

HOOD RIVER GLACIER

THURSDAY, SEPT. 20, 1906.

While there is life there is hope and also muscle. A little of the latter exerted judiciously on the city's streets by Hood River residents in spare moments will aid very much in cleaning up the town for the fruit fair.

From New York to Hood River is a far cry, but R. P. Loomis delivered a message in the metropolis of the new world that has reverberated all the way and reached Hood River with a distinctness that convinces.

The East Oregonian has adopted a modified form of a new code of spelling amid a shower of journalistic brickbats. The privilege of using phonetic or any other kind of spelling is certainly within the East Oregonian's rights, but some of its abruptness is so startling that at first it makes about the same impression as a dog wearing a tail or a rooster with a rear plume is conspicuous by its absence.

The industrial edition of the La Grande Evening Observer comes to us this week. It is filled with most excellent pictures and interesting matter descriptive of the resources and industries of the Grand Ronde valley and La Grande and is a worthy exponent of that beautiful valley and enterprising city. We can not have too many copies like the industrial one of the Evening Observer.

Addison Optimist Bennett, rightful successor to Josh Billings and Artemus Ward, rolled into one, founder and sole owner of Rabbitville, sage, orator and editor, is lifting his melodious voice and wielding his versatile pen for the glory of Wasco county, which is well. Having, however, presumably exhausted all other topics, he is now engaged through the columns of his excellent paper in telling us how to grow apples. While awarding the palm to Mr. Bennett as a delineator of the doings in the city drug store and of the idiosyncrasies of Sal Butterbottom, when it comes to growing apples we fall back on the overworked phrase of the gentleman from Missouri, and remark that he will have to show us.

The Hesperian Gazette remarks that the Pendleton Tribune calls attention to the unusual lack of talk about the election of a United States senator at the next meeting of the legislature, and adds that there is no necessity of talking about a matter that has been already settled by the votes of the people last June. While this is no doubt the intent of the aforesaid people and is as it should be, we have a sneaking idea that the Hesperian Gazette will discover, like Horatio, that there are more things in this world than its philosophy ever dreamt of and that when the opportune time arrives candidates for the senatorial toga will unobtrusively step forth and announce themselves on the plea of special "fitness" for the office or other impalpable reasons which are ever at hand for the political sophist.

Has the Oregon Editorial association grown so insignificant and its deliberations so unimportant that the Portland newspapers feel called upon to ignore it, or if they are what is commonly known as "sore" what is the reason and method of their madness? We are aware that the Oregonian is said to be engaged in the most troublesome effort to keep the population of Portland down and that the Journal is occupied in seeking to boost it up, but even so, a few lines might have been spared to the knights of the pen from the backwoods by the Oregonian. But, "twas ever thus," etc. Oh jealousy, thou art truly a green-eyed monster to allow the country editor to retire to his obscurity without mention for another year.

New Law Regulating Passes.
J. C. Stubbs, employed by the rail road lines west of Chicago, to analyze the new law regulating the issuing of passes and of granting reduced rates, has recently made a report of his interpretation of the law. He has apparently found what he is instructed to find and has discovered those things which he ought not to have discovered, and not discovered those things which he ought to have discovered and there is no health in him.

While he thinks the law specifies that it is distinctly legal to transport large bodies of government troops at reduced rates of fare, he is just as sure that it is perfectly proper that homeseekers, who usually have not any more of this world's goods than they need, ought to pay full fare. The wandering Theophrastus must heretofore also disagree the proceeds of his 10, 20 and 30 cent performance or skip 20 miles from tie to tie, in his peregrinations, while employees of the United States geological survey and reclamation service, nuns, sisters of charity, missionaries, national or state officers of religious organizations, teachers and pupils in Indian schools, officers of the Salvation Army and Volunteers of America can recline on the red plush cushions of the railroad company's seats free of charge. Members of unions not employed by the railroad are likewise barred according to Mr. Stubbs, while persons engaged in charitable and missionary work are not exempted.

For straining at gnats and swallowing camels either the law or Mr. Stubbs have broken all previous efforts. If it is the law it reflects the

ANNUAL MEETING OF STATE IRRIGATIONISTS

The fourth annual meeting of the Oregon Irrigation association will be held at Hood River in connection with the Hood River Valley Fruit Fair, October 11th and 12th, 1906, and all who are interested in furthering the irrigation movement which at this time means so much to the development of the state, are invited to be present and participate in the work of this organization.

The appointment of delegates will be as follows: All state officials, including members of the legislative assembly, senators and members of congress, including members of congress-elect and senators nominated, the mayors of all cities, the presidents of the university, state agricultural college and state normal schools, shall be considered ex-officio members of the association and delegates shall be appointed as follows: Fifteen by the governor of the state, ten by the mayor of the city of Portland, five by the mayor of each other city in the state, five by the county judge of each county and five by each chamber of commerce, board of trade or other commercial body or regularly organized irrigation, agricultural, horticultural or engineering society within the state.

It is respectfully urged that in the appointment of delegates, persons shall be selected who are sincerely interested in the subject and who are likely to attend the convention, and that appointments shall be made as early as possible.

The appointing powers will please have the full name and post office address of their appointees mailed to the secretary at his office in the Chamber of Commerce building, Portland, immediately upon appointment being made. Information of every character relative to this meeting will be furnished by such officers.

