THURSDAY, SEPT. 13, 1906.

A Michigan millionaire lumberman has died leaving 27 wills. The lawyers will no doubt erect a monument to him.

Last year this country imported $40,000,000 worth of diamonds. They ought to pretty nearly replace the ones that were stolen from actresses during the year.

The increase in postal receipts moves the New York World to remark that a nation's happiness and prosperity can be measured, by the letters it writes. But there isn't much happiness in the kind we get the first of every month.

A good solution of the question of cheap apples for poor people would be to buy some of the surplus stock in the east and ship it out west. No. 1 Ben Davis apples are selling for 50 cents a barrel, and common kinds are being left to rot on the ground.

Now that Emperor William and King Edward have kissed and made up, now that Senator Platt and Chairman Odell have fallen into each other's arms; now that leader Murphy and Editor Hearst speak as they pass by; now all would be sweetness and light, if President Roosevelt and Senator Tillman would drop the big stick and pitchfork and rub noses.

Mosier and The Dalles are now busy in the packing and shipping of prunes. There will be none dried this year, or very few, the bulk going out in five-pound baskets to the eastern markets. Last year's returns for this method of shipment were very satisfactory, and it is being followed up this year on a more extensive scale. R. H. Weber says that there will be about 25 cars from The Dalles and 15 from Mosier. The shipments from Hood River will be small, as there are but comparatively few in the valley.

An interesting experiment was tried in a small town of the East. A dollar was tagged and on the tag was the request to note to whom it was paid and for what. In a few hours it had passed through the hands of a greener, a butcher, a collector, a bookstore man, a hardware merchant and a preacher. In a few days it had paid over $100 worth of debts. The idea was to show that a dollar spent at home does good to many each day and that its actual monetary value is not its full measure of good in a community. Spent with a catalogue house, it leaves the home town and does no more good there.

Rinaldo M. Hall Resigns.
Rinaldo M. Hall, who for several years was advertising agent of the O. R. & N. company, and when the offices were consolidated with the Southern Pacific, his duties were extended over the latter's lines in Oregon, has resigned his position, taking effect the first of the present month. Mr. Hall is uncertain at present just what line of work he will take up.

Mr. Hall has set a high standard on the work of the office, his publications being the equal of any of like character among the big railroads of the country. His publications have been original, unique and effective as a means of advertising the resources of the wonderful country traversed by the Harriman system, and Hood River has never had cause to feel slighted in any of these publications. The demand for these books and folders has demonstrated their value, and the eagerness with which they are sought as soon as issued, is an added tribute to the high character of the work.

Mr. Hall has many friends among the newspaper profession who wish him every success in whatever line of work he may take up.

State Fair at Salem.
Fair Grounds, Salem, Or., Sept. 10.—The weather could not have been more ideal for the opening of the State Fair. No sooner were the gates thrown open at 7 o'clock than people began to flock in, and up to noon the crowd was estimated at about 6,000. The opening could not have been more auspicious, and indications are that the attendance throughout the week will be larger than expected.

Exhibits, which are better in every respect than ever before, are in place in every department, and a large force of men is engaged in putting the finishing touches on. Livestock, dairy, machinery and agricultural exhibits are all above the standard of excellence and scope, and are centers of attractions among the displays.

The greatest attraction at the fair is the racing programme, which is composed of two regular harness events and two running races each day, with one or two special running or harness races interspersed in. The best horses on the coast are entered in these events and some fast time is expected to be made, if not records broken, during the week.

The track is in excellent condition and horsemen pronounce it faster than ever before.

ADVERTISING

BY O. R. & N.

According to William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Harriman lines in Oregon the O. R. & N. company, the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific will reduce their rates to advertise Oregon in the East in the future. Notwithstanding the excellent advertising given this state by the Harriman system in the past, new features and new advertising departments will be added to all the railroad publications issued by the Harriman people on the Pacific coast.

Mr. McMurray today secured a number of hunting and range photographs from Major Lee Moorhouse, and in the forthcoming edition of the "Road of a thousand wonders," and the "Overland Route" to be issued by the Union and Southern Pacific roads, the hunting advantages of Oregon will be featured.

Thousands of eastern hunters come west every year in search of good hunting and heretofore this feature of Oregon has been neglected in all advertising. The Harriman people will now place this feature prominently before the east and photographs and views of hunting scenes will have a prominent place in all forthcoming publications.

A Major Moorhouse had a number of excellent mountain scenes which Mr. McMurray found suitable for the forthcoming books and these will appear with suitable reading matter in the advertising publications to be issued by the Harriman people in the near future.

