"Better Fruit" comes to us this month better and larger than ever with most interesting articles, well written and finely illustrated on methods of packing. The subject is a timely one and will no doubt prove of great value to fruit growers and others engaged in the marketing of apples.

In the town of Hood River asleep? Here comes a dispatch from Medford stating that an order for Spitzberg apples has just been booked there at $1.50 per box. And Hood River has been bragging about getting $3.25 for her Spitzbergs. If our Hood River friends are not careful we will cut them off from Wasco county and let them flock by themselves.—Optimist.

No the town of Hood River is not asleep, but the editor of the Optimist evidently is or he has not perused the local papers since the above was first printed.

The Prineville Review says that H. G. Van Dusen, state fish commissioner, who is contemplating the establishment of a salmon hatchery on the John Day, is authority for the statement that farmers may take salmon from that stream for their personal use only. They may salt them down for winter consumption but they may not sell them without securing a retailer's license. The commissioner's ruling is in direct conflict with the state trout law, as the "salmon" that run up both the Dechutes and John Day are really steelhead trout and come under the laws governing the taking of trout.

If a man from Hood River is seen about this time he will assure you that the coming fruit fair at that place is to be the best ever held. To those who have seen the previous fairs it appears to be a hard job to make a finer display of apples. But when the Hood River folks say the fair this year is to be better than ever before they mean what they say and will do their level best to make their promise good. That is a point on which the Hood River community differs from some others. It is not the only community in existence which blows its own horn with vigor, but there are some communities which are strong on blowing but weak in performance. Hood River is strong in blowing and performing and is therefore a winner.—Rural Northwest.

Maybe, John D.
 Hon. John D. Olwell, at the head of a phalanx of Medford fruit growers, will bear down on the fruit exhibit to be held by the State Horticultural society in Portland next January and endeavor to wrest some of Hood River's glory from it. In an interview in the Medford Mail Mr. Olwell says:

"About that exhibit matter. In January the State Horticultural society holds its annual fruit fair in Portland. Jackson county has never made an exhibit there and other sections of the state have had it all their own way. I propose that this year the fruit growers of Rogue River valley enter the competition and see if they can't carry away a few of the gold medals, ribbons, etc., the Hood River fellows have been decorating themselves with for the past several years. This, of course, should not be done, because we have the stuff to do it. Every grower who has some extra fine apples, pears or other fruit of whatever variety should save a box or more for exhibition purposes. This fruit should not be packed as for market, but should be carefully wrapped in paper and there should be only a few put in a box packed in excelsior or something similar to prevent bruising. In this way the fruit will be kept in fine condition and will make a good showing. If the growers will just get together we can easily arrange for the gathering of an exhibit that will make every fruit growing section in Oregon dig up their best stuff to best us.

While we know that Rogue River grows some very fine fruit and are pleased to know that the fruit of Oregon is being improved wherever grown, we await the conflict with considerable sangninity. Hood River is at least keeping pace with other districts and has grown a few apples this year that we think will pass muster.

Bad Fire at Prineville.
 A disastrous fire which occurred at Prineville early yesterday morning destroyed $3,000 worth of property and for a time threatened to devastate the town as a high wind was blowing.

The Methodist church was among the first buildings to take fire and the structure was completely destroyed, the loss being estimated at $3,000, with $1,000 insurance.
 Corbett's stage barn was also destroyed, the loss being about $2,000, but the insurance is unknown.
 Mr. Hyde's residence, one of the best in that portion of the city, was gutted at a loss of between $1,500 and $2,000, insurance, $800.
 Mrs. Solomon's residence, the Methodist parsonage and also the residence of Aleck Zevinsky, were damaged. In both of the former cases the damage was covered by insurance.
 The entire population turned out and while all were willing to assist in fighting the fire, the low pressure of the water made their efforts futile. Excitement was intense, but fortunately no one was injured.

FAIR BUILDING TO SOON BE READY

The frame of the building for the fruit fair exhibition is erected and workmen are busy enclosing it today. The structure is 40x150 feet with the main entrance on First street. The plans which were made by P. M. Hall-Lewis provide for two aisles, one on each side of the building with an arrangement for box exhibits above, and a rail for plate exhibits below.
 Other arrangements for the fair are progressing nicely and everything indicates that it will be a most successful and interesting affair. Chas. T. Early, chairman of the committee on transportation, reports that all railroad and boat lines throughout Oregon have agreed to make a rate of fare and a third from any point in the state which will give those from East and Southern Oregon the same advantages as those nearer home. The Mount Hood railroad will participate in the low rate, giving residents along it the opportunity of coming to the exhibition without being encumbered with vehicles and horses.
 Preparations are being made to entertain delegates to the meeting of the Irrigation association and visitors to the fair, by many families, as the hotel accommodations will not be sufficient to take care of them all. Entertainments and amusements of other kinds will be given during the exhibition and trips will be arranged to the valley and other points of interest.

A feature of the fair will be an exhibit of paw-paws, brought from Indiana by S. E. Bartmes, who has also sent for a bushel of seed which will be planted at Hood River and which may reach here in time for the exhibit.
 An offer for the entire exhibit of apples at higher than the quoted prices has been made by a buyer who does not care to give his name, but will give those who exhibit an opportunity to sell their display at an advanced profit.
 The premium list, which we publish below, was very carefully gotten up and gives exhibitors a great variety to select from in displaying fruit and most anything else that they think will be of interest to the fair. While it is conceded that the display of fruit is expected to be the best that has ever been made at Hood River, if you have anything to exhibit you are asked not to be too modest but place it in the list. The premiums are as follows:

SWEETSTAKES.
 Best five boxes apples (different varieties); commercial pack, Newtowns and Spitzbergs must be two of the varieties. First prize, cup; second prize, cup.

SWEETSTAKE PLATES.
 Best plate exhibit of apples, cup.

BOX EXHIBITS.

For the packer putting up the best commercial pack, five boxes 128s and larger, each box to be different size apples, all apples to be wrapped except top layer of each box, must be one box of Spitzbergs and one box of Newtowns, cup, by E. H. Shepard.
 All boxes exhibited for prizes must be commercial pack, boxes lined, layer paper between layers and on bottom. All apples must be wrapped except top layer which must be unwrapped.
 The following will be the score cards adopted by the judges on apples:
 Sweetstake box exhibit—Pack, 20 points; size, 15 points; color, 20 points; uniformity, 20 points; freedom from blemish, 20 points.
 Single variety box exhibit—Pack, 20 points; size, 20 points; color, 20 points; uniformity, 20 points; freedom from blemish, 20 points.
 Plate exhibits—Size, 20 points; color, 20 points; uniformity, 20 points; quality, 20 points; freedom from blemish, 20 points.
 Ten special prizes will be given for the best ten varieties of apples not mentioned in above list, exhibited in boxes, one for each variety. Growers can exhibit any variety in this competition.

Fair Notes.
 Exhibits should be brought in on Wednesday the 10th. The secretary and superintendent will be in attendance to see that they are properly entered and placed.
 An entertainment will be given in the Opera House under the direction of Adrian J. Epping, principal of the Academy of Music and Oratory, of Portland, on Friday and Saturday evening. Some of the best artists in Portland are promised for it and the proceeds will go to the fair treasury.
 Our hotels will be utterly inadequate to house our visitors, and citizens should throw open their homes to accommodate them, as they did when the State Grand Army encampment met here.
 The fair will open at 1.30 p. m. Thursday the 11th, and at the same time the state irrigation association will be called to order in the Opera House.
 Tom Richardson, manager of the Portland Commercial club, writes that he will be here with a delegation from that body—and Tom never does anything by halves.
