The House of Reliability, Quality and Satisfaction

BE HIS FRIEND.

The Wife Who is Her Husband's

Comrade Has Little to Fear.

Marriage isn't a set of rules. It is a condition of life made by the characters of the two people who enter into it. There are homes that seem of a deadly dullness, fit to drive any man abroad. There are women whose daily conversation consists of nothing but complaint about servants and housekeeping and nerves and the press of engagements and disappointing dressmakers, complaints of lack of money or complaints of the strain of shopping with it. There are women who are too absorbed in their children to consider the children's fathers, women who have no knowledge of their husbands' business lives beyond the fact that those husbands forget the commissions given them in the morning and are too tired in the evening to want to go out anywhere, a scathing fact which somehow militates against a man. And there are women, a larger class perhaps than all of these, good, unselfish, loving, who lack disastrously in some the quality of humor, of appreciation, of friendliness.

The wife who is her husband's comrade has little to fear. It is one of the greatest factors in keeping him always here, that of being friends with him, in being truly interested in all he does and plans and wishes for and having the comrade sense of humor that can always laugh at his jokes and make merry by the way instead of taking account of everything with terrible seriousness. If you can smile openly with him at his fancy for another and even tease him a little about it, the fancy isn't likely ever to amount to very much. What is forbidden is, we know, always more tempting. Many and many a situation has been saved because a wife was so true a friend to her husband that she persistently refused to regard it seriously.—Mary Stewart Cutting in Harper's Bazar.

ODD WORK STAND.

It is Made of a Cheese Box Mounted on Three Legs.

Every woman who has to do sewing should have a sewing table or stand of some kind, and no woman who has learned the advantage of order in sewing appliances will be without one. A very interesting and really artistic one is the work stand shown in the illustration. It is nothing more or less than a cheese box set on three legs, with the lid turned upside down for a tray. The box and rests are painted in dark green, with enamel finish. Crayone in a gay, bright colored pattern is used for a lining, the under tray being fitted up with a series of pockets.

Such a stand is really very dainty and attractive in appearance, but naturally is more suitable for a bedroom or sitting room than for a more formal apartment.—Philadelphia North American.

Tact and Good Cheer.

The restorative power of good cheer is far greater than medicine, and mental depression is the true physician's worst enemy. It is the bane of a sick room and the shackles upon recovery. In fact, the mental attitude is responable for more than all other causes put together. If a nurse cannot control her feelings or the exterior manifestations of them her usefulness is turned into uselessness, and anything useless in a sickroom is positively harmful. The best has an important part to play in the sickroom as a remedy for irritability. Don't tell long stories, don't talk about some other person's trials and don't think up miserable possibilities. The keynote to successful nursing is order, observation and obedience; these qualities joined with tact—the want of which is the bane of nearly every sin which a nurse may commit—make for the ideal sickroom attendant.

Dressing in White.

Frau Liebreich, a wealthy resident of Munich, is convinced that girls who wear white dresses get married sooner than girls who wear all sorts of colors. Accordingly she has organized a "league of white women" among her friends, the members of which undertake to wear pure white for all important and ceremonial functions. In her address to the first members of the guild, some twenty fair maids of Munich, Frau Liebreich is reported to have said: "I loved my husband before he loved me, and he returned my affection only when he saw me accidentally in a white dressing gown. White is a symbol of pure love and thus appeals to the better half of the male creation. The plainest girl dressed in white will conquer hearts more rapidly than a beauty who stoops to the meretricious attractions of a hundred hues."

BEAUTY SPOTS.

The hair needs to be washed only once in two or three weeks. Too frequent bathing exhausts the nutrient elements of the glands.

Don't polish the nails too highly. They should have only a natural gloss. Don't cut the nails in points, but carefully arch.

By resting for half an hour in a dark room and placing over the eyes a bit of old linen which has been saturated with rose water the eyes will be rested and will brighten considerably.

Thin arms should be washed twice a day with a fine lather of soap, rinsed well, dried thoroughly and then rubbed vigorously. This treatment will bring the pores into action and induce a healthy condition of the skin.

Keep a fresh lemon with a hole cut in one end on the washstand. Every time your fingers are stained turn them around in the lemon and the stains will disappear and the skin around the nails will be softened and pressed back.

A Three Cornered Tear.

A three cornered tear is a nasty thing to mend neatly. If it comes where there is no strain or wear whatever it may be best darned by simply sewing the edges together with a plain "in and out" or adapted "herringbone" stitch. If the tear is near a seam and there is some wear on the part put a square patch on the outside, baste it neatly on, putting one side into the seam, stitch it on with the sewing machine close to the edge and cut away the goods underneath, leaving just enough to overcast. This will be a less obnoxious patch than the old fashioned one run underneath with the worn or torn goods hemmed down on the outside.