In regard to the heavy travel over the Harriman lines, Mr. McMurray says it is unprecedented in the history of western railroading. Every effort is being made to add greater facilities for handling this travel. The Union Pacific is being practically double tracked from end to end and several millions are being spent in improvements and new equipment for the Harriman system.

Butcher Jews Like Rabbits.
Siedle, Sept. 10.—A Jewish massacre surpassing in seriousness all previous ones in this vicinity, took place here Saturday and Sunday. It was carefully planned beforehand, the soldiers warning all the Christian population in advance to hang out their ikons, in order that they might remain undisturbed.

Saturday night some Terrorists killed two soldiers, and thereupon the Lithuan Regiment broke forth in unrestrained fury. They began murdering Jews on every hand, and continued their work of slaughter all night Saturday and all day Sunday.

The ghastly work of murdering and pillaging continued until early this morning, when Governor-General Skalon telegraphed for permission to use the artillery. Four batteries then opened fire down Plonka, Warsaw and Aliens streets, which were inhabited by thousands of Jews. The destruction was horrible. As a result of the general slaughter, it is estimated that fully 2,500 Jews have been killed and 3,000 wounded. There are 3,000 prisoners in custody, a great many of whom are wounded. Not a soldier was killed.

Apples for the Orient.
Hood River apples are soon to become as famous in the Orient as they are now in New York and the European cities. The Eastern Importing company, which has branch offices in all of the large Asiatic ports and cities, has contracted with the Hood River Apple Growers' union to handle the product in the Orient. The company will control all of the apples that go to Asia and will systematically introduce them.

So the famous Spitzbergs and Newtons will very shortly be as easy to procure in Shanghai, Canton, Hongkong, Yokohama, Arthur, Calcutta, Bombay and other big cities as right here in Portland, except that there will be a difference in price. It is expected that the apples will be readily purchased by the tourists, foreign officials and the higher class of the Celestials. A Chinese or Japanese or an Indian enjoy a Hood River apple with as much relish as does an American or European.

It is thought that a large business can be worked up in the Orient and the brisk demand of the comparatively few and small shipments of apples received there justifies this belief. The Eastern Importing company is familiar with the territory, is in a position to advertise and augment the sale of the product, and for these reasons it received a contract from the Hood River Apple Growers' union, J. Hamilton Sawyer, the Portland representative of the company, has just corresponding with the Hood River fruit growers for some time.

A box of apples can be shipped to the Asiatic ports for about 27 cents, while to send a box to New York and London costs 50 cents and 75 cents respectively. The apples will be shipped in specially made boxes, lined with paper. Every apple will be wrapped. This will be done to insure complete preservation. Experiments will be conducted by the Eastern Importing company to ascertain what variety is best fitted to withstand the climatic changes.

Hood River apples are not eaten all the way from the north pole to the south pole, but they come very near it. New markets are constantly being opened. They are now shipped as far north as Alaska, as far south as Mexico, and they go east to Europe.—Oregonian.

SOIL TO BRING HEAT AND POWER

THE STEEL SQUARE.

Many of the Invention of the Tool Used by Carpenters.

The large steel squares used by carpenters are such common tools that few know when and where they were first made and how they came to be used or even give the matter a thought. The making of them is a great industry now, but when the last century came in there was not one in use.

The inventor was a poor Vermont blacksmith, Silas Howes, who lived in South Shafsbury. One dull, rainy day a peddler of tinware called at his shop and late, and the blacksmith fasten a shoe on his horse. Such peddlers traveled up and down the country, calling at every farmhouse, buying everything in the way of barter. This one had a number of worn-out steel saws that he had picked up in various places. Howes bargained for them, showing the peddler's horse and receiving the saws in payment, and such thought he had an excellent trade.

His idea was to polish and weld two saws together at right angles and thus make a rule or measure superior to anything then in use. After a few attempts he succeeded in making a square, marked it off into inches and fractions of inches and found that it answered every purpose that he intended it for.

In the course of a few weeks he made quite a number during his spare hours. These he sent out by the peddlers, who found every carpenter eager to buy one. Soon he found orders coming in faster than he could supply the demand. One of his steel "squares" would sell for $5 or $6, which was five times as much as it cost him.

He applied for and obtained a patent on his invention so that no one else could deprive him of the profit it gave him. It was just after the war of 1812, and money was scarce and difficult to get, but he worked early and late, and as he earned money he bought iron and hired men to help him. In a few years he was able to erect a large factory and put in machinery for the making of squares, which by this time had found their way all over the country and had made their inventor famous.

Such was the small beginning of a large and important industry. People came miles to see the wonderful forges, the showers of sparks flying from beneath the heavy hammers, and listen to the din of the thousand workmen. Silas Howes lived to be a millionaire, and he did a great deal of good with his money.—Congressionalist.
