BOWSER AS A SLEUTH

He Undertakes to Help Police In Running Down Crime.

ARRESTED THE FIRST NIGHT.

Old Philosopher Is Taken to the Lock-up on the Charge of Impersonating an Officer—Mrs. B. Informed of Hubby's Actions.

[Copyright, 1908, by T. C. McClure.]

When Mr. Bowser came home to dinner the other evening he had a bundle under his arm.

It was a suspicious bundle.

So far as Mrs. Bowser could tell it might contain a living child.

Or the dismembered remains of a strongarm.

And Mr. Bowser stood for a moment in the hall and looked at her keenly and suspiciously. During that sixty seconds he seemed to read her very thoughts. She tried to return his look, but found herself shivering.

"What have you brought home?" she finally managed to ask.

"Never you mind," he answered as he placed the bundle on a chair. "After dinner I want to have a talk with you."

"But why do you act so queer, and why do you look at me in such a strange way?"

"We will go down to dinner, madam. If you have anything on your conscience it will do well for you to confess and throw yourself on my mercy."

HE LOOKED LIKE A CROSS BETWEEN VIDOCQ AND AN OLD TRAMP.

"Oh, you've got another one of your streaks on, have you? I thought it was about time. I don't care a cent what is in your old bundle."

Glanced Around Suspiciously.

When Mr. Bowser entered the dining room he glanced around suspiciously at the walls.

Then down at the floors and under the table.

The look he gave the cook made her shake and shiver in her shoes, and she came within an ace of dropping the dish of mashed potatoes.

At intervals during the meal Mrs. Bowser found his eyes resting on her, and if she had been guilty of poisoning her mother or cutting the cat's throat she must have betrayed herself and asked to be taken into custody at once.

When dinner was half over Mr. Bowser suddenly rose up and inspected the sideboard, as if suspicious that some murderer was concealed therein. Then he looked into the refrigerator and sniffed long and suspiciously. His victim had thus far escaped him, but he was close on the trail.

"Well, have you got through with this monkey business?" tartly asked Mrs. Bowser as she rose up.

"Lead the way, woman, lead the way," he replied, with one long last glance around the room, in which his eyes took in everything, even to the china cream pitcher with its broken nose.

Upon reaching the sitting room he took a cigar from his pocket and carefully examined both ends of it to see if it contained an infernal machine. The match with which he finally lighted it was also critically examined to see if it had been tampered with. Then his eyes fell upon the cat, and for sixty seconds he stood and steadfastly regarded her. The feline writhed under his scrutiny and finally made a dash from the room.

"Are you going to play the idiot all the evening?" demanded Mrs. Bowser as her eyes flashed and her cheeks reddened.

"I am ready to explain, madam," replied Mr. Bowser as he took a seat. "Perhaps you did not see the interview with the mayor published in the papers this morning, in which he asked the co-operation of all good citizens in the detection of crime?"

"And you are going to co-operate?"

"I am."

Mr. Bowser suddenly looked behind him.

Then he arose and tiptoed across the room and looked out into the hall.

Then he glanced at the piano as if wondering what guilty secrets it was concealing.

Then he spoke, and his tones were sleuthy and his gestures dramatic as he said:

"Yes, I shall go out this evening and hunt down the man that murdered old Nancy Ray for the few dollars she had in the house. The police believe that he fled to Europe on a sailing vessel, but I differ with them. I believe he is still in the city. Aye, he may be within two blocks of us and walking about as free as any honest man. I am sure I shall know him on sight, however."

"Bosh!" exclaimed Mrs. Bowser in contempt. "You want to leave the detective business to those who are paid for it. If people around here get to know that you are sleuthing around they will call you a fool."

"Remember who you are talking to, madam!"

"I shall. I say it's the craziest notion you ever brought home, and you've brought a hundred. Give it up before you get into trouble."

Mr. Bowser took another tiptoe look into the hall.

Then he softly opened the parlor door and looked in.

Then he looked over Mrs. Bowser's head at one of the back windows. The sash looked suspicious. The panes of glass seemed to have guilty knowledge.

"Sit still where you are, and don't move a finger until I return!" he hoarsely whispered. "Remember—not a finger—not a thumb—not a toe!"

"You'll be moving your fingers and thumbs and toes toward an idiot asylum before morning!" she called after him as he disappeared down the hall.

The minutes went on.

Just the Night For Murder.

It was just the night for a cold blooded murder.

A black visaged villain might even then be straddle of the alley fence with a thirst of blood in his heart.

Hist! Look out! Beware!

When Mr. Bowser returned he had donned an old suit of clothes, was wearing a Scotch cap and had the false whiskers of a stage villain. He looked like a cross between Vidocq and an old tramp who lost his all in the great Chicago fire. Mrs. Bowser gave one look and then burst out laughing.

"Well, madam?" queried Mr. Bowser, with great dignity, after a minute.

"I have nothing to say. Go right along with your sleuth business. If you get into trouble don't blame me."

"And when I return, madam—when I return after having landed the murderer in a police station"—

"Yes, when you return."

