

GOLD MEDAL WON BY HENDERSON

The Intercollegiate Field and Track Meet inaugurated last year by the State Agricultural School at Corvallis certainly proved a success this year. Nineteen high schools engaged in the contests of speed, brawn and endurance. All the contestants have words of praise for the rare hospitality shown them by the O. A. C. Student body.

The weather was cold and windy, with showers of rain, so that the meet was not as enjoyable as it might otherwise have been.

The rivalry between the schools was strong, but good natured. The only incident to mar the success of the sports was in the mile run when Griggs, of Corvallis High, deliberately ran in front of and elbowed Minton of Salem, to keep him from winning in the finish. The Hood River boy all acquitted himself with credit in the several events they entered in and are proud of the fact that they walked off with one first place. Sidney Henderson brought home a gold medal he can wear with pride.

Following is the report of the meet given in the Sunday Oregonian:

The West Portland High won the Intercollegiate field meet at Corvallis, Saturday afternoon, won the relay race, and McGuire of the same school won first place and the gold medal for the largest number of individual points. McGuire won ten points, taking first in the high jump and high hurdles.

The intercollegiate high school record was broken by Henderson, of Hood River High, who put the 12-pound shot 43 feet 1 1/2 inches. One of the prettiest ones of the day was the mile, in which Griggs, of Corvallis, won over Minton, of Salem High, by only a foot.

An immense crowd witnessed the meet. The visitors were entertained at a banquet at Waldo Hall. The summary of events is:

100-yard dash—Dart (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Latourette (West Portland); time, 10:02 seconds. Pole vault—Fisher (Ontario), Henry (Lakeview), Woodcock (Corvallis); height 10 feet.

Running high jump—McGuire (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Harper (Rooseburg); height 5 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash—Kay (Salem), Short (Astoria), Walters (Island City); time 23:05 seconds.

Hammer throw—Baxter (Dayton), Enling (Baker City), Harpman (Rooseburg); distance 131.2 feet.

Mile run—Griggs (Corvallis), Minton (Salem), Doris (Lafayette); time 4:45 seconds.

440-yard dash—Walters (Island City), McDaniel (Portland), Dorris (Lafayette); time 5:02 seconds.

Shot put—Henderson (Hood River), Means (Pendleton), McCann (Dayton); distance 43.1 feet.

120-yard hurdles—McGuire (West Portland), Latourette (West Portland), Harbert (Astoria); time 17:01 seconds.

Running broad jump—Hickson (West Portland), Gatriel (Dayton), Turner (Pendleton); distance 15.5.

Discus throw—Means (Pendleton), Enling (Baker City), Hunt (Salem); distance 154 1/2 feet.

220-yard hurdles—Kimball (West Portland), Meddy (Ontario), Latourette (West Portland); time 17:01 seconds.

One-half mile relay—West Portland, Eugene, Astoria; time 1:37.5.

HONORED THE HEROIC DEAD

Decoration Day in Hood River was celebrated by the largest gathering that ever attended those solemn yet beautiful exercises at this place. While the population is becoming larger each year, yet the combined business interests closing their places of business, that all might have the privilege of attending, had much to do with the increased attendance.

All places of business were closed from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. left their hall in conveyance, and just north of the cemetery the line of march was formed, as follows:

Hood River Band.
Canby Post, G. A. R.
Spanish War Veterans.
Canby W. R. C.
School girls with flags.
City Council.
Foresters of M. W. A.
Citizens.

The march halted at the grave of Lucius Henry, Past Commander of Canby Post, where the solemn rites of the Grand Army of the Republic were conducted by the officers of Canby Post, led by Commander Castner. Chaplain Cunningham led in the devotion, while Comrade A. S. Howers decorated the grave with the words of the ritual.

General decoration of the graves of the departed heroes, which were marked by small flags, followed.

The other exercises were held at the grand stand, which was erected under the trees.

Rev. J. W. Rigby offered prayer. The opening remarks were made by an address by M. P. Seaberg.

