THE OLD BOARD IS RE-ELECTED

HASSALO CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

Held at the Club Rooms Monday Evening Results In Unanimous Election of Present Board.

The adjourned unual meeting of the Commercial club was held at the club rooms Monday evening, with a small thendance President Davidson was in the chair, and stated the object of the meeting and the election of seven trustees to serve for one year.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's and secretary's reports for the year were read, secept-ed and placed on file A committee consisting of Brock, Watt and Heilbrenner was appointed to audit the reports and report.

P. S. Davidson moved that the present board of trustees be nominated and unanimously elected, which was carried with no opposition.

The matter was discussed as to the advisability of putting some of the country members on the board, but as the business of the trustees is to transact routine business matters, it was thought that the country mem-bers would find it inconvenient to attend. Any important questions that arise are brought before a general meeting of the club called for that purpose, to which a general notice is given to all members, and thus in all important matters, each member has a voice in the proceedings.

The matter of a banquet was discussed, and all agreed that the succussed, cess of the banquet a year ago warranted the club in making it an aunual event, so it was decided to have the second annual banquet as near the date of the first one as would be found convenient, and the arrangements were left to the board.

Mr. Jayne stated that he considered the word "Hassalo" a detriment to the name of the club, inasmuch as it was generally spoken of as the Hood River Commercial club, and that the name Hassalo signified nothing as to the purposes of the club. He thought the name could be changed without very much trouble and volunteered his services to that end. It was voted that Mr. Jayne be appointed a committee of one to make the desired change in a legal way.

President Davidson being called away at this time, Leslie Butler was called to the chair. Mr. Watt favored the securing of larger quarters, if it could be done, by making arrangements to occupy Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of the spring. Commercial clubs have become a nec-Commercial clubs have become a necessity and a permanent organization of every live city in these strenuous times, and the largely increased membership of this body the past year shows confidence among our own people of the good that can be accomplished. It affords a most convenient organization to act promptly in taking up public matters of vital interest to the community. In presenting petitions to national, or state legislative bodies, or to railroad or other powerful commercial corporations, it gives such petitions weight that cannot easily be ignored. The social features of this organization have been neglected owing to narrow quarters, insufficient furnishings of the club rooms, and a minori-

The country members have responded more willingly in keeping up their dues than is generally the case in most cities, as they have little opportunity to attend meetings or take part in the discussion of business brought before the club. But our progressive farmers realize the general benefits of the organization and are willing to help bear the expense.

POSTAGE BILL IS $50 A WEEK

Oregon Development League Carrying On An Effective Advertising Campaign.

Fifty dollars per week in postage gives some idea of the enormous joint correspondence of the Oregon Development League and Portland Commercial club.

cent that of the Lewis and Clark exposition period.

The above refers only to the correspondence conducted by Tom Richardson, and for several weeks past each and every one of the sixty-two commercial bodies throughout Oregon which compose the Oregon Development League have been furnished with the names and addresses of enquirers sufficient to keep a well equipped office busy in disseminating information about the different portions of the state. tions of the state.

an unqualified success, resulting in much good as a social feature, and of the speakers of the evening. If this banquet were an annual affair, it would do much to promote good fellowship and awaken renewed interest in the club and its objects.

The dues collected have been sufficient to pay all current expenses and leave a substantial balance in the treasury, and there are but a few delinquent members on the books. It is to be hoped that every member will have bourne his share of the burden and be in good standing by the end of the year.

Respectively submitted, inajority, and fortunately for Western Oregon, especially, it seems to be generally understood that in this particular section the dairyman has green pasture the year around.

Cost of living expenses is asked in many letters, cilmatic conditions form the chief note of others. There are those who want to engage in bee keeping, others who wish to raise poultry. Angora goats, cattle and sheep all receive their share of attention. Fruit growing is of course, a subject of special prominence in many letters, but remarkable as it may appear, while a majority of the letters come from wheat growing districts, very few, if any of the writers, ask regarding this important cereal.

comes a resident of this state.

It is during the winter months that the farmers of the entire Mississippi valley, and especially the section represented in the states mentioned above, do their greatest amount of reading, and they ought to be given a chance to learn all about this state. The foundation of an active campaign by any commercial body is first of all to determine [who shall be written to for best results. This question is answered amply by the lists furnished by the Oregon Development League. Never was so splendid and economical an opportunity presented before for every community to advance its interests.

North Bank Railroad Matters. North Bank Railroad Matters.

Oil burning locomotives will be used exclusively on the new North Bank road, acording to information that comes from Tacoma. The principal storage tanks will be located at Vancouver. The first shipment of oil will be made within 10 months, by which time the Northern Pacific expects the new road will be ready for operation. It is stated that the company has placed orders for 15 passenger and freight locomotives for use on the North Bank road, all of which will be oil burners. Orders have also been placed for nearly 1,000 freight been placed for nearly 1,000 freight cars of all kinds and 150 passenger coacher and sleeping cars.