"I shall have a number of questions to ask you and the cook. Don't attempt flight. Neither of you can escape me."

After standing for a few seconds with a warning finger pointed at her nose he tiptoed down the hall and opened and shut the front door so carefully that she heard no sound. As he emerged from the gate he caught sight of a man standing beside a tree on the opposite side of the street.

In one minute Mr. Bowser had crossed the asphalt.

Waiting For the Cook.

In another minute the suspicious character was explaining that he was engaged to the cook in the house and was waiting for her to come out to the gate. He spoke with the accents of truth, and the old sleuth let him go, but with a warning never to do it again.

The next suspicious character was dressed in female apparel. That was just the disguise a murderer would adopt, and Mr. Bowser took up the trail. He had pursued it for five minutes and was about to advance and place his hand on her shoulder when she wheeled around and exclaimed:

"See here, you old masher, if you follow me another step I'll pull all the hair out of your head."

Mr. Bowser dropped the trail, but two blocks on he picked up another. It was that of a lame man. There was a faint odor of pegs and wax in the air, and he jumped to the conclusion that the murderer was passing himself off as a cobbler.

Ten minutes later Mrs. Bowser was called up on the telephone.

"Is this Mrs. Bowser?"

"Yes."

"Wife of Samuel Bowser?"

"Yes."

"Well, this is the Fourth police precinct. Your husband has been arrested for passing himself off as an officer, and he won't be home tonight. Goodby." M. QUAD.

Through the United States Land Office in Roseburg contests have been instituted by the Federal Government against 15 coal entries in what is known as the Eden Ridge Coal Field, in township 32-1, north of the Coquille River, in Coos county. It is the belief of the government that the claims are wanted principally for the magnificent timber that stands on them and not for what coal they might contain. The lands are embraced in a forest reserve, but under the law if they are proven to be chiefly valuable for coal deposits they will pass from the reserve, timber and all, into the hands of the applicants.

Japanese Will Not Take Places.

Winnipeg, Aug. 11.—No signs of a settlement are reported by either side in the Canadian Pacific railway strike. Manager McVey, of the strikers' organization, announced that the company was endeavoring to secure Japanese for points west of here, but that many Japanese, although offered $1.75 a day, declined to work when they learned that they were to take the places of strikers.

The men are in good humor and have a month's pay due August 15. Mr. McVey said that over $1,500,000 is to be paid out that day to strikers. Pickets are being regularly maintained, but have strict instructions not to come into conflict with either men or company special guards.

In Prison; Gets Fortune.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 11.—After spending ten days in jail because he could not raise $6 to pay a fine for dunkenness, Alfred Arthur Johnson, alias A. Stanley, as he has always been known here, received word in jail that he had fallen into a fortune of 20,000 pounds through the death of his father.

English Etchings.

The Holy Well of St. Anne at Caversham, England, has been dedicated in perpetuity to the public use, its waters in the middle ages being renowned for their healing qualities.

Stiffening of the brain, a rare disease, was given at the inquest of one of the causes of death of a boy seventeen months old on whom an operation was performed at St. Thomas' hospital, London.

The London Express mentions a case of a private who, for failing to recognize and salute his officer, was condemned to march past and salute a barrack pump for two hours each day for a week.

In London the taxicabs are used by all classes of people day and night at the uniform rate of 16 cents a mile, and they present a most attractive appearance in chocolate, blue, yellow, red and green hues, with chauffeurs in the brightest and smartest liveries.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. ### ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

In the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Hood River County (formerly Wasco County).

In the matter of the Guardianship of Roba J. Tucker, now Klaus, Florence R. Tucker, now Klaus, Lelia E. Tucker, now Klaus, and Robina Tucker, now Klaus, minor children of Roba J. Tucker, deceased, by Cora Belle Klaus, Guardian.

Now coming on for hearing the motion of Cora Belle Klaus, guardian of the person and estate of Roba J. Tucker, now Klaus, Florence R. Tucker, now Klaus, Lelia E. Tucker, now Klaus, and Robina Tucker, now Klaus, minor children of Roba J. Tucker, deceased, duly appointed by order of the County Court of the County of Wasco, by John Leland Henderson and Wm. M. Watson, her attorneys, alleging:

That on the 16th day of May, 1908, the petition of said guardian was filed in the above entitled cause in the County Court of Wasco County, wherein she seeks, as such guardian, to sell certain realty belonging to said minors described in said petition, and praying for an order to show cause why said real estate should not be sold at private sale;

That on, to-wit, the 16th day of May, 1908, the order was entered in said cause and court by Judge A. E. Lake, County Judge of said Wasco County, ordering the next of kin of said wards, and all persons interested in said estate, to appear before said Court on the 26th day of June, 1908, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the county court room of the county court of Wasco, Oregon, in the city of The Dalles, in said county of Wasco, state of Oregon, then and there to show cause, if any there be, why an order should not be granted for the sale of said real estate, and further, ordering that a copy of said order be published for four successive weeks in the Hood River Glacier, a newspaper of general circulation, published in the city of Hood River, County of Wasco, state of Oregon, the first issue of which publication shall be on the 28th day of May, 1908;