The flag salute by schools was exceedingly appropriate.

P. Deitz read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

A recitation by Miss Blanche Ford was the next in order.

Ed Mayes recited Sheridan's Ride. Miss Joy Mason recited "Old Glory."

The principal address was by Rev. J. G. Tate, who was directed to the old soldiers. It was in part:

The establishment and destruction of nations is not the result of accident, but the outcome of a God-ordained purpose. To nations as to men God gave a mission. Equipment and environment, possibilities and possession, determine a nation's mission. From the Romans came our basis of jurisprudence. From Greece came our literature, art and song. From the Jews came our religion. To England was given the mission of "missions." To the United States, "the exalting and dignifying of the individual man. Peoples who have been true to their obligations have lived and prospered. All others have gone down.

As a people we have much to regret. Corruption has polluted our high places. Avarice and greed have eaten close to the nation's heart. Gold has been pursued and God forgotten. But amid all these regrettable things, we have held fast to the truth, that above armies and navies, stands the man, and that for him all government was ordained and now exists. What God gave us, the brave, strong, self-sacrificing men of the stripes saved for us.

We meet to-day to do honor to the living and pay reverent respect to the dead. This is no time nor place for mere boasting. The story of your sufferings and sacrifices has been so often told, that even to you it has been worn threadbare. The feeble remnants of the mightiest army the world ever saw, proclaim a service and sacrifice to which nothing can be added. Silence in presence of your sorrow is the most eloquent tribute we can pay.

What you next want to know, is whether or not the country you saved at such fearful cost, was worth the saving. We can answer that question in part by calling to mind what would have followed your defeat.

Two republics would have striven for existence, each with a hand at the other's throat. Standing armies on the boundary line. Between them would have been a constant menace and a provoking spectacle. Our resources in common and in conflict we could have provoked commercial war. Our nervous, irascible temperaments would have magnified a joke into an insult and our daily press would have added fuel to the flame, until in sheer self respect we would have answered each other with drawn swords. In the several events they entered in and are proud of the fact that they walked off with one first place. Sidney Henderson brought home a gold medal he can wear with pride.

Following is the report of the meet given in the Sunday Oregonian:

The West Portland High won the Intercollegiate field meet at Corvallis, Saturday afternoon, won the relay race, and McGuire of the same school won first place and the gold medal for the largest number of individual points. McGuire won ten points, taking first in the high jump and high hurdles.

The intercollegiate high school record was broken by Henderson, of Hood River High, who put the 12-pound shot 43 feet 1 1/2 inches. One of the prettiest ones of the day was the mile, in which Griggs, of Corvallis, won over Minton, of Salem High, by only a foot.

An immense crowd witnessed the meet. The visitors were entertained at a banquet at Waldo Hall. The summary of events is:

100-yard dash—Dart (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Latourette (West Portland); time, 10:02 seconds. Pole vault—Fisher (Ontario), Henry (Lakeview), Woodcock (Corvallis); height 10 feet.

Running high jump—McGuire (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Harper (Rooseburg); height 5 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash—Kay (Salem), Short (Astoria), Walters (Island City); time 23:05 seconds.

Hammer throw—Baxter (Dayton), Enling (Baker City), Harpman (Rooseburg); distance 131.2 feet.

Mile run—Griggs (Corvallis), Minton (Salem), Doris (Lafayette); time 4:45 seconds.

440-yard dash—Walters (Island City), McDaniel (Portland), Dorris (Lafayette); time 5:02 seconds.

Shot put—Henderson (Hood River), Means (Pendleton), McCann (Dayton); distance 43.1 feet.

120-yard hurdles—McGuire (West Portland), Latourette (West Portland), Harbert (Astoria); time 17:01 seconds.

Running broad jump—Hickson (West Portland), Gatriel (Dayton), Turner (Pendleton); distance 15.5.

Discus throw—Means (Pendleton), Enling (Baker City), Hunt (Salem); distance 154 1/2 feet.

220-yard hurdles—Kimball (West Portland), Meddy (Ontario), Latourette (West Portland); time 17:01 seconds.

