AN EXPLANATION. There has been so much talk an misapprehension in regard to the construction of the new sewer that it might be well to say a few words in who have been misinformed or who to build the sewer large enough so that when sections of the city which will not at present be actually benefitted, come to be connected with it, it will not be necessary to enlarge it. As estimated by the engineer and the attorney engaged by the city to figure on this matter this assessment origin-

the expense, and reduced it. When property owners on the hill come to pay their final assessment it will be $20. The assessment of those who are compelled to connect with the sewer in the lower part of the city as soon as it is built is $27. It will be seen then that those who will receive the first benefit of the sewer will be compelled to pay the most for it.

carefully decided that $6 would cover

The cost of enlarging the trunk sewer when once built would be far in excess of the cost of making it big enough now, and it would be a foolish policy, indeed, to "save at the spigot and leak at the bung."

Considering that the election was held on an off year when there was not a full ticket to be elected, the vote not a full ticket to be elected, the vote polled was quite a large one. The to-tal number of ballots cast was 275. Last year the vote was 282. Only one ballot was thrown out as defective. Other ballots only contained the names of one or two candidates. Some contained the name of Truman Butles calls for other transvers. Butler only for city treasurer. As Mr. Butler was the only candidate for this office, he ought to feel highly complimented. One voter, not satis-fied with any of the candidates who had been noimnated, voted for C. U.

Dakin for the office of councilman.

The majorities given the newly elected councilmen are substantial ones and leave no doubt as to the voters' choice. The vote is as follows:

MAMMOTH NEW MILL

The new lumber mill for the Oregon Lamber company at the terminus of the Mount Hood railroad, seventeen miles up the valley, is about completed. The structure is situated about two miles up the east fork of the river at what will be known as the town of Dec. It is the largest number mill on the line of the O. The assessment of $6 on all lots for the building of the outfall of the sewer from the foot of River street to the Columbia river is due to the fact that eventually all the sewage of the city must pass through this main or trunk sewer. For this reason it was decided to build the sewer large enough so 000 feet of lumber.

Built on to the main mill is an addition that contains a saw filing room 30x60 feet, a boiler house 50 feet square and a room containing a plashing and trimming machine that is 16x60 feet.

The mill will be equipped with the The mill will be equipped with the latest improved milling machinery and will manufacture lumber of all descriptions, from ties and 80 foot timbers to dressed lumber and lath. The capacity of this enormous concern will be 300,000 feet per day, and when in full operation it will employ 500 men. The work of constructing the plant has been in charge of Nelson Moon.

The dam across the river at this point is 32 feet high and is about completed. Above the dam, elevated to a height of 16 feet is the bridge for the new railroad, which is also nearly completed. It is the expectation of the company to have the railroad running by the first of January. If it is the mill will be started up the first of March.

The land in the vicinity of the mill is well adapted to a townsite, and when the lumber company becomes well established a new town will have sprung up as if by magic.

It is the intention of the company to build a large boarding house and hotel at the newly named town of Dee, which will contain 100 rooms. Later the railroad will be extended as far up the railroad will be extended as far up the railroad will be extended as far up
