Mr. Heney has obtained a conviction against John H Hall, but ten men, more or less, were given the immunity bath in order to get evidence to convict him. This may be good law but it does not meet with popular approval.

"One-fifth of the entire money in the world belongs to the United States," says a promising member of the Herald family, Grant county, Mich. It is possible these figures may have to be revised when Congress gets through with its present session.

Leslie M. Shaw has resigned his $25,000 job as president of the Carnegie Trust Company, in New York. Some of our former life insurance presidents will wonder why he ever consented to work for such ridiculous wages, anyway.

The decision of the directors of the Home Telephone Company to sell small blocks of stock to any subscriber who wishes it and thereby make the company mutual as far as possible, is in line with the policy of operating the plant to give the advantages of the system to the people of the valley. Under this arrangement, if good profits are made, they can be returned to the patrons of the system through lower rates, instead of sending them to enrich the bank account of some millionaire in the east.

Petitions were circulated the first of the week for the nomination of Charles W. Fulton for United States Senator. While the sensational charges of one Heney against the Senator are not yet proven, yet they have caused many to hesitate to support him. There are still others, however, who do not forget that Senator Fulton has been the friend of Hood River in her former fights for the creation of Hood River county, and will need more than the unsupported charges of Mr. Heney to turn him down.

There should be no "faction" in any city. The property of one individual and every improvement made enhances the value of all property in the corporation. Our city is simply one big family. When this is discorded there is little progress. When there is a united pull for everything, its accomplishment is made easy. Envy, jealousy and hatred are things to be despised. Envy is a canker that gnaws at the heart and makes folks sour, disgruntled and unhappy; jealousy warps the intellect and makes us unfair in passing judgment. Hatred doesn't pay, even from a sordid standpoint.—Ex.

The building of the large packing plant near Portland by Swift & Co. will give the great beef trust control of the meat situation in the Pacific Northwest. It will mean the driving to the wall of all the wholesale butchers on the coast, or at least curtailing their business so that there will be no profits left. It will in a great measure stop the local slaughtering of cattle, hogs and sheep, and the retail price of meat will be fixed by the trust, even in the small towns of the country. The benefits to Portland, however, will be very great. The building of a plant near that city to cost $3,500,000, will mean a city of several thousand people at the stockyards and will add 10,000 people to the city of Portland itself. It will mean the government inspection of all meat and a guarantee that all meat coming from the great packing house will be free from disease. It will stimulate the raising of more stock in this country, especially hogs, and in that respect should lower the cost of all pork products to the consumer. The location of the plant near St. Johns and Vancouver will be a constant reminder to those cities of the great industry whenever the west wind blows, which is most of the time, while the mighty east wind, or "Walla Walla chinook," will waft that peculiar odor among Portland's roses, which, when once smelled, will never be forgotten.

OUR UNOCCUPIED MINUTES.

What we do in our spare time usually determines our real place in the world. Those who stand out from their fellows by lines of notable service or achievement have arrived there, as a rule, chiefly by an exceptional use of their spare time. To most persons spare time means just so much unguided, unused waste in their lives. Look down the aisles of a crowded trolley car, or of a coach in a commuter's train; look at a physician's waiting room filled with persons—and idleness; how few of those with time thus heavy on their hands have made any provision for richly investing it! Most men and women have enough of just such spare time, daily or weekly, to learn a new language in a year, or to read a whole library of choice literature, or to gain a working knowledge in some special line that would lift one out of the ranks into the position of expert. Yet we still hear the complaint that there is "not enough time" to do what ought to be done.—S. S. T.

Meeting of Hood River Democrats.

Notice is hereby given that a regular meeting of the Hood River Democratic Club will be held at the city hall in the city of Hood River next Saturday at 1:30 p. m., February 15, 1908. Some special matters in reference to the next election to be discussed. All Democrats invited to attend.

S. F. Blythe,
President.

QUESTION BOX

Questions relating to the Kitchen or Home by our subscribers will be answered in this column. Address letters to SALLY LEE, care Glacier, Hood River, Oregon

All inquiries for this column must be in by Monday noon, to ensure being answered that week. No attention will be paid to communications on post cards.

The Woman's Home Companion has been taking up the grocery question lately and Sally Lee wants to tell her experience in Hood River. My home is in the country and I came into one of you grocery stores the other day to get some cheese and the clerk who waited on me went and cut cheese with one hand and held a cigar in the other. I will tell you frankly that I didn't eat any of the cheese, for I knew I would taste tobacco. I am not a tobacco crank, for my husband and father both smoke, but I fail to see the good it does to a store to have its clerks smoke.