One-half mile relay—West Portland, Eugene, Astoria; time 1:37.5.

HONORED THE HEROIC DEAD

Decoration Day in Hood River was celebrated by the largest gathering that ever attended those solemn yet beautiful exercises at this place. While the population is becoming larger each year, yet the combined business interests closing their places of business, that all might have the privilege of attending, had much to do with the increased attendance.

All places of business were closed from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. left their hall in conveyance, and just north of the cemetery the line of march was formed, as follows:

Hood River Band.
Canby Post, G. A. R.
Spanish War Veterans.
Canby W. R. C.
School girls with flags.
City Council.
Foresters of M. W. A.
Citizens.

The march halted at the grave of Lucius Henry, Past Commander of Canby Post, where the solemn rites of the Grand Army of the Republic were conducted by the officers of Canby Post, led by Commander Castner. Chaplain Cunningham led in the devotion, while Comrade A. S. Howers decorated the grave with the words of the ritual.

General decoration of the graves of the departed heroes, which were marked by small flags, followed.

The other exercises were held at the grand stand, which was erected under the trees.

Rev. J. W. Rigby offered prayer. The opening remarks were made by an address by M. P. Seaberg.

The flag salute by schools was exceedingly appropriate.

P. Deitz read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

A recitation by Miss Blanche Ford was the next in order.

Ed Mayes recited Sheridan's Ride. Miss Joy Mason recited "Old Glory."

The principal address was by Rev. J. G. Tate, who was directed to the old soldiers. It was in part:

The establishment and destruction of nations is not the result of accident, but the outcome of a God-ordained purpose. To nations as to men God gave a mission. Equipment and environment, possibilities and possession, determine a nation's mission. From the Romans came our basis of jurisprudence. From Greece came our literature, art and song. From the Jews came our religion. To England was given the mission of "missions." To the United States, "the exalting and dignifying of the individual man. Peoples who have been true to their obligations have lived and prospered. All others have gone down.

As a people we have much to regret. Corruption has polluted our high places. Avarice and greed have eaten close to the nation's heart. Gold has been pursued and God forgotten. But amid all these regrettable things, we have held fast to the truth, that above armies and navies, stands the man, and that for him all government was ordained and now exists. What God gave us, the brave, strong, self-sacrificing men of the stripes saved for us.

We meet to-day to do honor to the living and pay reverent respect to the dead. This is no time nor place for mere boasting. The story of your sufferings and sacrifices has been so often told, that even to you it has been worn threadbare. The feeble remnants of the mightiest army the world ever saw, proclaim a service and sacrifice to which nothing can be added. Silence in presence of your sorrow is the most eloquent tribute we can pay.

What you next want to know, is whether or not the country you saved at such fearful cost, was worth the saving. We can answer that question in part by calling to mind what would have followed your defeat.

Two republics would have striven for existence, each with a hand at the other's throat. Standing armies on the boundary line. Between them would have been a constant menace and a provoking spectacle. Our resources in common and in conflict we could have provoked commercial war. Our nervous, irascible temperaments would have magnified a joke into an insult and our daily press would have added fuel to the flame, until in sheer self respect we would have answered each other with drawn swords. In the several events they entered in and are proud of the fact that they walked off with one first place. Sidney Henderson brought home a gold medal he can wear with pride.

Following is the report of the meet given in the Sunday Oregonian:

The West Portland High won the Intercollegiate field meet at Corvallis, Saturday afternoon, won the relay race, and McGuire of the same school won first place and the gold medal for the largest number of individual points. McGuire won ten points, taking first in the high jump and high hurdles.

The intercollegiate high school record was broken by Henderson, of Hood River High, who put the 12-pound shot 43 feet 1 1/2 inches. One of the prettiest ones of the day was the mile, in which Griggs, of Corvallis, won over Minton, of Salem High, by only a foot.

