THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1906.

Girls are of few days and full of mischief, and whosoever is deceived by them is not wise, says a young man. When the fair girl chews her gum with much haste, and stampeth her pretty foot, then look out. She cometh forth in the evening with a low neck dress and short sleeves, but in the morning she lieth in bed while her mother husheth.—Exchange.

Freight Engines for O. R. & N.
 Ten new freight engines, of the balanced compound type, built by the Baldwin company of Philadelphia, will arrive at LaGrande soon for use on the mountain division of the O. R. & N. These engines will be of the most complete of any yet sent out. They will have square tanks, carry 200 pounds of steam, be equipped with the 12-inch New York air pump and New York valves, and will have Van derbilt fireboxes and battledores.

Motor Car Returns to Omaha.
 The gasoline motor car owned by the Harriman lines and which was brought to the coast for a trial early in the spring, passed through this city Saturday evening about six o'clock on its way to Omaha. The car, which somewhat resembles a battle ship minus the guns, having a pointed prow and rounded stern, has been in use lately on the suburban runs of the Southern Pacific near Portland. While some trouble has been experienced in operating it, its trial on the coast has been considered successful and it is said that it will be replaced by one of larger and heavier construction. For the transportation of passengers on branch roads and short runs it is the most economical power car that has ever been discovered and for this reason has attracted much attention from railroad men.

St. Martin's Springs in Bad Odor.
 So much complaint has been made lately about the manner in which the hot springs at St. Martin's are conducted that it seems likely that an organized effort will be made to have the government take the springs out of the hands of the Indian owners and turn it over to the people as a public benefaction. While much dissatisfaction has been reported by patrons of this well known resort near Carson in former years it is said to be worse this season than usual. A well known physician of Portland who has been spending some time there recently with his family says that the situation there has become intolerable and that several of his family are camped on the property owned by the St. Martin's, for which privileges they pay the Indians $2.50 a week. The campers are compelled to draw their own water from a well and do everything else about the property. Neither St. Martin nor his wife tries in any way to make things pleasant to assist the visitors in any way. As a result, everyone is utterly disgusted with the treatment he receives.

The two Indians are unconcerned and at times insulting. They no longer have a bus to meet the steamers. People who arrive there, instead of them in a weakened condition on account of ill health, are compelled to walk miles and then perhaps be refused admission to even camp in the vicinity of the hot springs. This causes much suffering, particularly among women and children. In several instances that I know of men have gone to St. Martin's with their families and when not allowed camping ground had to move on for miles before a suitable place could be found away from the land owned by the Indians.

Will Swim Against Anybody.
 John Leland Henderson issues the following challenge in the Oregonian:
 I have been a reader of The Oregonian for 36 years, and am much interested in the great newspaper, as I am in athletics generally, and particularly in swimming. I have been a member of the Columbia club for 10 years, and in my estimation, should be taught in all our public schools, where possible, as part of the common school course. I have taught school in Oregon, California and Washington for 10 years, and always endeavored to interest my pupils in swimming. I note that a Walter Abeck wishes to swim anyone in the city of Portland a swimming race. Now, I do not live in Portland, but at beautiful Hood River, on the Columbia, a locality noted for its red apples, red strawberries and beautiful women. Now, I will go Mr. Abeck one better. I am willing to swim Mr. Abeck or anyone else, no matter where he bath from, over any one of the following courses:

From The Dalles to Hood River, 22 miles.
 From Hood River to Cascade Locks, 22 miles.
 From Oregon City to the island first below Portland, about 20 miles, I believe.
 Across the Columbia river at Astoria.
 At any of the seaside resorts 10 miles out to sea, or return, according to the tide; I mean the resorts accessible by train or boat, near Portland.
 I will make this swim in the interest of the public baths for Portland youth, and let for a prize of pure, as my opponent wishes, friends of the sport to put up the prize; the swim to be made straight away without rest or any outside helps, with swimming trunks only. Now, as I am 55 years old, some of the young sports should be willing to get in against "the old man."
Prof. Lewis Likes "Better Fruit."
 Prof. C. L. Lewis, horticulturist at the State Agricultural college writes the publishers of "Better Fruit" a letter of congratulation in which he says "I am very much pleased with "Better Fruit." It gives one a feeling of business to simply look at it—good paper, excellent printed and well illustrated. It fills a gap in our horticultural literature. We need papers that are specialized more. I shall take great pleasure in recommending your paper wherever I go." The publishers of the new fruit paper feel very much pleased that their efforts are appreciated not only by growers, but by those who are in a position to pass judgment on horticultural literature.

