

CORRESPONDENCE.

ODELL.

Mrs. Eliza Bryant and Miss Ida Bryant returned from a three weeks' visit with relatives in Portland and cared for the three children of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Folts when they went to Portland to take their little daughter, Laura, for an examination by Portland physicians, which resulted in the decision that the disease from which the little girl suffers is pneumonia poisoning and while she is very ill a recovery is expected, but it is thought the time required for a cure will not be short. Mr. Folts remained in Portland from Tuesday night until Saturday. Mrs. Folts will remain near the sick child until she may be brought home.

John Kroeger was a business visitor in The Dalles Wednesday of last week. A number of Odell Grangers attended the dedication of the new Grange hall at Pine Grove Wednesday, February 12.

We hear that R. E. Callison, of Olex, Ore., has sold out. We do not know what he intends doing. Two of the children have been ill for some time. The Callisons were formerly of Odell and their friends here regret to hear of the continued ill health of members of their family since their removal to Olex.

Mrs. Mary McCoy and son, Floyd, went to Portland Saturday and will reside there.

J. U. Lafferty believes the way to get a house in Odell is to build one and is now at work preparing to build just south of the orchard on his father's land. Mr. Lafferty and family will move to Odell and we feel certain Odell is fortunate in counting people such as they residents of that thriving community.

The drill in the well at Wm. Ebrock was down to the depth of about 150 feet at the beginning of this week and there was water about 50 feet in depth.

The entertainment last Friday night was a credit to Odell in general, to all who took part in the program and in large measure to D. C. Henry, who directed the affair. The music by Messrs. Clarence Wilson, violinist, and Elmer Lafferty, pianist, was of the usual high order of merit for which these gentlemen are noted. There were several fine vocal selections by Clinton Wood and his "talking machine." A colored quartet known in real life as Don Crosby, D. C. Henry, O. H. Ebrock and Wallace Young proved very popular and favored the audience with quite a number of songs that were very close imitations of "colored folks" singing. The dialogue by Milton Rogers, Johnny Schiller and Roberta Friday was especially good, the groans of the arch man recouping to the remotest corners of the hall. Recitations by Leona Carnes and Leita Bowerman were well delivered and excited laughter. The dialogue not already mentioned were received with applause. An exhibition consisting of a drill by D. C. Henry in which he swung Indian clubs that were on fire was received with wild applause and many favorable comments. Mr. Henry also impersonated a ghost with startling effect. But for realistic setting see "Hans Von Smash" with the various characters represented by the following: Lynn Young, Aubrey Davis, Austin Lockman, Louis Rhodes, Mrs. Boyd, Leona Carnes, Ruth C. etc. All did well and Lynn Young as Hans Von Smash brought down the house. There were opening and closing speeches by D. C. Henry, as well as recitations, both gratis and pay. The supper served by the Christian Endeavor netted the society about $0.50. Marie Lockman and Gertrude Crosby deserve favorable mention for their efforts in securing donations for the supper. The receipts at the door amounted to something over $23.

A good Christian Endeavor meeting last Sunday evening with P. T. Shelby as leader. M. D. Odell announced that he would talk to the people of Odell next Sunday after Sunday school.

Arrangements have been made whereby Rev. Ashley Cash, of Hood River will preach at Odell regularly for a time. We are not prepared to state for a certainty, but our understanding is that he is to come one Sabbath in each month.

Speaking of bachelors reminds us that Odell has a goodly number of such and all rank so high in regard to excellence that it is a most difficult matter to decide which might be chosen as the most desirable should such choice be made during this, which, I am told by members of the class, which this article refers to, is leap year. But your correspondent is of the opinion that at the present time that bachelor who alone brought a cake to a supper at which bachelors were supposed to display their art in cooking should receive due credit to the discomfiture of those who neglected to improve so good an opportunity to make for themselves a reputation for an accomplishment that so closely approaches necessity.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith, Thursday, February 13, a daughter.

Odell Grange will hold an open meeting next Tuesday evening. A program is being prepared and a good time is expected.

Two more bachelors for the roll of honor. Last Tuesday evening Messrs. Elmer Lafferty and Clinton Wood invited a party of their friends to a lady pull. The young people gathered just east of John Kroeger's house where there is a new clearing and a big bonfire was built for light and warmth. Elmer Lafferty acted as chef, the tally being cooked over an out door fire. Clinton Wood entertained the company with music on a phonograph. A large sack of nuts was provided by those who invited the guests. Mr. Kroeger also contributed a treat in the form of pears and apples. The evening was made merry by games, conversation and when the candy was pronounced just right each guest to cut out a piece in having the whitest candy. Then all went home declaring the hosts royal entertainers.

Rehearsals in the valley remember the president of the assembly visits Hazel Rehearsal Lodge at Odell next Monday night, February 24.

BARRETT.

Mr. Barrett—I just wish to inform you that I am a little deaf on one side, but on Saturday of last week I had the pleasure to use the new telephone and, by jingo, if it did not make me hear good. I could hear the telephone company speak and quite prices so plain that I could hear a distance from the phone; and that bell when it rings will surely wake you up, even though you sleep sound.

In fact, I think there will be complaints because the babies will be awakened from their sweet slumbers. Yes, sir; it's a real crackerjack.

W. I. Moore, our country butcher, left on Monday morning for Sherman county, to buy up about 20 head of fat cattle.

Mrs. J. J. Gibbons left on Friday last for Portland, where she will spend a week with friends and old acquaintances.

The McCuiston brothers have purchased a brand new Pauline's grubbing machine and are now clearing land for Mr. Leighton.

P. E. Dean will move from the Franklin ranch this week to his own ranch on the river near A. Bunning.

Charley Wallace and Will Ellis were seen straggling up toward the mountains. Suppose they were looking for diggers or suckers.

Will Nichols made a business trip to Portland on Friday last week. Will is a regular hustler when it comes to selling his farm products. Let this heart be merry in the days of thy youth and lay up a little for a rainy day.

After street will be cleared and opened up to the county road, right away, making a direct line to the depot from White Salmon and back country, and this road cannot be shortened ten feet by any other route.

One of the coziest nicest and cleanest little stores in Washington is in Bingen run by Chas. Wetherell, the accommodating gentleman who left hundreds of friends at Casson to come to our prosperous town. He sells a little of everything with prices to fit the pocket book.

J. E. Reynolds has shut up his home and shipped his chickens to Portland, and we hope some of the residents will root easy for awhile.

The knuckers on the hill had better stop and figure out how they can get to the depot by their new proposed road. How can they get through Joelyn? There is not a lot sold there and the set of land will remain intact unless a big prospect is in sight. Anyway, get through Joelyn and how can you get through that 10-foot of ponden claim? Get through that and then you are up against the worst obstacle of all—the Suckdoff land. See?

The White Salmon Enterprise this week publishes Joelyn items in which he gives the lie to the Bingen correspondent of the Glacier. This proprietor of Joelyn and ex-boom peddler from Kansas, who has posed as a millionaire for some time, but does business in his wife's name, is simply throwing stones at his own front door by composing a lot of rare-fied lies to stir Bingen, but we are too proud of what we have to pay much attention to this oriental.
