CITY WILL HAVE NEW FIRE TRUCK

PROVIDES BETTER PROTECTION

New Company Will Be Placed on the Hill—Other Business of Importance Considered.

At the meeting of the common council Monday evening Hood River's governing body practically decided to purchase additional fire apparatus for the town and appointed a committee with power to act in the matter. It has long been considered a question of the most vital importance to the city that better fire protection be provided and the decision of the councilmen is being heartily endorsed by taxpayers. The intention is to purchase a hook and ladder truck with chemical attachment that will be both serviceable, light and can be moved quickly when needed.

The meeting was called to order with Mayor Blowers in the chair and Messrs. Watt, Blancher, Moe, Morse and Recorder Nickelsen present. The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mayor Blowers then stated that after some consideration he had come to the conclusion that the amount of $2,500 voted by council at the last meeting from other funds to the road fund had perhaps been extravagant and that he had so far only signed warrants to the amount of $1,500. He found upon investiagtion that so much money taken from the general fund might perhaps make it necessary for the city to borrow money for incontingent expenses before it commenced to receive any new revenue. He thought the streets ought to be repaired, but thought also that the proposition to purchase additional fire apparatus should be acted upon and wanted to know what council thought about the matter.

Mr. Morse asked the mayor what the present condition of the city's finances were and he directed the recorder to read the report of the city treasurer, which is as follows: Amount in general fund, $2,085.15; in sewer fund, $88.63; in road fund, $1,133.48; water fund, $7.24. Warrants are outstanding against the sewer fund to the amount of $5,300 and there is still several payments to be paid in addition to this.

"After the reading of the report Mr. Morse said that the streets ought to be fixed up and he thought the matter of new fire apparatus could be taken care of as well.

Mr. Moe said that in his opinion what the city needed most at present was to have its streets repaired in some way permanently. That while there were no doubt a good many things the city needed such as fire apparatus and more light, he thought the most imperative need was to have the streets at least repaired before the bad weather set in so that they would at least be passable. He did not think $1,500 was enough money with which to do it and do it right, which was the main thing, as the town was getting to where the streets must be permanently improved.

Councilman Watt said he was very much in favor of having the streets attended to. That they were gradually getting worse and worse and that the time had come for the city to make permanent improvements upon its thoroughfares and that whatever work was done should be executed with that idea in mind.

Mr. Blancher was also very decided in his opinion on this point and called the attention of the mayor and council to the many bad places in the city's streets that if they were not repaired would be in such a condition by spring that they would be impassable.

Mr. Morse also said that if possible the streets should be prepaired at once as another rain would make the roads leading to the boat landing and the O. R. & N freight house in such bad condition that they could be reached with difficulty.

Marshal Gauger, who was present, addressed the council and said that it was impossible to get men to work on the streets at present as there was such a demand for labor that there were no men idle. He said he did not think it advisable to attempt to make any permanent street improvements this fall. That if the streets were plowed up they would become mud holes and remain that way all winter. To make a permanent improvement with gravel or crushed rock would cost, he thought, much more than council had to spend at this time.

City Engineer Henderson called council's attention to the dangerous condition of the road leading to the boat landing at the east side of the the river where the new railroad bridge is being constructed and said that it should be seen to that the railroad company make it safe and leave the road in as good condition as they found it when the bridge is finished. The marshal and street committee was instructed to look after the matter.

The special committee appointed to inquire into the total cost of the sewer and the amount of money needed to finish paying for it, reported that it had consulted Mr. Henderson on the matter, as he had all the data at hand to furnish the information and Mr. Henderson, who was present was asked to state what it would cost to to make the inquiry. He couldn't tell exactly but would do it as cheaply and probably better than it could be done elsewhere on account of the facilities which he possessed. The motion to have it done was carried.

The ordinance raising the marshal's salary to $60 per month was brought up and passed the first reading.