Dated this 19th day of September, 1906.
Stephen A. Lowell, President.
A. King Wilson, Secretary.

Intercepting a Life Saver
By way of sympathizing with a fellow laborer who, being a victim of misplaced barley corn, had been placed in the "cooler" this morning, a man asked the privilege of calling on him. This was granted, but the resister took the precaution to "happen in" and caught the visitor in the act of handing out a bottle of "fire water," by way of counterbalancing the effect of the "cooler." The official called a hotel and invited the philanthropist to cut his call short.—Chronicle.

Another Bear Bites the Dust.
Percy B. Laraway, Chas. Wells and Jake Lents went bear hunting near Mount Hood Monday and as it seems impossible for any one to go into the woods these days without running across a bear, they soon located one and Laraway took his first shot at brain and brought him to book. The animal was a good sized one and Laraway is being congratulated by his friends for escaping an attack of "bunk fever" on his first attempt at "big game shooting."

Will Furnish Weather Reports.
The United States Weather Bureau, with headquarters at Portland, has arranged with the co-operation of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company to furnish the farmer subscribers of the company daily weather forecasts covering a period from 5 p. m. of the day on which the forecast is issued to 5 p. m. of the following day. The Pacific States company is transmitting the forecasts free of charge over lines from Portland at all sections of the country and farmer subscribers may have the benefit of the weather forecasts by calling their central office at any time during the day after 8 o'clock and requesting the information.

NEW PASS LAW HITS HOMESEEKER HARD

A Chicago special to the Oregonian on September 24 says: J. C. Stubbs, chairman of the executive committee of the railroad carriers west of Chicago to study the doubtful points in the new rate law and to secure the advice of counsel regarding them, has completed the preparation of the committee report on passenger matters, and it will be formally submitted at a meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger association on Wednesday. The report says: "Free transportation cannot be given to land or immigration agents unless they are employees in such sense that the carriers legally could give them transportation. "There is no authority in law for making low rates to landseekers and settlers than for other travelers. This interpretation seems to abolish the homeseekers' excursions, which all Western lines have been running for years."

The law committee advises that transportation agents be issued in lieu of advertising. It is generally accepted, however, that carriers carry an open account with publishers and that publishers may carry an open account with the carriers for advertising, and that these accounts can be balanced periodically. The balance, whatever it may be, must be paid in cash. The transaction must be devoid of previous agreement that the service done by either party is to be paid for in any other way than by cash.

Special reduced rates may be made for federal and state troops and officers and employees of the United States geological survey, and reclamation service in the future as in the past.

The words of the law excluding "officers of hospitals and charitable and eleemosynary institutions and persons engaged in charitable and missionary work" from the free pass law prohibition are held not to apply to doctors, nurses, and other employees. Nuns, sisters of charity, missionaries, national or state officers of religious organizations, teachers and pupils in Indian schools, officers of the Salvation Army and Volunteers of America, it is held, may be given free transportation.

Special rates for theatrical companies, baseball clubs, etc., are held to be discriminatory. "They should be taken cognizance of under the party rate rules," says the report.

Special rates for army and naval officers and their families, which are held unlawful for the same reason.

Regarding the interchange of transportation by common carriers for the use of officers and employees and their families, the committee decides such interchange may be made with sleeping, express and steamship companies, but not with telegraph and telephone companies. It is held that free transportation may not be issued to members of railroad employees' unions, who are not in the employ of railroad company.

Notice

Is hereby given that I did on the 20th day of September, 1906, in the city of Hood River, take up one cow, white, with red neck, crop of right ear, upper lip in left ear, branded J, on right hip, and that I will, on the 30th day of September, 1906, at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m. of said day, in front of my office in the city of Hood River, Oregon, sell said property at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand.

W. GANGER, City Marshal

Notice

Of the Board of Directors of the Hood River Irrigation District, in Wasco County, Oregon, will sell the bonds of said district in the sum of $2000, on Thursday, the 20th day of October, at the office of the Board of Directors, at the residence of J. H. Shoemaker, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., at which time the Board will receive bids for said bonds. The principal and interest on said bonds shall be payable in United States gold coin in ten years as follows, to-wit: At the expiration of ten years, five per cent; fourteen years, eight per cent; sixteen years, ten per cent; seventeen years, eleven per cent; eighteen years, thirteen per cent; nineteen years, fifteen per cent; twenty years, sixteen per cent; and twenty-one years, interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first day of January and July of each year. The principal and interest shall be payable at the place designated in the bonds, and bidders are given the option of having said bonds payable at Portland, Oregon, or New York City, N. Y., and said bonds will be issued in accordance with the election of the successful bidder. Said bonds shall be each of the denomination of not less than $200.00 and not more than $500.00, and shall be negotiable in form, and coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond as provided by the statutory law. Dated at Hood River, Oregon, this 17th day of September, 1906.

Secretary

Are You Being Poisoned?

If your liver is working right you probably are not. When the liver is overworked, as is frequently the case, it indicates that the poison, headache, dizzy spells, continuous languor, etc., indicate that the poisonous matter which should be carried off is slowly tainting the blood. If not remedied at once this condition will cause serious trouble.

CLARKE'S PIL CASCARA COMPOUND

provides just what is needed to quicken the liver into natural, healthy action. If you take these pills when needed all danger of this slow poisoning is avoided. Positive cure for constipation.