An immense crowd witnessed the meet. The visitors were entertained at a banquet at Waldo Hall. The summary of events is:

100-yard dash—Dart (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Latourette (West Portland); time, 10:02 seconds. Pole vault—Fisher (Ontario), Henry (Lakeview), Woodcock (Corvallis); height 10 feet.

Running high jump—McGuire (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Harper (Rooseburg); height 5 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash—Kay (Salem), Short (Astoria), Walters (Island City); time 23:05 seconds.

Hammer throw—Baxter (Dayton), Enling (Baker City), Harpman (Rooseburg); distance 131.2 feet.

Mile run—Griggs (Corvallis), Minton (Salem), Doris (Lafayette); time 4:45 seconds.

440-yard dash—Walters (Island City), McDaniel (Portland), Dorris (Lafayette); time 5:02 seconds.

Shot put—Henderson (Hood River), Means (Pendleton), McCann (Dayton); distance 43.1 feet.

120-yard hurdles—McGuire (West Portland), Latourette (West Portland), Harbert (Astoria); time 17:01 seconds.

Running broad jump—Hickson (West Portland), Gatriel (Dayton), Turner (Pendleton); distance 15.5.

Discus throw—Means (Pendleton), Enling (Baker City), Hunt (Salem); distance 154 1/2 feet.

220-yard hurdles—Kimball (West Portland), Meddy (Ontario), Latourette (West Portland); time 17:01 seconds.

One-half mile relay—West Portland, Eugene, Astoria; time 1:37.5.

HONORED THE HEROIC DEAD

Decoration Day in Hood River was celebrated by the largest gathering that ever attended those solemn yet beautiful exercises at this place. While the population is becoming larger each year, yet the combined business interests closing their places of business, that all might have the privilege of attending, had much to do with the increased attendance.

All places of business were closed from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. left their hall in conveyance, and just north of the cemetery the line of march was formed, as follows:

Hood River Band.
Canby Post, G. A. R.
Spanish War Veterans.
Canby W. R. C.
School girls with flags.
City Council.
Foresters of M. W. A.
Citizens.

The march halted at the grave of Lucius Henry, Past Commander of Canby Post, where the solemn rites of the Grand Army of the Republic were conducted by the officers of Canby Post, led by Commander Castner. Chaplain Cunningham led in the devotion, while Comrade A. S. Howers decorated the grave with the words of the ritual.

General decoration of the graves of the departed heroes, which were marked by small flags, followed.

The other exercises were held at the grand stand, which was erected under the trees.

Rev. J. W. Rigby offered prayer. The opening remarks were made by an address by M. P. Seaberg.

The flag salute by schools was exceedingly appropriate.

P. Deitz read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

A recitation by Miss Blanche Ford was the next in order.

Ed Mayes recited Sheridan's Ride. Miss Joy Mason recited "Old Glory."

The principal address was by Rev. J. G. Tate, who was directed to the old soldiers. It was in part:

The establishment and destruction of nations is not the result of accident, but the outcome of a God-ordained purpose. To nations as to men God gave a mission. Equipment and environment, possibilities and possession, determine a nation's mission. From the Romans came our basis of jurisprudence. From Greece came our literature, art and song. From the Jews came our religion. To England was given the mission of "missions." To the United States, "the exalting and dignifying of the individual man. Peoples who have been true to their obligations have lived and prospered. All others have gone down.

As a people we have much to regret. Corruption has polluted our high places. Avarice and greed have eaten close to the nation's heart. Gold has been pursued and God forgotten. But amid all these regrettable things, we have held fast to the truth, that above armies and navies, stands the man, and that for him all government was ordained and now exists. What God gave us, the brave, strong, self-sacrificing men of the stripes saved for us.

We meet to-day to do honor to the living and pay reverent respect to the dead. This is no time nor place for mere boasting. The story of your sufferings and sacrifices has been so often told, that even to you it has been worn threadbare. The feeble remnants of the mightiest army the world ever saw, proclaim a service and sacrifice to which nothing can be added. Silence in presence of your sorrow is the most eloquent tribute we can pay.

