Fouts is up from Portland to make Hood River his home. Sen has hung out his shingle from the Brosthus building on Oak street, and will practice law giving special attention to problems of irrigation rights. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jones and little daughter, Margaret, of Little Falls, N. Y., arrived in Hood River a few days ago. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beder, Mrs. Jones being a sister of Mrs. Songre. J. C. Melsenc of Mount Hood left Tuesday morning for Portland. Next week he will leave with his family for a visit with relatives and friends at Ocheyedan, Iowa. They will be east until after the holidays. Mr. Melsenc will do insurance work while in the East. Frank Caddy, who is becoming interested in the creamery route, has secured a number of good cows, and while waiting for a cream separator, has purchased a number of butter cows from five cows. He believes there is money in keeping a few cows when a farmer has a good clover patch. The ministers met at the U. B. reading rooms Monday with a goodly number in attendance. Reports from members of the committee appointed to formulate a better organization were received. Rev. G. M. Beder was asked to present a paper at the next session. A regular order of business will be adhered to and the association will be placed on a sound working basis. George W. Krum and family of Claremont county, S. D., have moved onto the Fred Bailey place three miles south of this city, they having purchased this 10-acre tract for $2500. Mr. Krum spent last winter in California, and traveled all over Oregon before locating in Hood River. Mr. Krum and his wife, with him, has gone back to South Dakota. But he expects to return and bring with him several more families, all of whom may locate here. Mr. and Mrs. James F. Leadbetter, son and daughter reached Hood River on Friday morning from Battle, Wyoming, and are guests for the present of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Abbott. Mr. Leadbetter and Mr. Abbott were interested in the mines on the American desert for several years. Mr. Abbott says he has been endeavoring to get his friends to leave the sugar brush plains of Wyoming for many years, but Mr. Leadbetter remained until his mine paid him something, and since reaching Hood River is glad indeed that he came. A. C. Staten owns 12 cows, which produced over 900 pounds of butter fat during the month of October. Bitter fat is now bringing 31 cents a pound. Mr. Staten expects in the near future to see a creamery located in Hood River. He does not expect to make any large amount of money from his cows, but says they furnish a means of using up his clover hay. He doesn't have to hunt a buyer now for hay, and has a fine lot of fertilizer for the enriching of his land, while the cows more than pay for themselves. Next year, Mr. Staten will construct a silo that he may have green feed throughout the year. That display of fine apples in the window of the First National bank came from the orchard of William Ehrek of Odell. Mr. Ehrek has a fine crop of apples this year, his total pick running over 1000 boxes of marketable fruit. Very few of his apples are wormy. Mr. Ehrek does not irrigate his orchard, but he has some of the finest fruit grown in the valley. For an 8-year-old Ortley tree he gathered 20 bushels of apples; from three others of the same variety he took 54 bushels. Some of his fine specimens of Ben Davis measured over 15 inches in circumference.

Mrs. Marcellus came up from Portland, Monday. Floyd Arnold spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Cascade Locks. George C. Teal and W. F. Burrell of Portland were Hood River visitors last Saturday. John Songre, foreman for the Oregon Lumber Co. at Viento, spent Sunday in town with his family. W. W. Pickett returned Sunday from Walla Walla, where he put in the summer in the harvest field. He will remain in Hood River this winter. The ministerial association will meet at the U. B. reading room Monday, Nov. 8. Subject of paper by Rev. G. M. Beder, "The kind of preaching demanded versus the kind the world needs." S. F. Fouts is up from Portland to make Hood River his home. Mrs. Root and family left Tuesday for Ella, Sherman county, where they will live on a homestead. The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church will meet Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles Ostner. Dr. U. O. Deputy and family have left for Riverside, Calif., where he will locate and practice his profession. Dr. Deputy has a brother there. George Ireland of Mosier was a Hood River visitor last Thursday. Mr. Ireland owns one of the fine fruit ranches of this growing community. Mrs. E. J. Nichols arrived Tuesday from Moro, where she has been visiting for a week or more. