OREGON EXHIBIT AT JAMESTOWN

Hon. Henry Blackman, of Heppner, ex-state senator and prominent merchant of that city, was in Eugene on Thursday as a member of the Jamestown exposition of this state, working up an interest in an Oregon exhibit at the tri-annual exposition to take place in this old Virginia city. The commission of which he is a member is non-partisan, appointed by Governor Chamberlain and is as follows: Hon. Jefferson Meyers, of Salem; Tom Richardson, of Portland; D. H. Jackson, of Jackson county and Henry Blackman, of Morrow county. Mr. Blackman is a firm believer in the virtue of higher education and says the state does not make as high an appropriation as it should for maintenance and extension of our state university. He says with proper equipment we should have an institution attended by from 1,200 to 1,500 students and that under such conditions there would be no excuse for Oregon's young men and women going to California or the East to complete their essential training.

As to the Jamestown exposition Mr. Blackman declared that with 21,000,000 people living within a radius of 315 miles of Jamestown, Oregon could find no better place for exhibit of our resources as a means of interesting eastern people in our state. We gave them a foretaste of Oregon at the Lewis and Clark that stimulated great interest in Oregon's grand possibilities and we should follow that up by invading their territory with a creditable exhibit that will further open their eyes to what they are missing by not being permanent residents of Oregon.

The plan is to erect a modern building of our own where we can make a separate and distinct exhibit, thereby centering attention on Oregon instead of dividing it with other states in a general exhibit.

Oregon already has a fund of 800,000 turned back into the state treasury from the Lewis and Clark fair that will go a long way toward preparing for such an exhibit.

The general government has given the Jamestown exposition its unequalled endorsement by appropriating $1,700,000 to help in carrying the same to successful termination.

While the enterprise is sanctioned by the government through that national and moral aid, the states are rapidly falling into line with appropriations for state exhibits among which are the following and the amounts appropriated:

Other states not included in this list will ask their next legislatures to set aside funds aggregating one million dollars. Oregon must strike while the iron is hot. We must get a handle on while our people are on the high road to prosperity and the optimism of the day warrants us in reaching out through legitimate advertising such as the Jamestown exposition promises after added wealth and population.

We believe that so far as Leno is concerned a good liberal appropriation by the next legislature will meet with general approval.—Register.

Believes in Advertising.

Probably there has never been a man at the head of the passenger department of the Harriman lines in this state who was such a firm believer in the merits of advertising as William McMurray, general passenger agent for the affiliated lines. It will be his policy to extend the advertising department and bring this branch of the service up to its highest possible efficiency.

That the work may not be hampered by the lack of an adequate appropriation, Mr. McMurray made this question a special matter when in Chicago recently in attendance at the "family" meeting of heads of departments of the Harriman system. He was so urgent in his representations to the head of the traffic department that he was successful in obtaining authorization for an additional man in the advertising office.

The work of advertising the Harriman roads in the far West and the country which they serve is growing by leaps and bounds, and another man, to work under the direction of R. M. Hall, advertising agent, is badly needed. Tons of illustrated matter are sent out by the advertising office during the year, not only to every corner of the United States, but to all parts of the world as well. Inquiries are often received from distant parts of the world about Oregon. Yesterday a letter reached Mr. Hall from Australia in which the writer asked to be sent a Harriman publication descriptive of the Northwest. Some idea of the volume of advertising matter sent out by Mr. Hall may be gained from the fact that on one day last week a huge shipment of Harriman publications was mailed that cost the system $160 in postage.—Oregonian.

Have a National Reputation.

Hood River apples are famous all over the world, because of their beauty, their keeping qualities and their excellent flavor. Today they have markets in Continental Europe as well as in this country, and their merits are establishing their claims more firmly with every season. We see by a recent dispatch that an apple line of steamships has just been established between New York and import points in England. Vessels will leave New York fortnightly, each one with a capacity of 20,000 barrels. Last year the exports from New York amounted to about 2,411,473 barrels. We regard the Orient as an apple consuming market which will some day be of fully as great importance as Europe is today, and when the day arrives we expect to see an apple line of steamships from Portland to points in the far East, bearing output of the Oregon orchards.—Tradesman.

Mazamas Seal: Mt. Baker.

After almost unsurmountable difficulties six members of the Mazama party finally stood on the summit of Mount Baker after a perilous ascent. Starting at 5:30 a. m. from their temporary camp, they made the climb to the peak over the iron box had been deposited on the previous attempt. Making use of ropes, which had been placed over a crevice just before the party was forced to retreat in places through snow. They succeeded in getting around what had seemed impassable barriers and reached the top.

According to the special received by the Herald, a new fissure of considerable size was discovered and steam arose from hundreds of small craters near the crater. From many of these apertures boiling water is asserted to have bubbled forth.

Will Build to Bend.

Tacoma, Aug. 15.—Articles of incorporation were filed by J. C. Donnelly and Arvid Rydstrom for the Southern Extension Railway company to build a railroad from a point on the left bank of the Columbia river, near the mouth of the Deschutes river, through the valley of that river to a point near Madras, thence to Bend, Ore., with a branch line to Prineville, Ore. The capitalization is $1,250,000. Considerable speculation exists as to the parties behind the move. Donnelly is a well known hotel man here, and Rydstrom is a prominent contractor.
