MOSIER COMMERCIAL CLUB BANQUET

The entertainment provided Saturday at Mosier by the Commercial club of that place was attended by delegations from Portland, Hood River and The Dalles, and marked the formal opening of the Mosier Commercial club, or notice to the outside world that Mosier from this on is strictly in the publicity column.

world that Mosier from this on is strictly in the publicity column.

Portland guests came up in a special Pullman, which was sidetracked at Mosier by No. 2, and taken back to Portland Sunday morning by No. 3. The Portland delegation was the largest section to be represented outside of Mosier. Hood River was represented by V. C. Brock, E. H. Shepard, E. L. Smith, Chris Greisen and C. D. Nickelsen. Judge Lake, Fred Wilson, H. C. Willia, A. Bennett and others were present from The Dalles. After lunch the guests were taken in carriages for a drive through the valley. They first went up Mosier creek, past the fine orchards of the Carrolls and McCargar, to a high point, where they could get a good view of the surrounding country.

view of the surrounding country. Next they went up The Dalles road for a couple of miles, and then visited the fine ranches of Geo. Sellinger and the East Hood River Fruit Co., of which latter A. P. Bateham is man-

At the Sellinger place they were treated to grapes, of which Mr. Sell-inger has about the best in Mosier. At Mr. Batelsam's place they inspected the new cement fruit and cold storage warehouse, and the new pump-ing system which irrigates about forty acres of strawberries. The visitors were delighted with the improvement and evidences of future development of the country.

After the trip through the valley, which occupied about four hours, they returned for supper. The ban-quet followed in the Odd Fellows hall, and was a very pleasant affair. E. L. Smith acted as toastmaster. Mr. Batebam, president of the club, made an address of welcome, in which he stated the objects of the meeting. He was followed by 'Attorney Fred Wilson, of The Dalles, who is interested in a large ranch at Mosier. Mr. Car-roll, of the Evening Telegram, ad-dressed the meeting on behalf of the visitors. He was tollowed by Judge Lake, of The Dalles, and V. C. Brock, of Hood River. Geo. P. Carroll, Jeff Mosler and Dr. Robinson, of Mosler, gave fine talks. A. Bennett, of The Dalles Optimist, addressed the meeting in his usual witty vein. Tom Richardson made one of his enthusiastic speeches on the lines of publicity, club organization, etc., and his remarks were listened to with close

The meeting was productive of much good, and gave many of the visitors a better idea of the wonderful prospects of our sister valley, which can raise apples "as good as Hood River." It will result in cementing the close relations that already exist between Hood River and Mosier, and give them a boost in a publicity way. The approximate value of the apple and prune crop for this valley this year is $40,000. This showing becomes all the more remarkable in view of the face that the real development of the valley covers a period of but four Nero and His Voice. In an interesting paper M. Moure and M. Bouyer relate the extraordinary care which the Emperor Nero took of his voice. At night Nero lay on his back, with a thin plate of lead on his stomach. He abstained from fruits and all dishes which could hurt his voice. In order not to damage the purity of its sound he ceased haranguing the soldiers and the senate. He attached to his service an officer specially deputed to take care of his voice. He talked only in the presence of this singular official, who warned hith when he spoke too loudly or forced his voice, and if the emperor, carried away by some sudden fit of passion, did not listen to his remonstrances it was his duty to stop his mouth with a bapkin. -Modern Medicine.

"Bananas," says an authority, "are by millions of people eaten green or ripe, raw or cooked, are served in all ways in which apples, grains and potatoes are used and are pulatable, healthful and nutritious in every way in which they are prepared. They make excellent brend, cakes and ples, puddings, confectionery and coffee substitutes, yield brandy, beer, vinegar, sugar, oil and fibers. They are bought as a luxury by millions who may use them as a staple food. Yet they may be grown profitably in a small area only. Therefore banana culture affords a perfectly safe and gainful use of time and money."

A Cold Turndown.

"Bridget," Mrs. Housekeep called down to her servant, "I see Mrs. Gaddis coming across the street. Run out and turn that door mat upside down." Which one, ma'am?" askad Bridget. "The one that has 'Welcome' on it."

LAMP CLOCKS.

They Were Quite Common In the Seventeenth Century. Of the various examples that have been given of early specimens of the clockmaker's art not the least interesting are the several types of lamp clocks. One of these was of a kind quite common in the seventeenth century and consisted of a lamp burner placed at the base of a glass oil receptacle mounted vertically on a suitable standard. The oil reservoir had attached to it a scale facing the burner and showing the hours, beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the lamp was to be lighted in winter, and ending at 7 o'clock in the morning. The lamp being lighted, the gradually descending level of the oil as combustion proceeded marked the hours. The other device of later origin, dating back to the beginning of the last century, utilized the same principle. It consisted of two communicating off chambers, superposed by a clock dial. In one of the chambers was placed a night lamp to illuminate this dial, and n the other was suspended a float from a cord which passed around a small pulley. The latter was mounted on a horizontal axis ending in the center of the dial. The float of course deter of the dial. The float of course de-scended as the oil was consumed and carried the index hand along with it. thus marking the hours precisely as in the case already cited.—Pearson's

THEATRICAL TEMPESTS.

The Way a Rainstorm Is Produced

on the Stage. Probably not more than one person in a hundred stops to consider how a rainstorm is produced on the stage. Few perhaps have ever given the subject any serious thought.

During the coming up of the storm there is seen vast clouds of dust, the wind blows a gale, and suddenly the rain comes down in torrents. It is an effect so natural that one almost imagines the elements are genuinely on the warpath. Yet, though the rain is real water, not a person is actually drenched, because the water comes down at the very front of the stage, while the players are well back and not at all exposed to its moisture.

It might be thought that to produce a storm many intricate bits of machinery would be necessary, yet such is not the case, for the simplest devices produce the effect desired. These are some gas pipes punctured by myriads of holes, through which the water runs from small barrels, each about half full, at either end. The sound of the wind is made by a revolving barrel which touches a heavy piece of canvas in its rounds. The thunder effect is caused by the artistic manner in which a man come from an electric battery connected by wires which when placed in contact throw out the dazzling flashes. A metal plate, which had been specially prepared by first being heated to white heat and then scratched by a knife, is placed in a calcium light machine and gives the effect of lightning in the distance .- New York Mall,

Scotland.

Prior to the year 258, which witness ed its invasion by the Scoti, a tribe who inhabited the northern portions of the country now known as Ireland, Scotland bore the name of Caledonia, literally the hilly country of the Caels, or Gaels. The word cael, or gael, is a corruption of Gadhel, signifying in the native tongue "a hidden rover," while Scot, derived from the native scuite, means practically the same thing-i. e., a wanderer. The Caledonians were the inhabitants of the highlands, the termination dun expressing the Celtic for hill, fort, stronghold. The Scots were the invaders from Scotia, who appropriated the Hebrides and western islands, whereas the lowlanders were the Picts, so called from their description by the Romans, picti, painted men. -"Names and Their Meaning."
