With exp. assions of confidence in the financial stability of Fortland and the entire state, a convention attended by delegates from the commercial organizations of Oregon, decided not to petition Governor Chamberlain to call an extra session of the legislature at this time, The meeting was called to order last Sunday by C. W. Hodson, of the Portland Commercial club, at whose summons the delegates had gathered in Portland. The purpose of the conference was to determine whether the governor should be requested immediately to call the legislature in special session so to amend the holiday and attachment laws that courts could reg ularly proceed with their business during banking holidays, but that an More home builders have come into attachment could not be levied in advance of judgment excepting in cases of alleged fraud or attempted removal of property from the state. After a spirited discussion of the bank situation and the need of resuming judicial business, resolutions were adopted requesting the governor to continue the legal bolidays for a period not to exceed 10 days after the banks of Chicago and New York resume specie payments.

If the necessity for the legal holi days is prolonged more than 30 days, the resolutions adopted suggest that a special session be called at the expiration of that time to relieve the courts; otherwise, it was recommended that no special session be held.

The resolutions were presented to Governor Chamberlain Monday. The convention met in the rooms of the Portland Commercial club and was attended by about 40 representa-tive Oregon business men. In addition to the accredited delegates, there were present a number of prominent Portland citizens, the gathering being representative of the banking, of the state.

In the discussion which preceded the adoption of the resolutions, a great variety of opinion was ventured as to the proper course to pursue. A tew of the more optimistic delegates insisted that the holidays should be suspended immediately, believing that tanks and other interests were prepared to meet the situation with-out a further continuance of the holi-FOR REPORTS days. Others urged that the bank holidays be continued by the govern-
