The D. C. Bateham place of 30 acres, known as Cedar Creek Fruit Farm, formerly the Columbia nursery, was sold Saturday to J. Adrian Epping for $15,000, giving an unimproved 20 acre site as part pay. Mr. and Mrs. Bateham expect to start in to look for a visit and trip through southern Oregon before they settle down again.

Miss Jackson, of Portland, was up last Sunday with a large party of buyers and sold 20 acres for Frank Chabrier off the Jerome Wells homestead property on the Mosier hill. The purchaser is S. B. Leighton, of Portland, and he will immediately set to clearing up his land and plant it to orchard this spring. Several other Portland parties are figuring on buying small tracts of this same property, which will make a very desirable settlement in that beautiful locality.

W. L. Demorest returned last week from McMinnville, and while there learned that recently parties from Hood River were making a search of the cemetery at that place to find the grave of an infant who was buried many years ago. It seems that it was a twin sister of a woman who is now an elderly years and it was desired to look after the grave. After a search of several days it could not be found and the parties left. Last week, while digging a sewer, a tiny coffin was found which answered the description, it being of cedar and zinc lined, so that it was in a good state of preservation. There was no headstone marking the grave and no indication of a grave having been there, so that the discovery was an accident. As the parties did not leave their names, they cannot be communicated with, but said they were from Hood River. If this notice reaches the proper persons the authorities at McMinnville would be glad to communicate with them.

J. L. Hollowell came up from Portland last Sunday with his son, who is sick at the hospital, recovering from an attack of typhoid fever. Homer is still too weak to leave his bed, but is slowly improving.

Sam Reavis and wife returned Sunday from the eastern part of the state, where Mr. Reavis was in charge of the petitions for county division in that part of the state. Mr. Reavis also left for Portland Monday on a business trip.

F. S. Schmidt, an experienced printer, arrived from Hood River Sunday morning and will hereafter divide honors (and profits) with the editor in the publication of the Record. His family will arrive as soon as a suitable residence can be obtained.--Haines Record.

Miss Mabel Ayersman received a dispatch from Grand Junction, Colo., Saturday that her father was very sick and left at once for that place Saturday noon. Since her parents returned to Hood River she has been here several months ago Miss Ayersman has been clerking in Laraway's jewelry store. Word was received here yesterday from Miss Ayersman that she found her father had received two strokes of paralysis and that his mind was gone, and also that a third stroke was probable at any time.

On Wednesday afternoon, January 29, Mrs. C. H. Jenkins and Mrs. V. C. Brock entertained about thirty Pythian Sisters at the beautiful home of the former. Honors were won at a guessing contest by Mrs. Craton and Mrs. C. P. Ross, after which a delicious lunch was served and the afternoon was spent in a delightful, social way.

John Vass has taken the contract to cut all the timber off the bottom lands opposite the depot and expects to have 1,000 cords of wood for sale. The land is owned by C. D. Moore and W. D. Chapman, and the clearing off of the timber will be a benefit to Hood River, as it will give an unobstructed view of the North Bank of the Columbia for several miles, from the depot platform.

Col. D. M. Dunne, of Portland, who attended the Commercial Club banquet here last Friday night, went out into the valley the next day and purchased 20 acres of orchard land, which he expects to plant to trees this spring. It is stated on good authority that after the banquet the Colonel set up the remainder of the night figuring on the profits of a successful fruit grower, the net result of which was the above investment. We now reiterate the Colonel and assure him that we are glad to have him with us.

Miss Ella Wiedrick is confined to her bed with a gripper.

E. M. Miller has been laid up two weeks with rheumatism.

Thos. J. Cole, of Menominee, had business at Hood River Tuesday.

Jack Luckey received word Tuesday from Washington that his patent for the lock nut had been allowed. Mr. Luckey says he has had several offers for the patent and we hope he will make good thing out of it. The patent for the ball-bearing hub was allowed some time before.

A. J. Capron, of Portland, one of the guests at the banquet Friday night, was heard to remark as he passed out: "I have attended over 500 banquets and I want to say that this one is the neatest, mostest, better notes cracked and less brass collared banquet I have ever attended."

Thanks, Mr. Capron, come again.

An apple picked on the ranch of W. F. Faraway in October, 1906, was on exhibition at his jewelry store until a few days ago. It had laid in the barn, with others of its kind, until last summer, when it was taken to his residence and placed in the ice box. There it remained until recently, when it was brought to the store in a good state of preservation and as an example of the great keeping qualities of the Hood River apple.

E. F. Smith and wife, of Orofino, Idaho, are visiting J. E. Hanna and family. They have disposed of their interests at that place and are on their way to Southern California.

Mr. Smith owns the property now occupied by Mr. Hanna and disputes the title to the street, which was taken by the city a couple of years ago. Mr. Smith is looking to have the matter adjusted by the city officials, or says he will bring suit against the city for damages. C. S. Knodle and wife also of the same place, are with Mr. Smith and will accompany him to California.

Harold, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fike, in the Pine Grove district, died Saturday, February 1, of scarlet fever and was buried Monday at Idlawilde, Rev. W. C. Gilmore officiating at the private funeral at the residence. The little fellow contracted the disease while Mr. Fike was in the east and when it took a serious turn he was wired to return, which he did. Complications set in after the fever had run its course and it was impossible to save him. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Knights of Pythias District Convention.

A large delegation from the Hood River lodge of Knights of Pythias attended the Eighth District Convention of the order at the Dalles Saturday evening. In a competitive drill in the initiatory work of the third degree, Hood River won, carrying off the prize by several points. The local team is said to be among the best in the state and they are now entitled to compete for the honors before the meeting of the grand lodge in Portland in June, and will probably enter the contest at that time.

The meeting was held in the K. of P. hall at The Dalles, with District Deputy Frank Menefee in charge. Besides the large delegation from Hood River there were delegates from all over the eastern part of the state, besides Grand Chancellor Wall, of Hillsdale, Grand K. of R. and S. L. R. Simpson, of Salem, and W. M. Calk, of Portland. The next convention for this district will be held at Hood River next year.

A fine banquet followed the lodge exercises and good speeches were enjoyed, Frank Menefee acting as toastmaster. The Hood River delegation was well pleased with their reception at The Dalles and had a fine time. The following were present from Hood River:
