EVENTS IN OREGON

Scientific Farm Methods Shown.
Portland.—More elaborate than any similar train ever run over a railroad in the Pacific Northwest will be the farming demonstration train to be operated through the Willamette Valley by the Southern Pacific Company in October, just announced by R. B. Miller, general freight agent for the Harriman lines in this territory. The train will be run under the direction of the Oregon Agricultural College, and Dr. James Withycombe, director of the Oregon Experiment Station, will be in charge. He will have a number of assistants, and lectures and demonstrations will be given that are calculated to improve farming conditions and methods.

A striking feature of the train will be a number of dairy cows that will be carried in special freight cars and housed in patent stalls. These animals will be high-class dairy cows and they will be milked at various stations by a compressed air milking machine that will be demonstrated to the farmers. The milk will be run through separators carried on the train and the various processes of dairymaking will be shown.

The cows will show the farmers the best types of dairy cattle and their proper care will be impressed upon the farmers by object lessons. There will be a number of cars given over to exhibits of various kinds that will be highly interesting to the farmers. Modern agricultural implements of every sort will occupy one car. An exhibit of grains and grasses will be carried. Material for horticultural instruction, showing the best methods of budding, grafting, pruning, spraying and packing fruit, will be carried, and a special series of object lessons will be given to show the farmers how to pack fruit commercially.

Hindoo Denied Papers.
Albany.—A Hindoo can never become a citizen of the United States. This is a ruling of the Bureau of Naturalization of the Department of Commerce and Labor on a test case from circuit court of Linn county.

Early this year David Son Kehar and Sham Wassan, two Hindoo laborers in a sawmill at Crawfordville, Linn county, applied to County Clerk J. W. Miller to file declarations of intention to become citizens. Their request was at first refused in spite of the fact that an attorney who represented them presented authorities to prove a native of India was a member of the Aryan race and consequently a "white person" within the meaning of the naturalization laws.

Miller communicated with the department at Washington, after which the declarations were taken. Duplicate copies of the declarations were forwarded to Washington and orders have been received to revoke the declarations of Kehar and Wassan.

Life Saved by Linen Duster.
Tillamook.—R. W. Watson, proprietor of the McMinnville-Tillamook auto-stage line, nearly lost his life last week by being precipitated into Trask river from the high bridge that spans the river at this place. It was only through the presence of mind of Andy Nolan, a Tillamook real estate agent, that he was saved. Nolan grabbed Watson just as he fell from the bridge by his linen duster, and tugged desperately at his 210 pounds of weight, Watson meanwhile swinging in the air.

Watson was in the automobile when he met a buggy. The horse backed completely off the bridge, but the buggy was caught and prevented from falling by the timbers of a new bridge alongside being built. In assisting the rig to rights Watson slipped and would have fallen 40 feet but for the quick action of Nolan.

Debs to Make Addresses.
Portland.—Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President, will reach Portland in his "Red Special" campaign train Monday, September 14, and deliver an address that night. Mr. Debs is accompanied by A. H. Stinson, editor of the Chicago Daily Socialist. This special train consists of four cars, decorated with oil paintings, bunting and slogans of the Socialist party.

Mr. Debs will spend two days in Oregon. He will enter the state from California Sunday, September 13, holding meetings that day at Ashland, Medford and Grants Pass. The following day half-hour meetings will be conducted at Roseburg, Eugene, Albany, Salem, Woodburn and Oregon City, in addition to the night meeting in Portland.

OREGON STATE NEWS IN BRIEF
A man named Crow, from Los Angeles, has offered to contribute $20, toward the improvement of the road from Marshfield to Roseburg.

A. L. Briggs, former president of the Drain State Normal School, has been elected to the faculty of the Monmouth Normal School. He is to fill the chair of mathematics.

While Mrs. Bernstein, who was prominent in Jewish charitable organization in Portland, was plucking flowers last week, a thorn penetrated one of her fingers, causing blood poisoning from which she died.

Ochocho lodge, No. 46, I. O. O. F., of Prineville, has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest of the person who recently mailed an anonymous letter to Rev. C. A. Housel, pastor of the Methodist Church of that city, threatening him with dynamite unless he left town.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Ackerman has completed the list of subjects selected for discussion before the County School Superintendents' convention, to be held at the Capitol building in Salem, September 10 and 11, and is sending them out to the superintendents of the several counties of the state.

Formal announcement has been made at the Governor's office of the appointment of George Nolan, an attorney at Klamath Falls, as successor to Judge Henry L. Benson, who resigned a few days ago to enter the practice of law at Klamath Falls. The appointment took effect September 1.

Forest Supervisor Ireland, who has returned from the fire area south of Bend, says three townships have been burned over, half of one township being swept clean and the others destroyed except for small patches here and there. Mr. Ireland says it was an unremitting fight night and day between 200 men and the flames, and the men conquered only after three weeks of the hardest kind of work, back firing being largely resorted to.

Miss Arlene Train, of Albany, has attained the distinction of being the first woman who ever scaled Otter Rock, a high, precipitous rock in the Pacific Ocean, ten miles north of Yaquina Bay. She was accompanied on the trip by Sam Dolan, of Albany, the Notre Dame University football player, who formerly won high honors with Albany College and the Oregon Agricultural College, and by "Sea Lion Charley" Anderson, a well-known boatman of Newport.

The annual session of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held in the First Methodist Church at Salem, beginning September 25. It is the time when the ministers of the denomination are called upon to give an official account of their stewardship for the year, and when the presiding bishop makes the assignments for the pulpits of the church throughout the four districts comprising the conference.

Jack Hamlin, a veteran hunter and trapper in the Cascade Range, sustained serious injuries last week by a deer. When about six miles out from Detroit, a frightened deer, evidently chased by a mountain lion or some other beast of prey, dashed madly into the trail and crashed head-on into the horse Hamlin was riding. The horse was knocked down and Hamlin was thrown underneath the horse and deer and trampled into unconsciousness. He lay in the trail several hours before assistance reached him.

An association of all of the apple-growers of Albany and vicinity was formed in that city last week. Its object is to pack and market all of the apple crop of that part of the state on a union basis. A corps of skilled packers, trained by the Willamette Valley Applegrowers' Association, will be employed to handle the crops of all growers. The regulations of the Willamette Valley Applegrowers' Association as to methods of packing and size of boxes were adopted by the new association. With the apples packed on a union basis, the first conflict over the fall fishing season will begin after the Washington state law permits fishing and the Oregon new law says that it is prohibited during the same period.

Fish Warden McAllister, of Oregon, has notified his deputies to enforce the law strictly and as the decisions of the Supreme Court state that each state has jurisdiction over the river from bank to bank, his deputies will be compelled to stop all fishing on the river. On the other hand, the Attorney-General of Washington has notified the holders of licenses from that state that they will be legally entitled to fish and if the Oregon officials interfere with them that he will give them all protection possible. This will result in the different laws being tested by a Federal court, and the indications are that eventually the Federal Government will take absolute charge of the fishing industries on the Columbia.

Joe is a former Crapperite and with his usual courtesy took P. H. around to the various points of interest in that vicinity. They made a special visit to the large apple orchard belonging to Mr. Lowensdale. If any other of Mr. Jordan's old Hood River friends will be pleased to call on him we will extend to them the same courtesy.
