Commercial Club Elect Officers.

The directors of the Commercial club met at the club rooms Monday evening and elected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: A. A. Jayne, president; Truman Butler, vice president; P. S. Davidson, secretary; E. O. Blanche, treasurer. The other members of the board, as elected before, are Chas. Hall, C. T. Early and W. L. Clark.

It had been decided to hold the annual banquet Saturday evening, January 18, at 1. O. F. hall, and preparations are being made to have a good time. The hall will seat a large crowd, and it is expected that a much larger crowd will be in attendance than last year. Invitations will be sent out the last of the week and the banquet may be postponed to a later date, if found to conflict with other events.

Now Have Correct Time.

The new clocks of the Western Union have arrived and are being installed this week. They are a great convenience to the business houses who need the correct time, as well as an ornament to any place. The main clock at the depot is connected direct to the wires and the time corrected every hour. This in turn corrects every clock on the circuit by electricity, and the time can be relied upon as always correct. The clocks are made to ring an alarm at any hour wished. The banks have the clocks set to ring the hour of three o'clock, or closing time, while other establishments can have the clock set to ring any hour which may be convenient for them. The following have put in the clocks:

O. R. & N. depot, G. A. Clarke, Hood River Banking & Trust Co., Butler Banking Co., Esson & Curran, Wacoma Hotel, R. B. Bragg & Co., Mt. Hood Hotel, Mt. Hood R. R. Co., W. F. Laraway, First National Bank, Home Telephone Co., P. C. Young, Transfer Co., Fashion Stables, Frank A. Crum and the Club saloon.

Elections in 1908.

Elections occur this year as follows: Primary Nominating election for county and state officers and congress, on April 17.

General election, June 1. School election, June 15. Presidential election, November 3. Hood River city election, December 8.

The general qualifications required of electors are as follows:

"Every male citizen of the United States, who shall have resided in the state during the six months immediately preceding such election, and every male of foreign birth of the age of 2 years and upwards who shall have resided in this state during the six months immediately preceding such election and shall have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States one year preceding such election, shall be entitled to vote at all elections."

The statutes of the state also require every elector therein, between the first Monday in January and the 5th day of May of the year in which the general elections occur, to register with some notary public, justice of the peace or with the county clerk. There is no charge for registration, but the elector must make affidavit as to his qualifications and residence and sign in the presence of two witnesses who must also make affidavit to the fact that they are freeholders, are acquainted with the voter who registers and believe his statements to be true.

"No person who is not a qualified elector and a registered member of a party making its nominations under the provisions of this law shall be qualified to join in signing any petition for nomination, or to vote at said primary nomination election; and no person shall be qualified to sign any nomination petition of any other political party than that with which he is registered as a member."

There are now six precincts in Hood River valley, and voters may register at my office in any of them. A. W. Oatback.

George Elick Buried Here. J. E. Nichols finally got a clue to the resting place of George Elick, the Indian who was reported drowned in Lewis river last August. It appears that the report was first sent here by an Indian who lives at Lewis River, and it was stated at the time that he had been drowned in that river. A search in that neighborhood, however, failed to find any clue. His mother, however, did not give up the search, and a few days ago Mr. Nichols got a letter from Isaac Belknap, sheriff of Pacific county, who knew of the accident, and said that an Indian of that description was drowned near Hiesaco August 12, while crossing from Chinook to South Island to a fishing trap. He dragged the river and recovered the body, which was buried in a rough box.

Mr. Nichols started for the place Monday, and at Portland met C. E. Markham, who knew Elick, and took him along to help identify the body. It was examined and identified by a scar on the chin. The body was brought here for burial Tuesday, and word was sent to the Indians around the funeral held yesterday. The remains were interred in the family lot in the K. of P. cemetery.

Roadmaster Vanmet Dies Suddenly. News was received here last week that David Vanmet, of Fertile, Minn., who visited Hood River for the first time a few weeks ago, and who intended to make this his future home, died suddenly at Grand Forks, N. D., while waiting to be called for his wife, Mrs. E. J. Nicholson, a daughter, left here Saturday night for Fertile.

The following account of his death appeared in the Grand Forks Press of January 1: While quietly resting in a chair last night the crisis messenger called David Vanmet from all that he holds dear on this earth. This morning a wife is left without a loving husband, sons and daughters mourn the loss of a kind father, and the brothers and sisters will hear no more the cheerful voice of a dear brother. Mr. Vanmet came here yesterday from Fertile to attend the funeral of W. F. Ripson. Although he had been ailing for some time his death was not expected last night, as at 5:30, just a half hour before he passed away, he seemed to be in the best of health. A few minutes later, however, he felt tired and sat down in a chair to rest. When Pat Carney went to call him for the train he found it impossible to wake him from his sleep. Dr. Kirk was hurriedly called and found that life was extinct for some minutes. He was at once removed to McDonald & Ashley's undertaking rooms.