CONTEST TOUR WILL SPAN CONTINENT

Phillips S. Bates, the well-known editor and publisher of "The Pacific Northwest," probably the best and most favorably known agricultural and horticultural publication devoted to the section from which it takes its name, was visitor at Hood River Tuesday. Mr. Bates is a man who does things. He has done much for the Pacific Northwest through his most excellent publication and will do more. "The Pacific Northwest" reaches every corner of the globe and has been the means of bringing investors to the northwest from the even taraway clime of China.

In his efforts to give wider publicity to the great opportunities awaiting capital and congested humanity in the east he has conceived the striking idea of taking 25 of Oregon's bright and attractive maidens on an advertising tour that will span the continent. In order that no part of the state may go unrepresented "The Pacific Northwest" has decided to select a young lady from each county in the state to make the tour. Each county will select candidates who will enter a contest in which the winner will be substituted by "The Pacific Northwest" and the young lady securing the highest number of subscriptions will be chosen to represent her county and will secure the coveted prize.

Being particularly anxious to secure a representative from Hood River, which Mr. Bates says is better known in the east than any town in the northwest outside of the cities of Portland, Seattle and Tacoma, he has been here for the purpose of selecting a candidate who will enter the contest and as he usually does, succeeded. The name of the young lady chosen to represent Hood River is Miss Stella Richardson. It is Mr. Bates' expectation that the Hood River Commercial club will liberally supply the young lady with literature and attractive advertising matter descriptive of the resources of Wasco county and Hood River and that also will, with their aid, make many conquests in behalf of her home town.

The party will leave Portland May 1st and will go east over the Canadian Pacific, a scenic route that it is said to be unsurpassed anywhere. At Port Arthur on Lake Superior, they will board the steamer for Buffalo, sailing through the great lakes to that city and there taking a special car for that wonder of wonders, Niagara Falls. Returning to the Hudson City they will go via the New York Central lines to Albany, N. Y., and thence down the Hudson river by boat traversing the stream that is called "The Rhine of America," and reaching the metropolis of the American continent, the great city of New York. From there by way of the Pennsylvania railroad the Pacific Northwest party will go to Philadelphia and Washington, and on to the president at the latter city and visit points of interest at every American citizen longs to see, including a ride down the Potomac river to the revered tomb and former home of the father of this country, Washington. Leaving Washington, the party will return home by way of Pittsburgh, America's workshop, Dayton, Chicago, St. Paul and other big cities of the middle western states.

Will Ask for Money to Complete Ditch.
 The directors of the Hood River Irrigation District have called a meeting for next Thursday afternoon at the Harrott school house, at which time the question will be considered of raising money to complete the ditch between Dead Point and Green Point.
 The directors find that it will be necessary to ask for more money to complete the ditch on a turnip plot of water. They have decided it is desirable to build a good ditch, and they have encountered more rock than it was at first estimated. They have also found it advisable to go deeper into the bank. The result is that they have a ditch so far that will stand for all time, and can be maintained at a minimum of expense. They could have built a cheaper ditch had they been figuring on the present only, but the work that has been done will be permanent.
 The work is progressing steadily, from 75 to 80 men being employed, and the pay roll amounts to about $7,000 a month. There will be more men enough to finish the ditch to Dead Point. The directors have cut off calling the meeting for the extra appropriation as long as possible, to be able to give the approximate cost of completion of the ditch.
 The ditch runs from Redden's to Fry Chute is about half completed. This is a lateral, and will serve that part of the district.
 In all about 6,400 acres are covered in the district, of which 3,500 can be irrigated. Water for this land is a necessity. Without it the land can be used for limited purposes, while with water its value will be increased many times. Some of the best land in the valley will be under the new ditch, but it must have water, make it profitable. The lateral of the Water Supply Co., which has been absorbed by the district, will be distributed over the other portions of the district, and will reach almost every ranch.

