This club is composed of sixteen of the finest voices selected from a large conservatory of vocal students. Under the direction of Frank T. Chapman, dean of the college of music, the club will give the fantasia, "The Lady of Shalott," which is a very exquisite musical composition, and will be rendered in a charming manner. The second part of the program consists of "Six Ancient Folk Songs of the Netherlands," which will be sung by several soloists and the chorus, assisted by the "Alpha Teta" male quartette, and other male voices. The third part, more characteristic of college life and spirit, will be made up of college songs and numbers by the Alpha Teta Quartette and the Ladies' Quartette. Mrs. Pauline Miller-Chapman, vocal teacher in the conservatory, who is well known in Portland and other cities of Western Oregon, will also appear in a double number, which will be a treat for all who hear her, for she has a charming personality and a beautiful voice. The whole concert will be of the highest character musically and will be rendered in the best possible manner. Willis L. Dunnway Here. Willis L. Dunnway, candidate for the nomination of State Printer, stopped off a few hours in Hood River Wednesday. Mr. Dunnway is not a stranger in this city, having many friends here. Some of the older residents recall the fact that Mr. Dunnway addressed a Republican meeting here in 1896. He is a member of the firm of Anderson & Dunnway, printers, of Portland, and knows about all there is to know about the printing business, and is making his campaign on the issue of economy and says that if he is elected the profits of the office will be narrowed down to what is legitimate and that graft will be cut out.

Boyer Concert. One of the greatest musical treats that has ever come to Hood River will be the concert given by Professor W. H. Boyer, the noted director of oratorio, and tenor soloist. For many years Professor Boyer has been choir director of the First Congregational church of Portland and tenor soloist of the Jewish Synagogue, temple Beth Israel. He brings with him one soprano, Miss Edna Bennett, of Grace M. E. church, also one of the best central-tones of Portland. Another great feature of the evening will be the singing of Charles Cutler, the Indian baritone. Mr. Cutler is an Alaskan, who has spent years of hard study under the best of vocal teachers. Wood, who has been manager for the Pacific States Telephone Company here for the past three years has been transferred to Roseburg. Mr. Wood has been succeeded by W. V. Merrill, who has been stationed at Albany for some time. At the meeting of the Highland Literary Circle last Friday evening the club took up the reading of "King Lear." The meetings of the club are well attended and interest in the study of Shakespeare is becoming more manifest at each meeting. Councilman Morse, while standing near the trench being dug for the sewer in which a blast was set off, had the misfortune to be hit by a flying stone. The missile hit him near the ankle and crused it to such an extent that he was unable to be at business for a day or two. The dance given by the K. of P. last Thursday evening was a most enjoyable event. The auditorium of the Opera House where it was held was handsomely decorated and the stage was utilized for the purpose of serving in connection with the dancing. The dancing was of the best and the music was very pleasant. C. T. Toole, of the great Hoop Island, is now in the city for some time getting acquainted with his project, left for Portland, Sunday, where he will pack his household goods and remove them to Hood River. Mr. Roberts was for a number of years connected with the Salem Wool Mills Store, but retired from business a short time ago. He will remove his family here shortly.

ALLEGED MURDERER ARRESTED NEAR HERE Paul Musa, who is said to have murdered a saloon keeper named Julius Kuhn in Portland, February 17, was arrested by Detectives Rising and Snow, from Portland, yesterday at the lumber mill of the Stanley-Smith Company. Musa is an anarchist and a Portland paper says this of him: "If some one would only kill this man Kuhn with an army of hired assassins, he would do the world a service and I wouldn't have to pay such high taxes." Paul Musa, the man for whom the detectives are searching with a warrant charging him with the murder of Julius Kuhn on the night of February 17, is an anarchist of the most pronounced type. He never lost an opportunity to flaunt his opinions in the face of whoever would listen to him, and took advantage of every possible chance to work up to an argument on the subject. He made the foregoing statement to the clerk of Zur Rheinplatz Hotel in the course of a heated debate, in which he lost his temper. "Roosevelt should be killed," he said, "every man who serves as a soldier should be killed. They are all oppressors, and they raise the taxes. I am a property owner and a taxpayer, and I have to pay high taxes because Roosevelt kills the country with soldiers." Musa did not believe any man should work more than two hours a day, and advocated equal division of all money and properties at stated intervals. The detectives came here Tuesday evening on the late train and registered at the Hotel Wacom. Wednesday morning in company with Marshal Olinger they drove to Green Point and captured Musa who was working there. On arriving at the mill they learned from the time keeper that a man giving the name of Musa was working there on the road. In company with the timekeeper, Olinger went back and on having the man pointed out to him placed him under arrest. Musa came here last Thursday and obtained employment at the mill. He did not linger about Hood River but went out of town almost immediately upon his arrival. The detectives were looking for him in Portland, having heard that he had told a friend that he was coming to Hood River and the detectives getting wind of it followed him. He was brought to this city and placed in the jail and later taken to Portland. Musa is of medium size, dark complexioned and about 23 years of age and up until a few days before the crime was committed was employed on the sewer gang in Portland.