Deceased was one of the oldest settlers in this part of Minnesota, and for a number of years was roadmaster on the Northern Pacific, with headquarters at Fertile. His genial nature and kind and loving spirit made many friends for him, who extend their heartfelt sympathies to the family, brothers and sisters in their hour of sorrow. Besides leaving a wife, deceased leaves four daughters and three sons, Mrs. Ed Nicholson, of Hood River, Ore.; Miss Maggie Vanmet, teaching at Hood River; Mrs. Wm. Ireland, of Crookston, and Miss Annie, living at home; Wm. L. Vanmet, county treasurer; David, living at Front Creek, Mont.; and Eddie, living at home. Mrs. T. Pender, of this city, is a sister of deceased; James of Fargo, is a brother.

The funeral arrangements have not been definitely announced, but in all probability will be taken to Fertile for burial, where his mother and father and three children are buried.

Perigo-Parker. Robert B. Perigo and Miss E. Val Parker were married at Portland Jan. 1 at the Evangelical church, by Rev. Hoover.

The groom is a junior partner in the store of Hannu & Perigo, and although here but a short time, is well liked, and is a young man of sterling qualities. The bride is an estimable young lady of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Perigo arrived in the city Thursday and went to housekeeping at once on Sherman avenue. The Glacier offers congratulations.

A Hoosier Charivari. Last Friday night a crowd of Hoosiers consisting of men, women and children, relatives, gave Robert Perigo and his wife an old time charivari. They all made considerable fuss for a short time, but Robert was expecting them and didn't wait very long after the music started until he opened the door and invited the noisy party inside. After being seated around in the house a short time, a few boys came to join the fun and began a new racket outside. The door was again thrown open and the door was invited inside, but they refused to come in so Robert gave them some nice apple and bid them goodnight. As soon as they got their apples eaten they began the racket again during which time Robert had passed around some very nice looking sweetened popcorn to the men in the house, who began eating at once and were surprised on learning at once that the corn was covered with quinine. The party then had the laugh on the men, but they soon passed around some good popcorn, cider, cakes and apples. About the time that they were finishing their treat the boys came back outside with the racket again, then Robert gave them a treat of the kind with quinine on it. The boys at some of it in a hurry and in a short time one of the boys discovered the bitter taste and yelled out, "This corn is doped." They soon decided that they had enough and left for home. The crowd in the house staid until about ten o'clock and enjoyed the evening laughing and talking. Robert and wife thought some of trying to dodge the crowd and playing off on them that night, but they knew if they did that the crowd would catch them some other time so they stood their ground and took the fuss and enjoyed the fun with the jolly crowd of Hoosiers.

Better Than He Knew. The hour had come for the language lesson in a government Indian school. Among the words on the board to be put into sentences was the word "singular." The teacher explained that it meant queer, peculiar, odd, uncommon. Tommie Stewart, a half breed Crow Indian, twelve years old, produced a result of diligent labor, showing a bit of humor in his makeup and keen observation as far as the Indians were concerned, at least. He wrote the following sentence: "If a man have no wife he is singular."—Harper's Weekly.

The Old Trouble. "Hello!" he said the first thing. "What's this?" he asked, picking up my prayer book. "Prayer book eh? All right. Shut up your case."

"Want to look at anything else?" I asked. "No. You're all right, my friend. Any man who will put his prayer book on top of his traps isn't likely to beat the government. I'll take that for your declaration."

"I threw him half a dozen cigars. That's where I made my mistake."

"Got any more like these in that case?" asked the official.

"I said I hadn't, but do you know he wouldn't believe me, and I had to open up the case again, and he went through it as if he thought I was a smuggler."—Washington Post.

Responsibility. "Has he a proper sense of responsibility?" asked the earnest patriot. "I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum. "I sometimes fear he is one of those people who are so anxious to be financially responsible that they forget to be morally responsible."—Washington Star.

Pine Grove district, at The Dalles hospital, January 6, a boy.

A POINTER FOR TOURISTS. Put Your Prayer Book on Top of the Things in Your Trunk.

"If you ever go to Bermuda I can tell you how to make time at the custom house," said a returning Washingtonian. "I reached Bermuda early in the morning. I made up my luggage rather hastily before leaving the ship. Just as I was ready to close my suitcase I noticed that I had left my prayer book on the lounge. I pitched it in rather unceremoniously, strapped down the case and hurried ashore. 'You don't have to wait to declare as you do when coming into the port of New York. As I stepped into the office of the Johnny Bull official I unstrapped my case and opened it up. The official talked at me as if I had been a telephone."

"Hello!" he said the first thing. "What's this?" he asked, picking up my prayer book. "Prayer book eh? All right. Shut up your case."

Incidents. "Cousin Henry's sickness that time he crossed the water must have touched his head a bit."

"Why so?" "Well, here he wrote in his diary: 'June 14.—Most everybody seasick, including myself. Saw two spoutin' whales.'"

"Don't see anything very loony about that."

"Why, Abner Dobbs! Do you mean to tell me that you believe that any of them passengers had ever swallered a whale?"—Life.
