How to Become Rich.

In order to become rich it is necessary merely to follow the perfectly simple procedure of any king of finance. Thus:

All day Friday and Saturday a large several miles in the vicinity of the river, but nothing came of it. As is usual, many rumors came in of seeing something that looked like a clue, but after being followed they developed nothing.

The only thing picked up was a lead with the money buy another large The only thing picked up was alead pencil and near by a stone with a few drops of blood on it, which was though: to indicate that the man had passed that way. The pencil was said by Mrs. Hamann to be like one her husband carried. It was thought the blood on the stone might have been caused by a nosebleed or wound, and gave the searching party hope of soon finding the unfortunate man, but like saturday the eatre mitt crows of that the search, and there were fully 250 men making a systematic huns through the gulches, thickets and mountains.

Saturday afternoon Charlie Johnson, an Indian, came in and reported

A Thanksgiving Appeal.

To those who are acquainted with the methods and the good work ac-complished by the Boys' and Girls' Aid society in rescuing and caring for dependent and delinquent children of the state, it is unnecessary to say 1. 5 acres near town, all improved anything but that the society needs and half in fruit, some bearing apples. the assistance of the public at lies fine. Only $2600
Thanksizing, but as there may be many who have not studied the work bearing orchard, fine ic occasion to know of some of well to say that this society is located in the city of Portland but cares for all children throughout the state of Oregon who are in next. The state of the stat bas never been known to refuse admission to any child provided it is healthy and one that can be placed out in a private home. Neither has it refused to accept any boy or girl who there is a scale of the scale of who through incorrigibility has ren-dered himself beyond the control of 40 acres 5 1 his parents and for whom at an early land, $3500. date the reform shool, or worse, the penitentiary, would open its doors. But in order to defend this class and only $3200. penitentiary, would open its doors. But in order to defend this class and keep them from a penal institution, the Boy4' and Girls' Aid society's agent comes along and takes the boy or girl in charge and retains his custody until they have ascertained if there is any chance for reformation, and if so the child is directed in the right path and so saved from having the diagrace of being committed to a penal institution. But if it is found, on the other hand, that the child is a degenerate and its association with other children.

The society has on its files at Portland, Oregon, 253 cases that it has handled and cared for during the period of its existence. It is supported by state and county aid and charitable contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking the period of the year it is reaching out and asking the period of the year it is reaching out and asking the period of the year it is reaching out and asking the period of the year it is reaching out and asking the year it is reaching out and the year it is reaching the year it is reachin

the year it is reaching out and asking every person who is a friend to the institution or to destitute children to put their hands in their pockets and make a small donation of money or to send to the home in Portland, Oregon, some article of provisions— canned fruit, vegetables, or anything that would be u-eful in the house

At every county seat there is an Pdvisory board, whose business it is to look after the interests of the society and its wards, who are pleed out in and its wards, who are pirced out in family homes. In this county Ed Hostetter, The Dalles, Ore., is the secretary, and any person who has anything to-donate can find out where to deliver the same by phoning to this

The railroad companies and steam boats throughout the state have co operated with the society so far as to say that they will deadhead all sup-plies sent to them from any source during Thanksgiving. Therefore, it is hoped that this city and county will at least do their share for the good of the little ones who are depen-dent on charity for support.

The Fruit Growers' Toric.

The present display of apples at Mc Minaville is all that the most royal friends and proud residents of "Ol" You bill" could desire. Baldwins and Spitzenbergs, perfect in form and color, large, inter and without blen job, test, check by jowl with Pippi and Belldowere, Kings, Northern Spies, Ben Davis and Rode i temporary in the color of the col directings, recaling in the jerfe thin of their beauty and their a goe-time of tootsomeness the apples that are in Yambill orghands before the dailing of the sin of coding and the world apples, San Jose scale and black spot. aphis, San Jose scale and black spot. That was fifty years ago. There was no market for the value to the produced by the thrifty young orchards planted in the virgin soil of Oregon, and they retted by tons upon the ground. STILL A MYSTERY railroads put Oregon in touch with the world, and apple growing was revived with the very satisfactory results shown by the apple fairs which for the past few years have been held in various sections of the state.

The search for John Hamann has been unsuccessful.

Friday morning Harry Draper's blood hounds arrived from Spokane and Thursday night Andy Vaughan brought up his young hounds from Portland. The latter were taken in the direction of the east of town where a man was reported loitering around a farm house. They did not pick up any trail that night and were taken back and put up for the night. The next morning both pair of hounds were taken out and appeared to pick up as trail very soon. They followed it down across the Button farm and over to the terry landing, where the dogs went out on the flat boat stationed there. Scouring the neighborhood Draper's dogs followed a trail to the mountain south and over the top of it. They then circled around and strend provided in various sections of the state.

The friendly rivalry developed between apple growers of various sections acts as an industrial and business tonic. Now Hood River growers come forward with a display of apples grown in that section which challenge as competition; again Yamhill county, and yet sgain Linu, challenge the state, not to mention the world, to beat the apples that they produce, backing up the challenge by samples from their orchards that are boldly declared to be the "best." A little acrimony comes in now and then, but all tonics are somewhat bitter, hence the value of this one is not impaired. Finally, all "show apples" are sent to Portland, or should be if they are not, and the hall where the State Horticultural society meets in annual convention is redolent of the spicy odors of old-fashioned garrets and cellars where apples years agone were stored for winter use.—Oregonian.
