FRUIT PROSPECTS VERY BRIGHT

BERRY DEMAND EXCEEDS SUPPLY

Hood River Apple Crop Promises to be the Largest in the History of the Business.

Secretary Shepard of the Fruit Growers' Union, and H. P. Davidson, the Davidson Fruit Co., are receiving double their usual inquiries for strawberries for this season of the year. The North Dakota agent for Hood River berries was here a few days ago, and said that he could handle an increased amount, and inquiries are coming in all along the line for Hood River berries.

The Hood River crop for this year is estimated at not over 20,000 crates, and may not run over 70,000. There were shipped out last year 108,000 crates, so that the shortage will be 25 to 35 per cent. This is due to several causes. The season of 1904 was unusually early, so that the berries were late and arrived on the eastern markets in competition with the berries from nearly all the heavy berry districts of the Mississippi and Missouri river valleys. While the fruit from these sections are much inferior, yet they served to lower the market at all points. This served to discourage many of the Hood River growers, and they reduced their acreage, by plowing up the old patches and setting out new ones to take their place. This year finds the acreage at least 400 acres less than in 1904.

In the upper valley, both in the Mt. Hood and Crater sections, there has been some increase in the acreage, but it has been more than offset by reductions in the valley. There will be more late berries, about the same amount as ripen in the middle of the berry season. This fact, however, will not do to be pecuniary advantage to the strawberry growers of the entire valley, as it will serve to distribute the crop over a longer period, making it easier for the pickers during the height of the season, make it easier for the shippers to handle the crop, and less apt to cause a glut of the different markets at any time.

Reports of the crop in Missouri and Colorado are somewhat conflicting, but from the most reliable sources it is reported that the crops in those districts will not be heavy. The California crop will be short. The strawberries in the latter state are largely in control of the Japs, and they are displacing strawberries with grapes to a large extent. These three points come most largely in competition with Hood River berries, and these favorable conditions still further strengthen the market.

If the conditions noted at the present time are maintained throughout the season, prospects are for a very prosperous season in this year for Hood River berries. The apples are beginning to bloom, and almost without exception, the bloom is very heavy all over the valley. The orchards are now a very pretty sight. The orchards are now in full bloom, and the trees have the appearance of being covered with snow, so thick are the blossoms while their fragrance makes a drive over the valley at the present time a pleasant one indeed.

The buds on the orchards are beginning to bear this year, and as they are mostly of the Spitzenbergs and Newtowns, there will be four or five times as many of these varieties this year as last, while it is estimated that the proper amount of commercial apples will be fully 175,000 boxes, against 60,000 last year.

Talks on Osteopathy.

Though the hood is kept in motion throughout its course by the heart, its distribution to various parts of the body is regulated by the vessels carrying the blood. Surrounding every artery, particularly the smallest ones, called arterioles, are a middle cord are circular muscle fibers which are supplied by nerves called vasomotor. In the spinal cord are various centers which control the action of these nerves and the consequent caliber of the arteries which they supply, thus regulating the amount of blood flow through these vessels in different parts of the body. By means of a proper amount of nerve force being conducted by these fibers to the muscular coat of the arteries, the latter are kept in a normal state of vigor or tone; but, should disturbances occur through pressure or irritation to the vasomotor center, or any of the vasomotor fibers, the arteries in the part under control of nerves emanating from this center will suffer likewise and the amount of blood will be necessarily be either increased or diminished.

The basic principle of Osteopathy is, that any deviation from the normal circulation in any part of the body marks the hour when disease begins.

Cold Killed Off Rabbits.

One of the advantages of the snow and cold weather in March is the destruction of rabbits. There was no feed left which they could get at except hay stacks, and when the farmers were vigilant in putting out poison for them they were practically exterminated. Many people report that there are no rabbits to be seen where they were formerly the menace of the body marks the hour when disease begins.

Increased Flow of Sulphur.

It is reported that the sulphur spring in Ashland is flowing ten times its usual quantity of water since the earthquake at San Francisco Wednesday morning. The regulator in H. L. Wield's jewelry store stopped running at exactly 10 seconds after the time the earthquake was reported to have been first felt.—Medford Tribune.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of influenza with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. N. Egleston of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees ached, joints aching, muscles sore, head stepped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, aiding the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip." Sold by Kier & Cass.

Fruit Grower's Exchange No Monopoly Says Court.

According to a decision handed down by Judge Monroe of the Superior Court of California, a fruit grower who becomes a member of a fruit exchange, signs the by-laws and agrees to sell his product through the exchange only, must comply with the obligation or pay the penalty provided by the by-laws of the organization.

RESULT OF THE PRIMARIES

CAKE NOMINATED FOR SENATOR

Hood River Republican Candidates Defeated Except for County Commissioner.

The following are the Republican nominees.

Senator, short term, F. W. Mulkey. Senator, long term, H. M. Cake. Congressman, First District, W. C. Hawley. Congressman, Second District, W. R. Ellis. Governor, James Withycombe. Secretary of State, F. W. Benson. State Treasurer, G. A. Steel. Supreme Judge, Robert Eakin. Superintendent Public Instruction, J. H. Ackerman. State Printer, W. S. Donaway. Attorney General, A. M. Crawford. Labor Commissioner, O. P. Hoff. Representatives, J. F. Hendricks and P. W. Knowles. Sheriff, Levi Chrisman. County Clerk, Simon Bolton. County Treasurer, M. Z. Donnell. County Commissioner, H. J. Hibbard. Surveyor, A. W. Mohr. Coroner, C. N. Burget. Justice of the Peace, John Leland Henderson. Constable, E. S. Olinger. Precinct Committeeman, D. McDonald.

The primary election was of considerable interest to Hood River, especially for U. S. Senator and representative. The campaign was fought hard, and the result shows that Hood River is disposed to stand together on the county division question. Notwithstanding the opposition that developed to Mr. Jayne at home from the prohibitionists and from minor personal reasons in some quarters, his vote in Hood River is very satisfactory. Although The Dalles crowd, and especially the Moody faction had paid workers in the field here, they accomplished little. Mr. Jayne was beaten in the city of The Dalles, and shows their unmistakable attitude on the county division question. As it was, also, more beyond a doubt that the majority, and the almost unanimous sentiment in Hood River is in favor of county division.

The only candidate that The Dalles is willing to give Hood River is county commissioner, and that office was decided between two Hood River men.

In the case of the United States Senatorship, Mr. Smith did not receive the support that was expected, but still polled a good vote in the entire county. Had he made a vigorous canvass of the state like his competitors it is very probable that he would have been nominated. As it was, he polled a very heavy vote, with a late canvass, which was due to his popularity and his unquestioned qualifications for the office. This should be a source of much gratification to him, second only to his receiving the nomination.

There was no competition among the Democratic candidates, and very little interest was taken among the Democrats in the election. There was not a contest for a single office.

Supplies Needed.

Portland, Ore., April 23rd, 1906. Agent, Hood River, Ore.

Mr. Harriman wires me this morning as follows from Oakland Pier, April 23rd, 1906: To J. P. O'Brien, Portland, Ore. Having recently been in San Francisco, I am deeply impressed with the necessity of uninterrupted forwarding of food stuff with which to feed the two hundred thousand homeless people. The situation is well organized and the United States' quartermaster department is receiving and distributing through its channels and through the various relief associations, all supplies as fast as they arrive, but the fact should be made public in all quarters that it will require continued effort on the part of every one to keep supplies coming. The railroads are of course handling all such supplies without charge and the people must respond to calls for relief.

E. H. Harriman.

I wish that you would give this information wide publicity through your local press and any other means accessible.