Lost Lake Road Being Built.
 Work was begun Monday morning on the extension of the wagon road to Lost Lake. D. I. Stone has gone into camp at the end of the road built by the forest rangers, which is four miles from the lake, and the first day completed nearly a mile of road. Most of the way the work will be comparatively easy, but there are some rough spots that will take considerable work to make them passable for wagons.
 The route will be the scenic route of the valley. It winds up on the ridge overlooking the mountains, and its highest point will be at about 4,500 feet elevation. It skirts Mount Mountain, going through heavy timber for over two miles, until it reaches the lake. The grades are easy, except for a few places, but when completed an ordinary load can be taken into the lake.
 The money that has been raised will not make a finished graded road, but will make it possible to drive through with a wagon, and a H. U. work each year will make it as good as the road beyond the old lumber camp toward Maple Dell. A fine level grade can be made up Laurel creek, but that is out of the question at present. By the first of September the road will be open that is now being worked.

Maybe Taft wouldn't take it either if he couldn't get it.

The Paris Fair
 THE HOME OF HIGH QUALITY AND LOW PRICES

Our buyer, M. E. McParty, left on the 7th on his regular Fall trip to New York to personally select our Fall and Winter stock. We find it very much more satisfactory, not only to ourselves but our customers to make these trips, as he goes directly to the manufacturers and the largest wholesale houses and selects what goods are best suited to the needs of this country. They give us a much better price by our buying on the ground with the cash, and we can there give our customers better value than it would be possible to do in any other way.

SYNOPSIS OF FISH AND GAME LAWS

The following which is a synopsis of the game and fish laws and their penalties will probably be of interest to the many who are engaged in fishing and hunting now or in the near future:
 Trout.—It is unlawful to hunt or kill any game animal, fish or birds protected by the law of this state without first procuring from the county clerk of one of the counties of this state a license therefor, which license the hunter must have with him and in his possession at the time of hunting.
 Residents, 21; non-residents of state, 30. No license required of a man or member of his own family for permission to hunt upon his own grounds, but he must have a license for any other grounds.
 Penalty of violation $25 to $100 with costs, or 5 to 30 days in jail or both.
OPEN SEASON FOR SMALL GAME.
 Quail and Pheasant.—August 15 to November 30. Limit 10 birds in one day.
 Gray Squirrel.—October 1 to December 31. It is unlawful to trap, set, ensnare, rob nests or poison and unlawful to sell game animals, birds and fowls.
 Penalties vary from above ranging from $100 to $5,000 or two months to two years in jail or both.

Fine Fishing Up the West Fork

A. B. Moh was the guest of D. McDaniel at Camp Overall the first of the week, and had a very pleasant time. The fishing in the West Fork and Lake branch is very good. There was very little fishing in that section last year, the fair at Portland preventing many from camping out during the summer, and as a result there is a better supply of fish than usual, and especially of big ones.
 Trout.—From 9 to 12 inches in length are quite common. The West Fork is still very rich, but the fish bite well. Lake branch is clear and full of fish. Camps are quite plenty in that neighborhood, several being at Mineral Springs, and a large party are now at Lost Lake. This section of the mountains cannot be surpassed as a place for an outing, and as soon as the road to Lost Lake is completed, it will become very popular.
 The Markley boys are busy packing campers into the lake, and are contented with fixing up quarters and beds for tourists.
 Stone and the Markleys have a ditch completed that irrigates their land, the water coming out of Laurel creek. The water is so cold that it has a temperature of only 40 degrees. The Markleys have a fine strawberry patch and a nice orchard set out and they are looking fine.

Pianos

Why buy them from agents or commission men and pay $75 to $100 more when you can buy direct from one firm in Hood River, where we have a branch store, which contains a large assortment of high grade instruments, including the great Apollo Interior Grand piano. This is the only instrument in the world which plays the entire key-board of the piano, and also the only one having the transposing scale by which the performer can play in any key and accompany the voice or any instrument. Pianos and organs sold on time or for cash. Second hand instruments taken in exchange and also several for sale. Pianos tuned and repaired.
