Easter Apparel

From the New York Markets Personally Selected for our Hood River trade

Our Buyer is now in New York City and just the newest in modern Clothes has already been picked up aside from Dress Goods and Ladies Suits. The market conditions were right; he seized the opportunity and you'll not only get the benefit of the choicest from the East but a remarkable saving from a spot cash buy. Enough cannot be said of the market condition that existed when Mr. Cram visited the most noteworthy house to place orders for immediate shipment. "If you want to know what is correct throughout the East, ask Mr. Cram, he'll show you the goods."

During the few days of high water in the Columbia Dean & Pearson were able to get their barges to the Underwood bridge, but the fall of the water again nearly stranded the boats. In getting it back they broke the propeller of their launch, entailing an expense of about $75.
Marshal Ganger apprehended three men Friday on the advice of Sheriff Christian, who came down for them on No. 1. It appears that the men stole a boat from a man who was in jail for illegal fishing, thinking, no doubt, that he would not need the boat for some time. The theft was discovered, however, and a telephone message came in time for Mr. Ganger to get them as soon as they landed.
S. E. Hartness is fitting up a fine chapel in his undertaking establishment, where he will have accommodations for seating about 100 people. In the front are two reception rooms, which will be nicely fitted up, and be divided from the chapel by curtains and draperies. The rooms are entirely separated from the rest of the store and are secluded from public view from the street or store.
The merchants have established a ferry across Hood River for the purpose of transporting supplies across the river to east side farmers and others living on that side of the river near town. A boat has been secured from an Indian and a cable stretched across the river, so that it can be operated across the swift current. Farmers can now hitch their teams on that side and walk across the railroad bridge, and their supplies will be delivered free of charge across the river. Those living within three or four miles of town on the east side will save several miles of travel by this accommodation.
One of the most convincing compilations of facts ever circulated to advertise a given section of country is "One Thousand Facts of Pre-decction," collected by J. R. Shepard, giving actual results of producers throughout the Willamette Valley. This compilation deals with fruit, vegetables, live stock, cereals, grasses, poultry, hops and nuts. A. E. Hofer, secretary of the Salem Board of Trade, will be glad to send this to any address and it is a character of information that should be in the hands of every active newspaper man as well as the officers of every commercial body throughout the state of Oregon, and in fact all over the United States.

Rev. G. A. Learn, of Portland, who has been appointed by the American Baptist Home Mission Society to the Kodiak Indian Mission, Alaska, is expected in Hood River Tuesday, March 23, when he will give an address in the evening at the Baptist church upon the work in his expected field of labor. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in missions.

Just a Word

about our Picture Framing Department. We have the largest stock of mouldings in the city. We carry the highest quality of mouldings. We use nothing but clear, selected, art glass. We establish the very lowest price for good workmanship and high quality of mouldings, two years ago when we went into the Framing Business, and have maintained them. We are always busy—"The best recommendation." Our stock is always new. No old stock to work off at cut prices.
We have the most up-to-date machinery for framing.
Did it ever strike you that Picture Framing is an Art not a Trade. It is and require constant study. We make this department a study. Did it ever strike you, that there is as much difference between a soft wood, varnished or veneered and a good hardwood as between cotton and wool. There is. We will continue to do good Framing at a moderate price.