What you next want to know, is whether or not the country you saved at such fearful cost, was worth the saving. We can answer that question in part by calling to mind what would have followed your defeat.

Two republics would have striven for existence, each with a hand at the other's throat. Standing armies on the boundary line. Between them would have been a constant menace and a provoking spectacle. Our resources in common and in conflict we could have provoked commercial war. Our nervous, irascible temperaments would have magnified a joke into an insult and our daily press would have added fuel to the flame, until in sheer self respect we would have answered each other with drawn swords. In the several events they entered in and are proud of the fact that they walked off with one first place. Sidney Henderson brought home a gold medal he can wear with pride.

Following is the report of the meet given in the Sunday Oregonian:

The West Portland High won the Intercollegiate field meet at Corvallis, Saturday afternoon, won the relay race, and McGuire of the same school won first place and the gold medal for the largest number of individual points. McGuire won ten points, taking first in the high jump and high hurdles.

The intercollegiate high school record was broken by Henderson, of Hood River High, who put the 12-pound shot 43 feet 1 1/2 inches. One of the prettiest ones of the day was the mile, in which Griggs, of Corvallis, won over Minton, of Salem High, by only a foot.

An immense crowd witnessed the meet. The visitors were entertained at a banquet at Waldo Hall. The summary of events is:

100-yard dash—Dart (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Latourette (West Portland); time, 10:02 seconds. Pole vault—Fisher (Ontario), Henry (Lakeview), Woodcock (Corvallis); height 10 feet.

Running high jump—McGuire (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Harper (Rooseburg); height 5 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash—Kay (Salem), Short (Astoria), Walters (Island City); time 23:05 seconds.

Hammer throw—Baxter (Dayton), Enling (Baker City), Harpman (Rooseburg); distance 131.2 feet.

Mile run—Griggs (Corvallis), Minton (Salem), Doris (Lafayette); time 4:45 seconds.

440-yard dash—Walters (Island City), McDaniel (Portland), Dorris (Lafayette); time 5:02 seconds.

Shot put—Henderson (Hood River), Means (Pendleton), McCann (Dayton); distance 43.1 feet.

120-yard hurdles—McGuire (West Portland), Latourette (West Portland), Harbert (Astoria); time 17:01 seconds.

Running broad jump—Hickson (West Portland), Gatriel (Dayton), Turner (Pendleton); distance 15.5.

Discus throw—Means (Pendleton), Enling (Baker City), Hunt (Salem); distance 154 1/2 feet.

220-yard hurdles—Kimball (West Portland), Meddy (Ontario), Latourette (West Portland); time 17:01 seconds.

One-half mile relay—West Portland, Eugene, Astoria; time 1:37.5.

HONORED THE HEROIC DEAD

Decoration Day in Hood River was celebrated by the largest gathering that ever attended those solemn yet beautiful exercises at this place. While the population is becoming larger each year, yet the combined business interests closing their places of business, that all might have the privilege of attending, had much to do with the increased attendance.

All places of business were closed from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. left their hall in conveyance, and just north of the cemetery the line of march was formed, as follows:

Hood River Band.
Canby Post, G. A. R.
Spanish War Veterans.
Canby W. R. C.
School girls with flags.
City Council.
Foresters of M. W. A.
Citizens.

The march halted at the grave of Lucius Henry, Past Commander of Canby Post, where the solemn rites of the Grand Army of the Republic were conducted by the officers of Canby Post, led by Commander Castner. Chaplain Cunningham led in the devotion, while Comrade A. S. Howers decorated the grave with the words of the ritual.

General decoration of the graves of the departed heroes, which were marked by small flags, followed.

The other exercises were held at the grand stand, which was erected under the trees.

Rev. J. W. Rigby offered prayer. The opening remarks were made by an address by M. P. Seaberg.

The flag salute by schools was exceedingly appropriate.

P. Deitz read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

A recitation by Miss Blanche Ford was the next in order.

Ed Mayes recited Sheridan's Ride. Miss Joy Mason recited "Old Glory."