That thereafter said order was regularly published for the time required in said order, as by proof of publication on file in said cause dated June 26th, 1908;

That personal service was had on said minors and on Cora Belle Klaus, widow and next of kin, on the 28th day of May, 1908, and that acceptance of service on said minors and on said Cora Belle Klaus is also regularly entered on said order, all of which will be more fully seen by reference to the returns thereon on file in said cause;

That thereafter, on said 26th day of June, 1908, in the County Court of Wasco County, at The Dalles, Oregon, the said petition to sell said real estate came on for hearing upon said order to show cause and process as aforesaid; that at said hearing objections were made to the sale of said real estate by B. R. Tucker and others; that on motion of attorneys for petitioner, both of whom were present in court, the objections were overruled;

That certified copy of the order of the Superior Court of the State of Washington for King County, duly entered, in the matter of the adoption of said Tucker minors by Albert Cross Klaus and Cora Belle Klaus, their natural mother, was filed in said cause in the Wasco County Court, whereby the names of said minors where changed from Tucker to Klaus;

That at said time and place an order to sell said real estate was entered by Judge A. E. Lake, in said cause and court, authorizing and empowering the said guardian to sell said real estate from and after Thursday, the 30th day of July, 1908, as described in said petition and in said order of sale;

That at the general election of the State of Oregon, held June 1st, 1908; the electors of the State of Oregon carved out of Wasco County the County of Hood River, and that the Governor of the State of Oregon, on the 25th day of June, 1908, by official proclamation, proclaimed said County of Hood River as duly formed, and that on the 24th day of June, 1908, the Governor appointed the county officers;

That the real estate sought to be sold, is in the new County of Hood River, and State of Oregon, and that all the papers in said cause, and the cause itself, has been transferred to and is to proceed in said County of Hood River, State of Oregon;

That as said order of sale was entered by the Judge of the County of Wasco on the 26th day of June, 1908, on said order to show cause, returnable at said date, and as the said County of Hood River was organized on the 24th day of June, 1908, the question of the jurisdiction of the County Court of Wasco County, Judge A. E. Lake, to grant such order, is in doubt.

And the Court having heard the said motion, and being advised in the premises, and all the original papers in said cause having been transferred from the County of Wasco to the County of Hood River, and now produced before this Court in the City of Hood River and County of Hood River, State of Oregon, and the Court having examined the same and being advised in the premises, and having carefully considered the petition filed in said cause by Cora Belle Klaus, guardian, as aforesaid, on the 16th day of May, 1908, praying for the sale of the interests of her said wards in the real estate described in the said petition, to-wit:

First tract—The southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-seven (27), township (2) north, range ten (10) east Willamette Meridian, containing forty (40) acres, excepting thereout the following described portion thereof, heretofore sold and conveyed by order of said court viz:

Beginning at the corner to sections twenty-six (26) and twenty-seven (27), thirty-four (34) and thirty-five (35), township two (2) north, range ten (10) east of the Willamette Meridian; thence running north along the section line between sections twenty-six (26) and twenty-seven (27), ten (10) chains to an iron bar set for the northeast corner of the land herein described; thence run south parallel to the south boundary of section twenty-seven (27), ten (10) chains to an iron bar on the south boundary of section twenty-seven (27), set for the southwest corner of the land herein described; thence run north 89 degrees 57 minutes, east ten (10) chains to the southwest corner of said section twenty-seven (27), township two (2) north, range ten (10) east of the Willamette Meridian, after a survey made by John Leland Henderson, surveyor, in accordance with a former order of the County Court of Wasco County, Oregon.

Second tract—Commencing at the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-seven (27), in township (2) north of range ten (10) east of the Willamette Meridian running thence north thirty (30) rods, thence west eighty (80) rods, thence south thirty (30) rods, thence east eighty (80) rods to the place of beginning, containing fifteen (15) acres more or less; being situate in the County of Hood River (formerly Wasco) and State of Oregon.

And it appearing to the Court also, from the said petition, that the income from the estate of said minors is insufficient to maintain the said wards, and that it is for the best interests of said wards and necessary that said real estate should be sold, it is hereby ordered that the next of kin of the said wards, and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the Court on the 5th day of October, 1908, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court room of the County Court of Hood River County, Oregon, at the City of Hood River, in the said County of Hood River, State of Oregon, then and there to show cause, if any there be, why an order should not be granted for the sale of said real estate.

It is further ordered that a copy of said order shall be published for four successive weeks and five insertions, in the Hood River Glacier, a newspaper of general circulation, published weekly in the City of Hood River, County of Hood River, State of Oregon, and circulating in said County, the first issue of which publication shall be the 6th day of August, 1908, and the last publication of which shall be the 3d day of September, 1908, according to the statute in such cases made and provided.

Ordered this 3d day of August, 1908.

A. J. DERBY,
County Judge.
