NEW LINE OF FALL LADIES SHOES

LA VOGUE COATS STRIKE THE KEYNOTE OF STYLE

It is seldom that the best styles and moderate cost are combined—but in LA VOGUE Coats a distinctly characteristic and individual style-note is struck—at prices to please the possessor of a modest income as well as those in more favored circumstances. It takes judgment and thought to effect such a combination as exclusiveness and price inducement. That LA VOGUE makers possess both is evidenced by our superb showing of LA VOGUE Coats for Fall 1908-1909. Whether of short, three-quarter or full length, all LA VOGUE coats fit and hang perfectly. In the materials of which they are made, the trimmings used, the choice of color combinations, etc., LA VOGUE Coats demonstrate their supremacy over the ordinary "ready made" type of garment. The noteworthy array of LA VOGUE styles ready for your view will be a gratifying surprise—comprising all the latest modifications of Directoire styles, as well as strictly tailored effects, in the newest shade and color combinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall arrived home Tuesday and have gone to live in the residence which the former recently purchased and remodelled. In honor of their marriage a number of friends surprised them Wednesday evening taking a basket lunch, and after wishing them congratulations gave them a house warming. Married Under Difficulties. They wanted to get married, so they sought the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon, a hapless young man and a shy, blushing maiden from Portland. Of course County Clerk Angle would be happy to issue the papers, but as neither were from Wasco county he could not do so. He would be bride and groom hung around the clerk's office for about an hour with tears in their eyes as they pleaded with the churlish and hard-hearted county clerk for the necessary papers that would be used in making two fond hearts happy. Finally, they left for Stevenson, Washington, where the laws are different from those in Oregon and they are probably married by this time.—Chronicle. Notice. To whom it may concern, I hereby give notice that my wife, Jennie Egbert, has left my home and board and I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her. S. B. Egbert.
