

Royal Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

DISTINCTIVELY A CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

Royal does not contain an atom of phosphatic acid (which is the product of bones digested in sulphuric acid) or of alum (which is one-third sulphuric acid) substances adopted for other baking powders because of their cheapness.

MT. HOOD RAILROAD MAKES IMPROVEMENT

Work that is being done by a large force of men on the Mount Hood line will soon have the line in fine shape and permit of good time being made over the line. Gangs have been working from both ends of the road have done much to improve on the first and hurried construction of the road and when they are through it will be in good shape.

A great deal of lumber and other freight is being hauled over the road and the passenger business is increasing also. In addition to the station at Hood River three other stations have recently been completed. They are at Van Horn, Odell and Winans and combine a waiting room for passengers with a compartment for freight also. At Van Horn the Davidson Fruit company has erected a substantial and commodious warehouse for shipping apples and another has just been completed at Odell. Sitracks have been laid alongside of them and it is evident that apples will probably be both packed and shipped almost directly from the orchards in the near future. In fact several carloads were shipped over the Mount Hood line to their destination this year. Several sidings have been laid at other points on the road for the accommodation of patrons, and platforms have been built at all the stations on the line.

The big mill, one side of which is in operation in cutting many thousands of feet of lumber, but its fullest output is not possible owing to the scarcity of men. Electric power is being found most successful and is employed in every part of the mill except in operating the "bigger" where it could not very well be used owing to the jarring and jolting nature of the machine.

A conveyor for carrying off the refuse from the mill has been erected and is about 500 feet long taking the stuff far enough away from the big building so there is little or no danger of its taking fire from the burning pile of refuse.

A glance into the power house shows how smooth its machinery runs as the foundation for it is so substantial that there is no vibration from it. Loading platforms, piled up lumber and cars being switched back and forth give the lumber town an air of bustle and business. The new store and offices of the Oregon Lumber company are fast being put in shape. The company has moved its stock of goods from its store at Hood River and will soon have them in condition for a speedy transaction of business. The offices will adjoin the store and as soon as they are completed the general office of the lumber company will be at Dee. A sidetrack extending from the main line to the store building makes it possible to unload freight direct from the cars.

A good many small houses, and many tents are in evidence and with the building of a school house the town having been made a school district, and the establishment of apost-office Dee will have become a full fledged town in something less than a year.

Buffalo Bill's Plans.

A special from Cody, Wyo., to the Cheyenne Tribune, says of the plans of "Buffalo Bill":

Col. W. F. Cody has arrived a his home in this city from his long tour of Europe and is being royally welcomed by his many friends here.

This veteran frontiersman says he cannot express his delight at his return to his native land and while his recent continental tour was the most successful in the history of his wild west show, he is glad to have the smell of sagebrush once more in his nostrils.

Cody brings back with him many gifts from royalty and says that the recent trip of his show was a wonderful one, thousands of people being turned away at many performances. He has created somewhat of a sensation by announcing that instead of another year's tour in the United States he has planned a long four years' tour which will include every state in America. After this tour, he says he will retire.

Colonel Cody does not look a day older than when he left America for his European tour, and in speaking of his age, said: "I expect to live 25 years yet."

Runaway Boys Numerous.

Runaway boys seem to be numerous about these parts, Marshal Sexton having one in his care at present, whom he is holding until officers in Portland come to take him back to his home.

Yesterday Sexton and Constable Harper saw a boy in company with two holes on First street and suspiciously that something was wrong, got him to one side and questioned him. He gave his name as Alexander Grant and said he was traveling with the men, one of whom was his half brother. Interviewing the men, one of them said his name was Moots and that he was a cousin of the boy. Sexton told him he could not deceive him, that he felt positive the boy was

The Kind of Boys That Pay.

Somebody has figured out that the average boy who is dependent upon his parents for a livelihood until he is 21 years of age costs them in the neighborhood of $4,000, says an exchange. On this basis of calculation a brood, for instance, of six boys would represent an outlay of $24,000 by the time they get away from the home roof. The question arises, does it pay to raise boys and are there no other crops that would prove more profitable? If a boy turns out to be a cigarette fiend with a breath like a turkey buzzard and a laugh that would make the untutored donkey feel perfectly at home in his society, and with an untrammelled and unconquered desire to avoid work, it is safe to say that his parents might have invested their $4,000 at a much better advantage. But if the boy grows up to manhood with the lesson well learned that wealth and success grow only on bushes watered by the sweat of one's brow, the parents need not begrudge whatever they have spent on him, for he will be a source of increasing pride and joy to their hearts, and when they grow old and their hands tremble and their legs wobble and their steps are slow and faltering, they have two strong arms to lean upon and to help them over all rough places that lie in their twilight.—Cotton Globe.

Kills Many Bears.

Allan Yocum has a fine goat ranch southwest of Sheridan, and bears like goat meat, often coming for miles around with evil intent. Mr. Yocum is a good bear hunter and trapper, and the bears he has killed would make a big pile. In the last two years he kept count, and has forty notches on his stick, representing 40 dead bears since November 1904, when President Roosevelt was elected. What a picnic it would be for Teddy.—McMinnville Reporter.

An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bussard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy for sale by Kier & Cass.

Your Health

Is your best asset. Proper health is most essential to your happiness and welfare. Pure air is an absolute necessity, and no effort should be spared to keep it so in every house.

Where open-flame illuminants rob the air of oxygen and turn it into carbonic acid gas, pure air is an impossibility. Air poisoned by the flame of a gas jet, or that of an oil lamp is unfit for breathing purposes and exercises a decidedly injurious effect upon the occupant of the room.

Electric Light burning in an air-tight bulb leaves the air of the room pure and fresh, and furnishes a better, brighter and safer light than any other medium.

We furnish the current and a phone message or postal from you will bring our representative.
