RESULT OF THE CITY ELECTION

TWO NEW FACES IN CITY CIRCLE

The Old Board, With Substitutions Made for Withdrawals, Is Re-Elected.

The Successful Ticket.

Mayor—Laurence N. Blowers.
Councilmen—E. S. Mayes, J. L. Hershner and A. D. Moe.
Recorder—J. R. Nickelsen.
Treasurer—Truman Butler.

The entire ticket was elected Tuesday by substantial majorities in the contested offices, there being no opposition for the offices of recorder and treasurer.

The holdover councilmen are Blanchar, Morse and Watt.

The Vote.

For Mayor—
Laurence N. Blowers, 189.
George T. Prather, 57.
For Councilmen—
E. S. Mayes, 185.
A. D. Moe, 132.
J. L. Hershner, 196.
J. Otten, 42.
C. H. Stranahan, 71.
J. M. Wood, 101.
For Recorder—
J. R. Nickelsen, 210.
For Treasurer—
Truman Butler, 219.

The result is a vote of confidence by the peope in the present administration, and insures a continuance of the present policy.

The election was one of the quietest in years. There were no public meetings or speeches in favor of either ticket or any of the candidates, but considerable work was done in a quiet way. It was a sort of still hunt for the contested places.

The filing of the petition nominating the entire old board, from the head of the ticket down, was followed by the nomination at a mass meeting of an opposition ticket. The subsequent withdrawing of Mayor Blowers in favor of his son, the failure of Mr. Bailey to accept the nomination, and the filing of an independent candidate for councilman in the person of J. M. Wood, made a mixup not contemplated by either side before election. The old board, or Citizens Ticket, having a vacancy in their number of candidates for councilmen, supported Mr. Hershner. Mr Mayes also received the solid support of the prohibitionists, who settled on a combination of endorsing Blowers for mayor, and Hershner, Mayes and Wood for councilmen. This practically ensured the election of Hershner and Mayes, and left the choice of the third councilman to be elected from the other four.

The principal issue of the election was the endorsement or rejection of the present adminstration. Moe, as a member of the old council, was the point of attack from the antis, and it was apparent election day that the prohibitionists were combining on Wood, and against Moe. The election of Wood would give them a good representation on the council, with the possibilitiy of closing the saloons through a prohibitive license next July.

The question of municipal ownership, however, was the strongest issue. While none of the candidates had declared against municipal ownership of city water, the voters in favor of it were not sufficiently informed as to their intentions to take chances. In some cases this overshadowed even strong prohibition sentiment. There was found, also, to a almost universal sentiment against giving away valuable franchises.

The entire new council are in favor of municipal ownership of city water.

L. N. Blowers, for mayor, made a remarkable gain over his opponent, and leaves no doubt as to the choice of the majority.

Wants to Go In the New County.

Editor Glacier.—I understand Wasco county is expected to soon be divided, also that Mosier is left out of the new county. I own 40 acres of land a few miles from Mosier, in township 2 N., range 11 E, Willmette mer, and prefer to be in the county with Hood River for the same reason Mr. Axel N. Rahm gives for dividing the county. While visiting that locality this fall, I was much taken with the people and town of Hood River. The products of Mosier are of the same class as Hood River and is only six miles away, while it is fourteen miles from The Dalles.

I will be very much disappointed if Mosier is left out of the new county which will have the "push." Mosier is going to amount to something some day and you will be proud of us.

I hope to go on my farm in the spring and want to have my interest towards Hood River district.

Does the Mosier people prefer The Dalles to Hood River? If not, now is the time to say so.

E. Atwood Rainous.

OBITUARY.

Underwood, Wash., Dec. 3, 1906.

Editor Glacier—I wish to correct a few errors, which I believe, was caused by our Underwood correspondent as I am sure that this correspondent did not have any information regarding the statement made.

Ellen Chenowith Underwood was 68 years old at the time of her death. She was the last of four children, there having been two girls and two boys. One son died at an early age, while the second son successed his father and took the duty as chief, and the name of Chenowith, the name handed down for generations, as in those days none but the descendants of a chief could take his name, position and dignity. This family must keep up the royal blood. They should marry none but the high cast. The eldest living son should succeed the father.

The son, Chenowith, died in 1899. His mother, who lived a widow, died two months before him. A sister, the eldest of the family, died in Underwood about 12 years ago, leaving her sister, Ellen, and an aunt, wife of John Slibiada, but finally the aunt passed away and since then the husband, Slibiada, that good, peaceable old friend to all.

Ellen was her father's favorite child. She was reared and waited on by servants and her advice was recognized by the family during the early days, when so much trouble and misunderstanding existed between the natives and the whites. She was her young brother's constant companion and advisor.

By her first marriage to Lieutenant W. K Lear, she had one daughter, Isabel, who is the wife of Edward Underwood. By her second marriage there were three children, Jeff, Mary and John. Mother dearly loved her children and one of her last wishes were that she should rest beside her two boys. Her request was granted, when a grave was dug wide enough to hold two caskets. Now they all rest side by side in happy reunion.