The committee appointed in regard to securing gravel for use on the city streets reported several locations where it could be obtained at various prices, but Engineer Henderson said the city owned a street which was practically of no use to it, being located where it ran off into Indian creek and that he thought all the gravel necessary, could be obtained there. Mr. Henderson was asked to act with the street committee in investigating the matter, and a report will be made at the next meeting.

Mayor Blowers called the attention of council to the fact that W. E. Sheets, chief of the fire department, was present and wanted to address it in regard to obtaining a new fire truck and he was given the attention of that body. Mr. Sheets made a strong plea for added fire protection, saying that the engine in use in the downtown part of the city was too heavy to be of much use without horses which were not always available, particularly at night. He said by placing the heavy machine on the hill and procuring a lighter one for the business section the whole city would then be protected as the heavy machine could be very easily brought down off the hill, while it was almost impossible to take it up. He stated that the hill section being almost level it could be used to advantage up there as well, and the lighter apparatus could be taken up too if necessary. He is in favor of a hook and ladder truck with two ten gallon chemical tanks also and which has ladders long enough to reach to the top of any building at present in the city. The city now had no ladders for use in case of fire and it was something that should be provided, as sooner or later there would be a serious need of them and an adequate apparatus should be provided for protecting the city against serious loss. Judge Henderson augmented Mr. Sheets' talk for added fire protection and on motion of Mr. Morse a resolution was carried referring the matter to the committee on fire and water with power to act.

The finance committe audited a number of bills and the council adjourned.

Thinks He Has Located Mathias Pocket

John Thompson, a prospector, who has just returned from the country back of Mount Adams, where he was induced to go by the story in the Journal that gold had been found there this summer by two young men who were taking their summer vacations at Trout Lake, says that he has located some of the richest specimens of gold, copper and lead ore that ever came out of the state of Washington and that the country there is full of prospectors who are making similar finds. The specimmens he says will be placed on exhibition at Vancouver.

Thompson thinks he has located the place where Nathan Mathias of The Dalles, or Swartz, as he was known in Portland, was at work and where he got the gold that made him rich and that it is about three days' journey from Trout Lake. He says about 40 miles northeast of Mount Adams, in the nighborhood of a body of water known as Salt lake, he found an excavation 14 feet deep and 6 feet wide that had been made by mining tools and that he discovered it by accident while prospecting for other parties. Rock taken from it he states showed unmistakable evidence of gold but as he was working on a salary he decided to let the location of his find remain unknown until he could return and work it for himself. He will not give any information that would lead to its discovery and says that he expects to return there in a few days and investigate thoroughly. Thompson says that the country in the vicinity of Salt lake is overrun with gold seekers and that they are all finding specimens of valuable minerals, some of which are so rich that they have paid the expenses of the finders for making the trip.

A party of six left White Salmon today for the vicinity of the gold excitement and other expeditions will leave for there during the coming week.—Journal.

Where Is Frank Savage.

For some weeks past, in fact for a month, his friends have been interested as to the whereabouts of Frank Savage, who was given a vacation from his duties at the W. W. M. Co.'s mill about six weeks ago, and with the exception of one instance, has not been heard from since. He left with the intention of going to Collins to remain a week at least, but, it is understood, was there but a day. Where he went from there is not known, but he was afterward seen by a Dalles lady at Long Beach. She, however, had no conversation with him and therefore can give no light on the subject of his disappearance.

Savage had been accustomed to write to his grandmother, who lives in the valley, every week and over a week ago she wrote to the warehouse company to inquire about him, which proves that he was not with his people at that time.

The question is, what could have become of him? Being a young man of excellent character, with no bad habits, and having nothing to cause him to disappear without acquainting his friends, makes the case more mysterious, though to a few of his friends he dropped a word or two which led them to think he had some intention of remaining away, but why, is the question. Some have suggested that he has been shanghaied, but that theory does not seem to be adhered to.

When he left he is known to have had $23 in his pocket. He has a bank account which has not been touched and besides has money coming to him on salary. If he had any intention of not coming back, he made no arrangements which would indicate it.

Aside from the mystery connected with his disappearance, anxiety is felt because of the high esteem in which his employers and friends hold him.

