The Store that is Always

THE UP-TO-DATE STORE

We never Misrepresent. Our Word is Dependable

Style=TO EVERY YOUNG MAN STYLISH CLOTHING IS NOT A MATTER OF CHOICE; BUT NECESSITY. TO NEGLECT STYLE IS TO INVITE CRITICISM FOR CARELESSNESS OR IGNORANCE OF WHAT IS CORRECT.

When we speak of a stylishly dressed young man, we refer to one whose clothes look neat, proper and right; have the appearance of taste, refinement and grace

No Clothing Can Look Right Unless it is Made Right

No clothing can be made right unless it has style. It is the careful selections of woolens and linings and the skillful cutting, sewing and adjusting that is the basis of all superior clothing, and particularly of the kind we sell. Stylish clothes cost no more than inferior. If you get good clothes you must pay a fair price. The more you pay the better your clothes, and if you buy the leading makes which we have selected and offer. You get style without paying for it; you pay for the goodness that makes style

Married at White Salmon.
A quiet family wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E.
Rankin, at White Salmon, at 9:30 Wednesday morning, when their daughter Christie was united in the bonds of matrimony to L. C. McLean, of Goldendale. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few friends and the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and the bride and groom afterward came to this city where they took the train for Portland for a short wedding trip.
The bride was formerly in the millinery business at Goldendale and the groom is well known throughout Klickitat county having for a number of years been employed as head clerk in the large mercantile establishment of Sam Waters at Goldendale. In connection with Mr. Waters the groom will soon open a store at the new town of Roosevelt opposite Arilington on the North Bank railroad.
Ferry Snow Has An Accident.
Last Saturday Dean & Pearson loaded six dump cars, a team and wagon at Bingen for the North Bank contractors, by transfer them down the river, leaving a shipment to bring over to Hood River, they came across the river with the whole load.
When half way over they discovered a bad leak in the snow, and made haste to get to shore. Just as they landed the horses were driven off, when the end of the snow sank, letting the dump cars slide off in sixteen feet of water.
It appears that the high wind of a few days before retarded the snow on some sharp rocks at the shore, making a hole large enough to take in considerable water. They did not discover it until half way over with the load. A team and cable, with great haste were taken to the scene, but the ropes were not strong enough, and a stump pulled had to be taken to the spot where the cars could be pulled out. It was lucky that the boat was as near shore as it was, or a more accidentous time would have resulted.

elry house in Minneapolis, called on far and wide by his fruits.

The dining car conductor on the Northern Pacific said they were always glad to get Hood River strawberries, as they would keep during the obtained from the St. Paul end of the route would not last more than a day or two going west.

Portland Behind the Times
For the first time during County Clerk Fields' incumbency of office, a marriage license was issued today on an affidavit and mailed to the parties for whom it is intended, and Deputy Prosecutors and Rose are wondering if this action marks the beginning of a mail order business in the issuance of permits to wed. In this connection the following letter, received today seems to be significant:
"Hood River, Ore., Sept. 17.—County Clerk, Multnomah county.—Dear Sir: Inclosed herewith I send application for a marriage license. Please issue the same and mail it to A. C. Buck, Hood River. Would consider it a favor if you would kindly send me blank affidavit for next one. Respectfully,
"A. C. Buck, Notary Public."
The marriage license requested was for Leo E. Ulrich, of Hood River, and Maud L. Gee. The affidavit, made by J. F. Reynolds, states that Ulrich is past 25 years of age and that Miss Gee is over 21, and that she has been a resident of Multnomah county for the past six months. The proceeding was something unusual, but there was nothing essentially irregular about it, so the license was mailed to Hood River, where it is supposed the parties will be united.—Telegram.
Inquiry at the office of Mr. Buck developed the fact that there is nothing unusual in securing a marriage license by mail. He says that he has frequently procured them from The Dalles and other county seats and that the custom instead of being new is decidedly ancient and thinks that Portland had better wake up.
Of the parties applying for the marriage license Mr. Ulrich is employed by the Elpha Orchard company near Mount Hood and the young lady, who is a niece of Mrs. Gee, who formerly lived at Hood River, resides in Portland where she will be married at the residence of her parents in that city.