In early childhood she was converted to the Catholic faith, when the missionaries and Jesuits made her father's house a place of prayer. She had great faith in the Shaker religion and it was the Shaker Christians who prayed with her during her last illness, and who watched over the remains and conducted them to the last resting place, and the ceremony most impressive, spoken in the language of the deceased.

Beside her own children those living are a nephew, Joseph Thomas, a niece, Margaret Chenowith Brown, a cousin, John Sionita, and one second cousin, Peter Corbett, a grandson of her uncle, Colotchen. There are quite a number of relatives who feel the loss of mother most keenly, for she was a mother to them all.

Ellen never cared to talk about the sad loss of her father, and at times when she was induced to give an account of the event it deeply affected her. The same was noted in grandmother, and in fact every member of the family. They bitterly opposed the Klickitat and Yakimas for causing trouble which was the cause of the head of the Cascade tribe being executed, with his favorite servant and five cousin and nephews, and a nephew of his wife, while his family watched the execution. His son was held prisoner. This was the wild, barborous act and work of our good United States government system, which reigned in the Pacific coast in the 50s.

The Chenowith family never forgot the treatment they received at the hands of the whites, whom they had always befriended and gave shelter, and always felt bitterly toward those who caused trouble. They never forgave the Yakimas, who caused their loss of father and home, yes, for they lost their home and about all they had. The soldiers or Klickitats set fire to the houses and robbed them of all valuables, as the little band of Cascades, were placed on Government Island and held prisoners, where they sat and watched their homes go up in smoke, and they with only what they wore, and each holding some little keepsake or valuable only.

Long Tennessee Fight.

For twenty years W. L. Rawls, of Bells, Tenn., fought nasal catarrh. He writes: "The swelling and soreness inside my nose was fearful, till I began applying Bucklen's Arnica Salve to the sore surface; this caused the soreness and swelling to disappear, never to return." Best Salve in existence. 25c at Chas. N. Clarke, Druggist.

Running on New Schedule.

The change of time in the O. R. & N. trains went into effect Sunday. One morning train now leaves Hood River two hours later No. 5 now leaving at 6:30, while No. 3 leaves at 5:25, about as before. The local leaves for Portland in the afternoon at 3:15, instead of 3:40, while No. 1 does not leave until 4:55 p. m. Going east, No. 8 leaves at 10:43 a. m., No. 2 at 11:43 a. m., practically the same as the old schedule. In the evening No. 4 arrives an hour later, at 9:40 p. m., while No. 6 arrives at 10:43 as before. The exceedingly heavy travel over the road, combined with the usual difficulties of winter weather in the mountains farther east, make the change advisable, and there will be more regularity of trains keeping to the schedule.

PETITION CIRCULATORS REPORT

The Sentiment in the Valley Is Strongly in Favor of County Division.

A meeting was called at the Commercial club rooms Saturday afternoon for the circulators of the petitions for county division to meet and report. The majority of them reported, and the results of their canvas was very gratifying. Some reported that they had not met with a single refusal to sign, and some of those who returned petitons had met with more than a few refusals.

The sentiment is growing very strongly in favor of county division, and many supporters are found among those who opposed the measure before. There can be no question that the new county will be a benefit to those who will live in it, for many reasons, and but few of the doubters who have taken the trouble to investigate the matter, are still opposed to the division.

The opposition to the measure has only appeared in isolated quarters, and in having such a small following that but little attention is being paid to it. The arguments against division are falling so far short of those in favor of it, that the opposition is gradually going over to the popular side, and signing the petitions for County division.

Another meeting of the petition circulators will be held at the club rooms Saturday afternoon, and it is hoped that every one who has a petition out will be present and report.

W. C. T. U. Business Meeting.

The W. C. T. U. held a business meeting in Mrs. Knapp's work room on Tuesday afternoon. Considerable business of importance was transacted.

A vote of thanks was voted the Congregational church for the use of their lecture room as a place to hold regular meetings during the past year. Recently business sessions have been held with Mrs. Knapp to avoid the necessity of providing fuel.

A special meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. O. W. Rigby, 322 Oak street, Tuesday evening, December 8. Short program, refreshments and general sociability promises to make the evening most delightful. The subject, "Narcotic," is of vital interest. How many young men destroy their usefulness and their prospects by the use of narcotic cigarettes, themselves and perhaps their parents ignorant of their baneful effects and the position of the commercial world on this subject.

An Enjoyable Affair.

The first of a series of entertainments to be given by the Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church for the young people of that church, was held at the spacious home of Mrs. George P. Crowell last Friday evening. The rooms were beautifully arranged, cut flowers were in evidence, and strains of beautiful music, classic and popular, were brought forth from the elegant Weber pianola by the hostess.

Mrs. Louise Goddard rendered very much to entertaining by giving some of her choice readings and monologues. Miss Will Shackelford gave a brilliant and well executed selection on the piano and Miss Leith Hershner sang "If Dreams Come True," both of which were very much enjoyed.

The company were favored by the presence of the Rev. Mr. Gilmore, who always succeeds in making the hours pass pleasantly, and after a delicious repast of pleasure the guests departed with many expressions of pleasure for an enjoyable and profitable evening.