My brother's wife made the same complaint. She went into two other stores and was confronted with smoke either from pipe or cigar in each store.

Can we, as Hood River citizens' wives, brag on our clean, little city and continue to patronize stores that will persist in allowing smoke? I have many times seen a clerk open a refrigerator and have a cigar in his mouth and then take out butter, and then they wonder why their customers "kick" on their butter

Housewives of Hood River, think!

Mrs. J. A. H. asks for a recipe for removing ink stains from calico She has tried milk, but to no avail.

If she will take the juice of a lemon and wet the spot with it I think she will have better success I always try Stanford's Ink Eradicator, used by office people. A bottle costs but 25 cents and lasts for years.

Sweet Eighteen asks for a corn cure If she will take sliced lemon and apply to the corn with a cloth for two or three nights, it will remove the soreness more quickly than anything else. The corn can then be scraped off with a knife, after a proper application of the lemon.

Before baking potatoes pour boiling water over them and let them stand three to five minutes, depending upon size. Then wipe them dry and rub all over with melted drippings. You will find they will bake a great deal quicker and the skin will come off easier.

Household Hints.

To remove black grease stains from clothing, wash with soap and cold water. Hot water would only set the marks.

Discolored enameled sauce pans can often be made to look like new by boiling a little chloride of lime in the water with which they are filled.

Admit plenty of air to your store room on a clear, dry day, for air is necessary to all sweet preserves. Those kept in an air tight room or cupboard are apt to ferment.

To test the purity of coffee, pour cold water on it. If the water assumes a brownish hue, it may be concluded that there is chicory with it.

Sandpaper will whiten ivory handled knives which have become yellow from age or usage.

A spoonful of vinegar added to the water in which meats are boiled makes them tender.

Warm bread or cake should be cut with a knife the blade of which has been heated by standing it in boiling water.

In blacking a stove, if cold coffee with a little sugar be used instead of water it will be found to polish much easier and will also last longer.

The Ideal Mother.

She never describes her aches and pains.

She never dwells on unpleasant reminiscences.

She never apologizes for the food.

She is never a martyr.

She never corrects the children in the presence of any one, not even the family.

Disorder of a temporary nature does not visibly disturb her.

When the family diatribe threatens she know how and when to deftly change the subject.

She lets every one have affairs of their own.

She is always polite and cordial to her children's friends.

Suggestions.

Sit down to iron; your neighbors won't like it, but you will.

Wear pretty wash clothes in the kitchen. The sweeter you look the easier the work will be.

Remove fruit stains from the hands with the fumes of match sulphur, then wash with water that has had a pinch of borax in it.

If you want to peel onions and be cheerful, take off the skins under water.

Lemons will keep fresh for weeks in cold water.

If you want to keep cheese indefinitely, pour over it melted paraffine.

To make fish delicious, add a teaspoonful of vinegar to the water in which it is washed.

To avoid fatigue have your sink so high that you can wash dishes standing erect.

Silk may be restored by sponging and while quite damp it should be rolled on a broom stick and left until quite dry. This may take 12 hours or more. Silk should never be ironed.

A little whitening dissolved in the boiling water in which the silver is cleaned will remove all grease and dullness, and makes the weekly polishing almost unnecessary. They should be well dried and rubbed afterwards.

When flat irons become rough or soiled, place a little fine salt on a paper and rub them back and forth over it. Put a little bees wax between two pieces of cloth and keep near the ironing table. If the irons get coated with scorched starch rubbing them over the cloth will usually remove it. When ironing starched goods rub the irons over a bit of sandpaper before returning them to the stove.

Laundry Hint.

The drying of clothes in frosty weather is sometimes, in the case of delicate fabrics, attended with tearing, because of the quick stiffening in the very cold air. A simple precaution which will prevent any such trouble is to dissolve three or four handfuls of coarse salt in the last rinsing water, thus making it, in fact, a weak brine. Articles so rinsed will not suffer from or stiffen with the cold.

Tomato Soup.

One quart of tomatoes, three pints of water, boil three-quarters of an hour and then strain. When hot again add two ounces of flour and four ounces of butter mixed together until smooth, with one tablespoonful of sugar. Let it cook ten minutes, then add one-half pint of hot sweet milk.

Salmon Salad—Contributed.

