all the counties."

"Speaking of Senator Fulton, I notice in the papers, his trip to Washington is in the interest of the Roseburg land office appointments. He is a very fortunate man. He can cancel every political debt he has with these two appointments at Roseburg. He is not to blame if his recommendations are not endorsed by the appointing power, and yet his friends cannot deny that he remembered them."

"Another convenience he has, is in holding a conference of the members to decide on a man to be recommended for appointment. He can sit down on the curbstone any place, and he will be in session without a possible chance for disagreeing. The appointment of United States district judge and attorney are still in reserve."

"I give notice that I would not be a candidate for governor with the hope that it might induce some one to suggest my name for United States senator. All leading lights make such moves as this but as there has been no move in my interest for the position so far I now withdraw from the race."

Will Insure Livestock.
W. J. Walker, vice president of the Pacific Livestock association of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, is in The Dalles starting the work of the association in Wasco county. This is an organization of stockmen and farmers for the purpose of insuring livestock against death from any cause. The assets of the association are $100,000 and there are no losses due and unpaid held by any person against the company. Charles L. Smith of The Dalles telegraphed to J. C. Ruby & Co., of Pendleton, Importers and dealers in thoroughbred stock, regarding the standing of this association, and they replied that their horses (over twenty) were all insured; that they met with the loss of a valuable horse insured for $100, and that same was promptly paid, and that they believed the company was all O. K. The association has paid over $25,000 in losses in the present year. Mr. Walker expects a large business will be done in this county. J. C. Thrall has been requested by many of the stock owners of this county to take up the work here, and expects to go into the field at once.
