GOOD ROADS EXPERT NOW AT SEATTLE

Seattle, July 18.—Six miles south of this city the government's good roads expert has just completed a mile of macadamized road to demonstrate what can and should be done in the way of roadwork in this part of the country. The result is a beautiful stretch of highway, hard and smooth in surface, and rounding like the circumference of a ball. It sheds water as easy as the roof of a house, and its solidity leaves apparently no chance for the formation of chukholes. The mile of road shown cost approximately $5,000, that stating the expert, being the average price for which it can be constructed in this country. Once properly built, the cost of repair work is reduced to a minimum.

The road is built sixteen feet wide on the crown, being a little narrower at the bottom as the sides slope in ward. A five-inch layer of crushed rock from three and a quarter to two and a quarter inches in diameter is laid on the prepared roadbed and rolled with a twelve ton roller until it is packed as closely as possible. Before that is done, however, should there be any soft spots in the roadbed, it is filled and the entire bed rolled so that all parts of it will support the same amount of pressure.

The five-inch layer, which is reduced somewhat in rolling, is followed by a two and a half inch coat of finer rock, from two and a quarter to three-quarter inches in diameter. It is subjected to a similar treatment, and the surface of the road is then dressed and all crevices filled by a fine coating of rock ranging in size from three-quarters of an inch in diameter to that of a pea. While the two last layers are being rolled, the road is kept constantly wet.

The expert stated that in this country for most roads he believed a nine foot macadamized road way, constructed in that manner, would be ample for traffic, the natural earth roadbed on both sides furnishing opportunity for the passage of teams.

Foreign Demand for Hood River Apples.

The following article appeared in the Portland Journal: Oregon Gravenstein, Kings and Wealthies have scored the latest victory of Pacific coast fruits in the markets of the world. Hood River has for the first time in history introduced the apples of those varieties, in crop proportion, into the English apple market and it is said the exclusive reign of the Oregon Spitzenberg and Newtown Pippin in the European market has been ended. While the Spitzenberg and Newtown will always occupy the center of the foreign stage, and get the highest prices, room will be provided for the Oregon Wealthy, King and Gravenstein.

Hood River men who appear to understand better than most people the art of marketing fruit, have carried into their apple business the proverb of "making one hand wash the other." They this year made up their minds to make the Spitzenbergs and Newtown sell some of the other excellent varieties of apples grown in Hood River orchards. Oscar Vanderbilt, owner of "Haulahland" fruit farm, led off the proposition to European buyers that while they were supplying the market with the Newtown and Spitzenberg varieties, they should look after the other apples that come earlier in the season and stand equally well the test of shipping to European destinations.

The proposition was favorably received and it has been agreed that "Haulahland," Wealthies, Kings and Gravensteins shall go to Europe this year. Two car loads have been contracted for and will be exported early in September. Two months later, after these consignments have been consumed, the regular varieties of Hood River apples will be taken over. Already there are three European buyers in the field at Hood River, and they have not yet been quoted prices by the fruitgrowers' union executive committee. It is proposed to wait until the crop is further developed, and then fix a sales day, when the buyers may come in and bid for the crop.

"The Hood River apple crop this year will be nearly double that of last year," said Mr. Vanderbilt, who was registered at the Portland hotel yesterday. "Last year there was a fair crop this year it is a big one. The prices are already nearing the figures received last year, so that there is a very good prospect that the grower will make a very nice profit from this year's apple crop."

Closed By Meat Exposure. The Louisville Packing company, said to be the largest plant owned by the Cudahy Packing company, of Chicago, was closed down indefinitely, says a Louisville, Ky. dispatch. The company was established in 1892, employed about 350 men and had an output of 10,000 sheep, 20,000 cattle and 30,000 hogs.

W. W. Mason, manager of the concern, received order to close down and gave a reason for the order: "Newspaper criticism and adverse legislation."

Death of Mrs. Hattie Tyler. Mrs. Hattie Tyler, wife of John Tyler, and daughter of Jos. Purser, died Tuesday, June 26, and was buried in Idlewild Thursday, June 28. The funeral was held at the Belmont M. E. church, Rev. H. C. Clark officiating. Mrs. Tyler was 19 years old and died of complicated cholera.

American Meat Barred on British Ships

London, July 17.—As a result of the refusal of one of the ships of the British attacking fleet to take on American tinned meats during the recent naval maneuvers, the admiralty directs that ships' companies be supplied with Australian or Argentine brands in lieu of American. The remainder of American tinned meats on the hand is being returned to the victualing yards and will be no longer a compulsory ration for the navy.

Winston Spencer Churchill, undersecretary of the colonies, in an official communication to William Redmond, nationalist member of parliament, says he is informed that special care is exercised by the New South Wales government that only absolutely healthy heaves are slaughtered for food and that every precaution is taken at the freezing and canning works to insure a cleanly method. Where any breach of the regulations regarding cleanliness is proved, license is immediately withdrawn. Persons slaughtering a diseased heave are liable to imprisonment for two years and the seller of diseased meat is liable to imprisonment for a longer term. Government inspectors report weekly. Twelve hour notice must be given of intention of slaughter, and where no such notice is given a penalty of $25 a head may be imposed.

Slugs Menace Cherries in Spokane.

Cherry and pear crops are seriously menaced by a worm, known as "slug," which has made its appearance in Spokane and is rapidly devouring the foliage of trees.

A. F. Crowell, fruit inspector for Spokane county, has made an investigation, establishing the seriousness of the new pest and prescribes that all trees so affected be sprayed with arsenate of lead, diluted in 40 parts of water.

The slugs, like the San Jose scale, seem to seek the fruit trees in the city, having not yet invaded the country orchards. While the slugs are not as dangerous as the scale, they have the capacity to ruin the cherry and pear for this and next season.

Gilmore officiated at the service, after which the wedding company were invited to refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Carson will reside at Vancouver.