Beverages for Children.

It is advisable not to give children tea or coffee until they are ten years old, as even the slight stimulant of weak tea is unwise. Water and milk are the drinks proper to childhood, and these may be given freely. Most children have milk at 11 o'clock in the morning, and this is a wise plan to follow, as the hours between breakfast and dinner are too long for the active little body to be without some kind of sustenance.

A Bad Combination.

Sends—You say he lost his money? Bares—No. You see, he lost his health getting wealthy, and then lost his health trying to get healthy.

OLD LINTY WASH CLOTHS.

Should Not Be Used in Houses Where There is Plumbing.

Few things clog a waste pipe so readily as lint. Old scrub cloths and wash cloths are apt to shed lint and thread. These, going down the waste pipes with refuse water, are apt to cling and twist around the joints. They attach to themselves all small particles that but for them would pass through to the sewer, thus in time clogging up the pipe. Well worn linty scrubbing cloths should not be used in a house where there is plumbing. Dishcloths also, as soon as they become linty, should be destroyed. Washcloths are apt to become either wholly or partially stopped up where there is much lint from the articles washed in them. Because the refuse pipe of the sink is large tea leaves and coffee grounds are often disposed of by emptying them down it. There are a great many cases where no harm ever results from this practice, but it is better not to do it. In a household where the sink became stopped recently the plumber, when they took the pipes to pieces, found the trouble due entirely to the gradual accumulation of coffee and tea grounds. Before the repairs were completed the plumber's bill amounted to a considerable sum.

Grease from dishwasher is also apt to accumulate in time and harden in the pipes. After pouring greasy water or anything that has grease particles in it down the sink pour boiling water and salisoda after it. Cold water carelessly thrown down helps to harden the grease that has gone before it.—New York Tribune.

BUYING A CLOCK.

Select One That Will Harmonize With Its Surroundings.

When you've a clock to buy choose it with an eye to its playing a part, no matter how small that part may be, in the furnishing of the particular room it is for.

Crystal clocks in one form or another come to suit almost every sort of room—stunning circular ones, with their tiny faces paved with colored enamels in mosaic patterns, for parlor or drawing room; plain as a pipstems kinds, with a world of dignity in their very plainness, for library or music room, and dainty little forms for bedroom or boudoir.

For sitting rooms the colonial clocks—mahogany cases, left almost plain to show off the beauty of the wood—are particularly good.

Attractive bronze clocks and pretty ones of china, usually Dresden, and a thousand and one others more elaborate in style, indulging profusely, some of them, even in ornament, may seem to suit the particular corner. Only be sure that the one you pick does suit it so well that it is hard to imagine any other clock in its place.

A well chosen clock is as great a relief and pleasure to the eye as a vase or a bit of bric-a-brac.—Exchange.

A Restful Book.

"Yes, I picked up his book last night, and I never budged out of my chair until 4 o'clock this morning."

"Goodness! Was it that interesting?"

"No, but I didn't wake up until that time."—Philadelphia Press.

True Helplessness.

I want it to be said of me by those who know me best that I have always plucked a thistle and plucked a daisy in its place where any other would grow.—Abraham Lincoln.

IRRIGATED FRUIT LANDS

Buy Irrigated Fruit Lands at our new town of Attala, Washington, located in the Columbia River Valley in the western part of Walla Walla County, Washington, opposite the mouth of the Snake River, and at the junction of the Northern Pacific, the Washington & Columbia River and the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co. Railways, and also at the head of navigation on the Columbia River.

This is one of the richest agricultural districts in the United States, and the soil is generally of the best in any of the irrigated fruit and vegetable lands which ripen earlier than in any other part of the state.

Owing to the superior drainage advantages, it is possible to market produce as late as 7 o'clock p.m. and have shipments arrive in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Spokane and intermediate points in the morning, traveling in the cool of the night, which means the largest income in the Northwest is received from these lands; it being possible to CLEAR FROM $500 TO $700 PER ACRE PER ANNUM.

Fortunes are being made every year from irrigated lands. There are no crop failures, and prices are always high. These lands, with perpetual water rights, can be secured by making a small payment in cash, and the balance on favorable terms.

An Investment of this Kind Beats Life Insurance

The amount of money paid as premiums invested in irrigated lands will soon furnish a splendid income for the purchaser while he lives, and support for his family after him.