Remove the salmon from a pound can without breaking any more than is possible and garnish with lettuce, celery or parsley. Make a dressing of vinegar, one small teacupful, butter the size of an egg, mustard, one tea spoontul, eggs, two. Heat until as thick as cream, but do not let it boil. When cold add half cup sweet cream. Pour over the salmon and serve.

Mrs Laraway Entertains.

Hood River is getting to be as cordial in its hospitality in entertaining as Portland. One of the prettiest affairs in the sense of artistic beauty was given at the home of Mrs. W. F. Laraway last Thursday afternoon, when she gave an at home to the ladies of the Aid Society of the Congregational church. The house was trimmed with flowers, ferns and house plants. After the ladies were all there, there was a darning contest and the lady whose darning was voted to excel all the rest was Mrs. Caldwell, who won the prize. The hostess then passed around a box of candy and every one was allowed to look at it and then guess how many pieces there were in the box. Mrs. Gilmore was the fortunate one and received as a reward of merits the box of candy Miss Lena Newton delighted the guests with a piano solo, which was enjoyed immensely. Mrs. Laraway then gave each lady a card which was part of a large card. Each card represented a church and the card was cut in four pieces, and the ladies had to hunt and find where the rest of the pieces were in order to make the card complete. Each table in the dining room represented a church and in that very pleasing manner the guests found their places, where they had the pleasure of enjoying a very delicious luncheon, consisting of salads, dainty little sandwiches, olives, pickles and ice cream and cake. The ladies with one accord declared their hostess to be one of the finest. x

Additional Local.

Herman Prigge returned Tuesday from Portland, where he visited friends for a few days.

P. M. Hall-Lewis returned Tuesday evening from Portland, where he spent several days on business.

Sidney Hickox, from Hood River, Ore., and Ernest Auerswald, of Attalia, Wn., were shooting jack rabbits Sunday The former secured 50 and the latter 25.—Wallula Gateway.

Word was received here yesterday that J. B. Bailey, of Mosier, died at The Dalles hospital, where he was taken a short time ago. Mr. Bailey was an old respected resident of Mosier and leaves a large family to mourn his loss. The particulars of the funeral could not be learned up to the time of going to press.

The state officials of the Grange, as announced last week, arrived Tuesday and took part in the dedicatory ceremonies of the Park Grange at Pine Grove halls. Tuesday afternoon was devoted to the services at the former and yesterday the ceremonies were concluded at Pine Grove. Owing to indisposition Mrs Clara L. Waldo left for Portland yesterday afternoon, but the other state officials remained until the close.

The second number of the present volume of the Whitman College Quarterly at Walla Walla has just appeared in the shape of a pamphlet entitled, "The Old Whitman and the New," telling of Whitman's past and outlining the extensive plans of the trustees to make Whitman indeed the "Yale of the Northwest." Professor A. W. Hendrick has been appointed by the trustees dean of the college and entrusted with the campaign that was launched with so much promise some weeks ago.

The announcement of the opening of the Oregon Trust Co. bank, through the absorption by the German-American, at Portland, the opening of the Merchants bank and the taking care of the depositors of the Title Trust & Savings bank, cleans up the bank failures in Portland without the loss of a dollar to the depositors. It places the financial situation of Portland again on a solid basis and will materially add to the prosperity of that city, as well as the state. Portland had long had the reputation of being conservative and sound financially, and the recent financial flurry has proved this fact.

Considerable interest is being taken in the site for the new high school building. The board has under consideration a number of sites, besides using the one now occupied by the State street school, as at first proposed. A number think the school should be located on the hill, but we believe the majority think the building should be placed in a more central location, or at least in the lower town district. It is a matter which will be carefully considered by the school board, and a decision should be reached which will be for the best interests of the city as a whole.

Will Make a Mutual Company.

Following the outcome of the meeting of the directors of the Home Telephone Company with the committee of farmers of the West Side, February 1, the directors of the company last Saturday passed a resolution agreeing to make the company as nearly mutual as possible to the people of the valley and to accomplish this purpose are willing to sell small blocks of stock to any subscriber to the new Home phone.

This action of the directors proves that they are willing to do everything possible for the best interests of the people of the city and valley, and if the plan of a mutual company can be carried out, it will insure the best of service at actual cost to the patrons If the profits of the business will allow, the charge for phone service will be reduced from the schedule now adopted and if only one system is finally maintained in the valley there is every reason to believe that the rates can be reduced.