The principal address was by Rev. J. G. Tate, who was directed to the old soldiers. It was in part:

The establishment and destruction of nations is not the result of accident, but the outcome of a God-ordained purpose. To nations as to men God gave a mission. Equipment and environment, possibilities and possession, determine a nation's mission. From the Romans came our basis of jurisprudence. From Greece came our literature, art and song. From the Jews came our religion. To England was given the mission of "missions." To the United States, "the exalting and dignifying of the individual man. Peoples who have been true to their obligations have lived and prospered. All others have gone down.

As a people we have much to regret. Corruption has polluted our high places. Avarice and greed have eaten close to the nation's heart. Gold has been pursued and God forgotten. But amid all these regrettable things, we have held fast to the truth, that above armies and navies, stands the man, and that for him all government was ordained and now exists. What God gave us, the brave, strong, self-sacrificing men of the stripes saved for us.

We meet to-day to do honor to the living and pay reverent respect to the dead. This is no time nor place for mere boasting. The story of your sufferings and sacrifices has been so often told, that even to you it has been worn threadbare. The feeble remnants of the mightiest army the world ever saw, proclaim a service and sacrifice to which nothing can be added. Silence in presence of your sorrow is the most eloquent tribute we can pay.

What you next want to know, is whether or not the country you saved at such fearful cost, was worth the saving. We can answer that question in part by calling to mind what would have followed your defeat.

Two republics would have striven for existence, each with a hand at the other's throat. Standing armies on the boundary line. Between them would have been a constant menace and a provoking spectacle. Our resources in common and in conflict we could have provoked commercial war. Our nervous, irascible temperaments would have magnified a joke into an insult and our daily press would have added fuel to the flame, until in sheer self respect we would have answered each other with drawn swords. In the several events they entered in and are proud of the fact that they walked off with one first place. Sidney Henderson brought home a gold medal he can wear with pride.

Following is the report of the meet given in the Sunday Oregonian:

The West Portland High won the Intercollegiate field meet at Corvallis, Saturday afternoon, won the relay race, and McGuire of the same school won first place and the gold medal for the largest number of individual points. McGuire won ten points, taking first in the high jump and high hurdles.

The intercollegiate high school record was broken by Henderson, of Hood River High, who put the 12-pound shot 43 feet 1 1/2 inches. One of the prettiest ones of the day was the mile, in which Griggs, of Corvallis, won over Minton, of Salem High, by only a foot.

An immense crowd witnessed the meet. The visitors were entertained at a banquet at Waldo Hall. The summary of events is:

100-yard dash—Dart (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Latourette (West Portland); time, 10:02 seconds. Pole vault—Fisher (Ontario), Henry (Lakeview), Woodcock (Corvallis); height 10 feet.

Running high jump—McGuire (West Portland), Short (Astoria), Harper (Rooseburg); height 5 feet 6 inches.

220-yard dash—Kay (Salem), Short (Astoria), Walters (Island City); time 23:05 seconds.

Hammer throw—Baxter (Dayton), Enling (Baker City), Harpman (Rooseburg); distance 131.2 feet.

Mile run—Griggs (Corvallis), Minton (Salem), Doris (Lafayette); time 4:45 seconds.

440-yard dash—Walters (Island City), McDaniel (Portland), Dorris (Lafayette); time 5:02 seconds.

Shot put—Henderson (Hood River), Means (Pendleton), McCann (Dayton); distance 43.1 feet.

120-yard hurdles—McGuire (West Portland), Latourette (West Portland), Harbert (Astoria); time 17:01 seconds.

Running broad jump—Hickson (West Portland), Gatriel (Dayton), Turner (Pendleton); distance 15.5.

Discus throw—Means (Pendleton), Enling (Baker City), Hunt (Salem); distance 154 1/2 feet.

220-yard hurdles—Kimball (West Portland), Meddy (Ontario), Latourette (West Portland); time 17:01 seconds.

One-half mile relay—West Portland, Eugene, Astoria; time 1:37.5.