No information has been received from his people as to whether they are making special effort to locate him.—Chronicle.

On October 25th a meeting of the Fruit Growers' association will be held at Beavertown; at Reedville on the 25th; Hillsboro, the 26th, and at Forest Grove on the 27th.

An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which, acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bussard, Brubaker., Ill. This remedy for sale by Kier & Cass.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN REAL ESTATE

HOOD RIVER RANCHES IN DEMAND

Investors Make Purchases for Reinvestment and Also for Further Development.

Sales of real estate at Hood River during the last few days aggregate in the neighborhood of $65,000 and more property has changed hands lately at big prices than at any time in the history of the valley's development. Both strangers and old residents are buying land set to trees, partly improved and unimproved and there seems to be a general scramble to get Hood River's renowned apple land at present prices. Real estate men are kept busy showing prospective buyers over the valley and each train sees several new prospectors in search of apple orchards or land alight here looking for information.

The largest sale reported is that of the firm of J. H. Heilbronner & Co., who sold the ranch of Simeon Copple near Odell to Cooper & Walther, of The Dalles for $20,000. The property consists of 80 acres with an orchard that will crop in the neighborhood of $1,700 worth of apples this year and a young orchard that will be in bearing in a short time. The other land is in hay and grain and the buildings on the place are excellent. Mr. Copple has reserved the right to the apples on the place this year. It is said to be Mr. Walther's intention to remove his family to his new possession and take up his residence there.

The Albee-Benham company have purchased the ranch of Frank Chandler near Belmont, consisting of 70 acres, 60 of which is set to apples and three to prunes and the balance unimproved, and it is said that they will cut it up into small tracts and re-dispose of it. The Albee-Benham company is in the real estate business in Portland and expect to handle the property from there. R. H. Albee, of the above firm also bought the 42-acre ranch of G. R. Castner, part of which is in apples, a small tract in strawberries, three acres in hay, three in pasture and the rest unimproved, for which he paid $15,000. It is understood that Mr. Albee has bought as an investment. Both of these sales arranged through J. Adrian Epping the well known singer and director of an academy of music, who but recently bought a ranch in the valley himself.

Jas. Hunter, Saturday, made public the sale of ten acres of his ranch to A. Howard for $3,800. Part of the purchase is set to trees and the rest cleared. S. Johnson, whose property adjoined the Earrett school house, sold 14 acres to Conrad Franz, of Tacoma, last week, for which he is said to have recieved a good price.

Other sales which have been made in various pars of the valley will foot up a total of from $7,000 to $10,000 and activity in the realestate world is looked for for several weeks.

It has been reported that O. L. Small Boy Grows Big Patatoes.

Just think of an 11-year-old boy growing 216 pounds of potatoes from 15 pounds of seed, says the Evening Telegram.

That's what Robert Knieriem, of Latoure Falls, has done the past summer, without assistance from anybody. He prepared the soil, planted the seed, cultivated the plants and recently gathered his harvest.

Samples of his potatoes are the envy of every boy who has entered exhibits in the potato growing contest to be decided in the city hall today. He placed 12 potatoes on exhibition. Six were the largest to be found in his patch. They averaged eight inches in length and three inches in thickness and weighed on an average of 1¾ pounds apiece. The other six potatoes were what he thought would be the best sellers in the market. They were about half the size of the largest ones.

Frank Seidl, a little 12-year-old German boy of Troutdale, exhibited the next largest potatoes. Several of his weighed as much as those of Robert Knieriem, but they did not average quite so large. It was said by his school teacher that he was a poor boy and worked very hard in his garden. The results from his labors showed that he must have applied himself diligently.

Woman Timber Cruiser.

The only woman timber cruiser we have ever heard of is operating in Crook county up Ochoco. She is Mrs. Mary Vanderpool, of this city, and can locate a section corner with unerring precision. Mrs. Vanderpool is working in conjunction with Uncle Jimmy Elliott, and is invaluable when the prospective claimant is of her own sex.—Prineville Review.
