SPECIAL ON LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S COATS-We have several garments, good colors, new and snappy, we will close at 20 PER CENT LESS THAN COST Now is L. H. HUGGINS @ CO.

The special features of the general plan are the fire proofed wells extending from the floor of the basement clear up to the undeaside of the roaf, dividing the building into three practically isolated wings, each having its own system of stairs and exit, and communicating with the other parts of the building through fire proof doors.

The arrangement of the cloak rooms is unique. These are wire netting enclosures, with the doors thereto opening directly into the class room. Hence the pupils are at all times under the eye of the teacher and the danger from smoldering spontaneous combustion, which is the cause of a great majority of school fires, is reduced to a minimum.

The heating and ventilating apparatus is of the very latest approved type, Warm air at 80 degrees is forced into each room by a fan located in type. Warm air at 80 degrees is forced into each room by a fan located in the basement, 30 cubic feet per minute to each pupil, and the vitiated and foul air is exhausted through a separate system of vent stacks. During the period when the heating plant is in use, the windows of the class rooms are used for light only, as all the fresh air required is taken from above the roof, sucked down, forced through the heaters and up into the rooms by the fan.

Mr. Hall-Lewis was assisted in the preparation of his design by M. Edward Williams, an experienced designer and constructionist, who halls from Pittsburg, Pa., and later from Pasadena, Cal., who has accepted the position of assistant with Mr. Hall-Lewis for the ensuing season.

Mr. Hall-Lewis, while feeling very grateful for the award from the board, is particularly elated by resson of the fact that the board in arriving at a decision frankly stated that they had made the award purely on the merits of the design and without giving him any credit whatever for being a resident of Hood River.

No Use to Die.

"I have found that there is no use to die of lung trouble as long as you can get Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. J. P. White, of Rushboro, Pa. "I would not be alive today only for that wonderful medicine. It loosens up a cough quicker than anything else, and cures lung disease even after the case is pronounced hopeless." This most reliable remedy for coughs and colds, la grippe, asthma, bronchitis and hoarseness, is sold under guarantee at Chas. N. Clarke's Drug Store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Inspector Castner at The Dalles.

"Some of the orchards are very badly infected with the Sau Jose scale," said County Fruit Inspector Castner tast evening in describing his trip up through the Mill creek orchards. "This is true mostly in orchards that have not been under cultivation for commercial purposes. The worst conditions were found in the older orchards that have been neglected and which the owner only keeps to supply the fruit for family consumption. In some of these orchards the trees have never been properly pruned and have grown to as high as 30 feet, and it will be almost impossible to drive out the pest. In these cases I have recommended the destruction of the trees. The owners of the orchards are now anxious to put their trees in a hesithy conditions and readily agree to the advice given them. It is necessary to impress upon the orchard owners the idea that the work must be thoroughly done if done at all as a spraying that does not reach every part of the tree is entirely wasted."

Other orchards in the Mill creek district were described as being in Inspector Castner at The Dalles.

Other orehards in the Mill creek district were described as being in perfect condition this being especially true of the commercial orchards.

When asked as to the condition of the fruit at the present time and what the prospects were for the crop of 1908, Mr. Castner said: "So far this senson the condition of the fruit "Yeas." "Yeas. sensitive some Washington folks are, listen to the reasons some of our tenants give for canceling their leases," said a renting agent. "Here are the complaints from five families who want to move because they live on 'fu-neral streets.' A lot of people, it seems, are sensitive about that. There are certain streets in town-those near churches where many funerals are held and those leading to the various cemeteries-which are usually traveled by funeral parties. Houses in those streets are becoming a poor investment. There is more moving from those houses than from any others we have anything to do with, and generally the movers give as the reason for their dissatisfaction the fact that the sight of so many hearses gets on their nerves." -Washington Star.

It is said that the queer, composite race of people that dwell upon the waterlogged hulks of the Saragossa sea, in the mid-Atlantic, have a pretty theory about death. They believe that those to whom the messenger comes when the sun is shining brightly are transported straight away to a heaven to a popular vote, a project that is depth, in which they may wade and meeting with universal approval.

Then, seeing the little invalid look sadly disappointed, she said, "Well, wait till you get well, my dear, then we will see." "Oh, no," answered the child, whose few years had taught her some wisdom. "The more sick I am the more likely he will be to buy it for me."-"The more sick I am the more

'How can I earn money without leaving home? Can a woman whose one talent is housekeeping turn it to practical account?

Her reply in part is: "The woman who can cook well, who knows how to prepare dainty as well as wholesome food, who has Furniture, Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs something worth offering in the cul-inary line, is really better off today than the home girl who is an indiffer-ent cook, but free to turn to office or store work when the family income drives her to wage earning.

"In every city the country over you will find women who seldom leave the'r kitchens, yet make incomes that put a stenographer or STABLISHED 1900 bookkeeper to shame.