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols will move in the Bateham cottage in Coe's addition, Mr. Bateham and family moving out to their California address. Three basket ball teams have been organized among the school girls of Hood River and a team is in process of organization among the young women teachers. It is the intention of the young ladies to give annual exhibition games during the winter. Invitations are out for a dance this Thursday evening at the opera house, under the management of Mr. McCullay and John Culbertson. The young men are assured a good attendance, and the affair promises to be one of the pleasant social events of the season. At the insurance office of George T. Prather are samples of Yellow Dent corn which would be prize winners even in Missouri. The cereal was grown by J. W. Strong, adjoining Mr. Prather's farm south of Tuckers. He has no however to fill the pulpnet in this country in its agricultural resources. Owing to illness, Rev. J. E. Spight was unable to fill his appointment in the Baptist church last Sunday. Mr. Spight holds services here the first and third Sundays of each month. Last Sunday was the fifth Sunday, and he had hoped to give the people of his church an extra discourse, but sickness prevented. Mr. Spight was better yesterday, but is not yet well. He is expected to fill the pulpnet next Sunday. The second and third Sundays of each month he is in Mosier. Manager A. C. Staten of the Farmers' Irrigation Co., started Monday with a force of men and camping outfits for Pine creek, where several months' work will be done on improvements to the big ditch. Improvements will be made to the flume where it passes over the shell rock this side of Pine creek, and at the old Van Johnson place a portion of the flume will be replaced with ditch. Mr. Staten and men expect to be at this work until the middle of December, unless snow interferes beforehand. A "stratagem" might be the proper term to apply to the session of court just held in Prineville, from which Judge Bradshaw, District Attorney Menefee and Court Stenographer Dufur have just returned. Seven days were consumed in trying seven criminal cases, and as a result six prisoners are now on their way to the penitentiary at Salem to serve terms varying from one to five years. One murder case was up, that of Corbett Holm, an Indian, who killed another Indian on the road near Madras last May. The jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter and Holm was given a two-year sentence. Speaking of Prineville Judge Bradshaw says, "I tell you the little town is booming these days, several fine buildings are going up and in every way it is on the up move." W. H. Buskirk, who was down from Umattila during the week, states that he and his brother John have sold the 15 acres they purchased there a few years ago. The purchasing price was $70 an acre, and the selling price, the land lies a first under the irrigation ditch, and is very fertile. This year the Buskirk Bros. disposed of a large crop of berries and watermelons at very good profits. The berries, the Clark seedlings, sold at 26 a crate, and are slightly earlier than Hood River berries. The watermelons were sold in the patch, so great was the demand for fruit and vegetables at Umattila this year. Mr. Buskirk says a vegetable garden would do well at Umattila. The land produces bountifully. R. J. McFarland of Grass Valley is the purchaser of the tract. John Buskirk's family reside in Portland. He has not decided just yet where he will locate, but says it is the last time he will buy unimproved land for the purpose of improving it. He is getting too old, he says. M. V. Rand is up from Portland setting out an apple orchard on his farm on the East side. The ladies of the United Brethren church held their regular Kensington at the home of Mrs. Harry Muller last Friday. S. H. Cox was in the city during the week. He reports good progress on the work of driving the tunnel at the Gold Run mine. W. J. Baker made the following sales last week: J. W. Strong 5 acres to S. S. Thompson; Fred Bailey 10 acres to G. W. Krum, $3500. Iko Neuligh was in the city yesterday with the skin of a bear which weighed 220 pounds. Brain it seems had been making raids on the pigstys of the Crapper neighborhood. Earl Rowlands of McMinnville arrived last Friday to take the position of clerk at the Hotel Vancouver. Mr. Rowlands was a neighbor of the McGuire Bros. when they were residents of Yamhill county. Hollowed planks were plainly in evidence as the business men came down town yesterday morning. The windows of the stores were decorated with painted signs in a manner to cause no end of laughable comment. Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dano of Crocco, Iowa accompanied by Mr. Dano's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dano of Jacksonville, arrived in Hood River Tuesday to make this place their home. F. E. Dano is a brother of Harry Dano, the contractor, and a nephew of C. A. Dano, the insurance man. Mr. Dano is a printer and newspaper man. The members of the junior guild of St. Mark's church met Monday evening at the home of Miss Dano on River street, where they did more sewing for the annual bazaar, which is to take place the first week in December. The next meeting of the Junior Guild will be held at the home of Miss Walton. The Hood River candidate for that free trip the Portland Journal is offering to Hawaii is gaining rapidly over her contestants at The Dallas. Tuesday, Miss Stella Richardson had 24,331 votes against 17,000 a week ago. The vote for the three leading candidates now stands: Miss Estelle Crossen of The Dallas, 27,595; Miss Lucile Crute of The Dallas, 24,679; Miss Stella Richardson of Hood River, 24,431. The family of Dr. M. A. Jones suffered a peculiar experience Sunday night, for which the doctor cannot well account. About 2 o'clock in the night Mrs. Jones awoke suffering from severe cramps of the stomach. The doctor arose to build a fire and heat some water. His wife went into a serious spasm, and while Mrs. Jones was in this condition one of the boys took violently ill, and the doctor following suit in a few minutes. It was sometime before they secured relief. Dr. Jones thinks possibly spray poison from some apples which he secured the day before from White Salmon.
