

Hood River Glacier

Issued Every Thursday by ARTHUR D. MOE, Publisher. The owners of the Dallas water works are seriously contemplating installing meters to prevent misuse and waste of water.

Prosperity is certainly returning. A dispatch brings the cheerful information that Mr. John D. Rockefeller is having his barn painted.

A Philadelphia motorman has inherited $150,000, but refuses to give up his job. The pleasure of occasionally putting an automobile on the junk heap is worth more than mere fifty lucre.

In a speech at Seattle James J. Hill said that after the completion of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road there would not be room for another railroad north of the Platte river. He said more branches would be built but no more transcontinental lines would be needed.

Pendleton is to have a new depot, which will be built by the O. R. & N. Co. at a cost of $24,000. Although the largest city on the road east of Portland, the depot is an old ramshackle affair, and the proposed improvement will be appreciated by the citizens of that city as well as the traveling public.

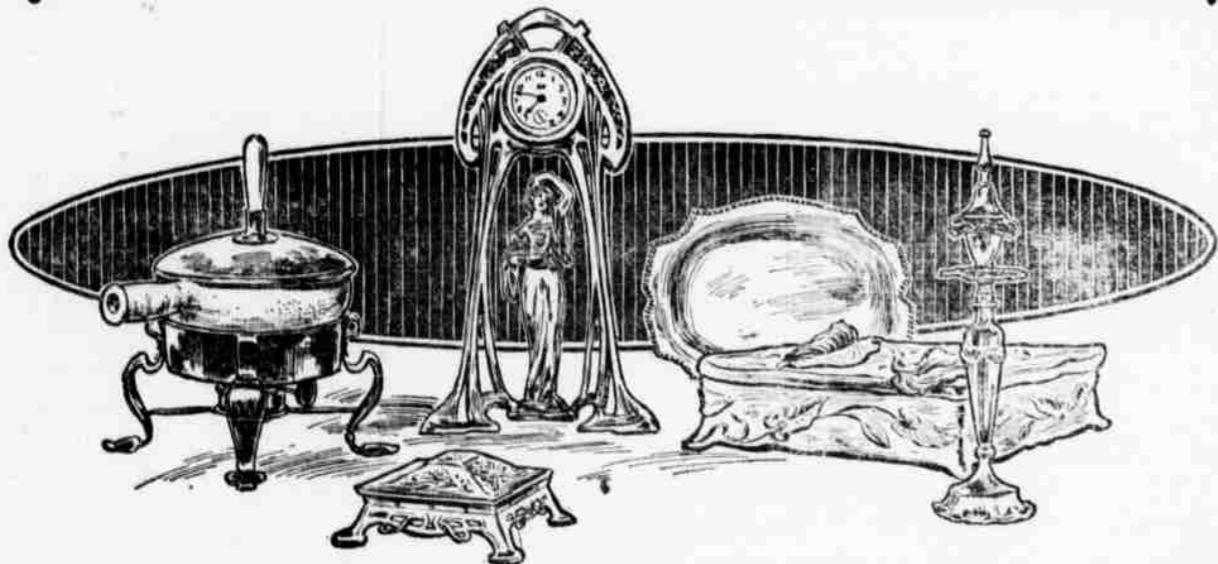

An advertiser of Hood River apple in the east, Steinhardt & Kelly was undoubtedly awarded the palm. They have heralded their fame by word of mouth, by letter and through the press as never before. Of course they have not been entirely unselfish in the matter which is natural, but nevertheless the result has been the same as if they had. Columns have appeared in the New York press about the famous fruit of our valley that could not have been secured for any amount of money and other big eastern cities have naturally had to sit up and take notice. Not satisfied with exploiting them in New York the great Metropolis of the Atlantic coast they were instrumental in placing the first exhibit of our fruit of which we have knowledge in Philadelphia. The benefits of their advertising campaign of Hood River's products will be many, but it also leads to the inevitable conclusion that this enterprising firm of apple buyers must be highly pleased with their bargain and that it must have proved a profitable one, so honors are even.

The national apple show at Spokane to be held December 7 to 12 will be largely an inland Empire show. The bulk of the prizes can only be computed for by growers in that section of the country, and there will probably be but few exhibits from Hood River. About the only prizes worth competing for that Hood River will be eligible to enter, is the carload prize and a few two-box and small displays. Many of the prizes are for apples of the commoner varieties which we do not try to raise, much less try to advertise as samples of Hood River product, and we are limited to small displays of four or five varieties. On account of the small chance of putting up a carload display, as the buyers of the apples do not care to have them delayed at Spokane in transit until the middle of December, with the risk of freezing.

or other damage. The show is projected and money raised by Inland Empire boosters, who have a perfect right to make it largely an exploitation of the products of that country but under the circumstances there is not much probability of Hood River being in the contest to any great extent. There is no doubt the show will be a fine one, and one well worth going a long way to see, and will be a success from a financial and advertising standpoint.

Will Make Exhibit in St. Paul.

H. W. Dickerson, of St. Paul, who recently bought 40 acres of the Van Horn place, has purchased a lot of mixed varieties of apples of the Hood River Apple Growers Union, which he will have shipped to the big Minnesota city. It is the intention of Mr. Dickerson to dispose of them here as she believes there is a fine sale for apples of the Hood River quality in that city. It is also Mr. Dickerson's intention to make an exhibit of a number of boxes of apples from the shipment in a large store window. He expects to return to St. Paul this week.

W. H. Thomas.

W. H. Thomas, an aged, well known and respected resident of the Belmont district died very suddenly Sunday morning of heart failure. Mr. Thomas was 71 years of age and had been a resident of Hood River valley for some time. He was an old soldier and is survived by his wife and seven children. Three of his children are residents of Sherman county and the other four reside at Hood River.

The funeral took place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the valley Christian church, Rev. McCormick officiating. Interment was in Idlewild Cemetery under the direction of J. E. Nichols and under the auspices of the G. A. R.

Lenz-Blount

The Catholic church was the scene of a beautiful wedding yesterday morning when Miss Elizabeth Bertha Lenz was united in marriage to Mr. Telford W. Blount, by Father Johann.

The church was decorated with flowers and greens and made a pretty background for the bride who wore a handsome gown of white swissese silk made dirndl and trimmed with meublin lace. She wore a liberty satin sash with bows at the end. Her tulle veil was fastened to her hair with a wreath of white flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations.

Her maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Mohr, wore a striking princess gown of white Mohair trimmed with pink liberty silk ruchings and she wore pink rosettes in her hair and carried a beautiful bunch of pink carnations. The best man was the bride's brother, Joe Lenz.

Proceeding and during the ceremony, Mrs. C. D. Hinrichs played the wedding music, which ended in Mendelssohn's Triumphant Wedding March.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal party and immediate relatives only went to the groom's home for the wedding breakfast. The house was beautifully decorated for the happy occasion.

Today Mrs. Anna Lenz, mother of the bride, will give a banquet at her country home at Odell and covers will be laid for over fifty. This evening there will be a reception at the bride's home for the many friends of the happy couple to meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Blount will reside with the groom's parents and will be at home after January the first.

Turkeys Scarce and High

Turkeys this year in Hood River were at a premium and the ruling prices were from 30 to 35 cents with the demand far greater than the supply. In Portland the supply was so small that the Oregonians says someone in Portland may have to go without turkey this Thanksgiving. The supply, as was feared, proved small for the growing trade of the city, so purchasers would do well to get out early this morning and do their buying, if they have not already done so.

Because of the shortage, prices are high—27 1/2 to 30 cents a pound at retail—but, judging from the way business was booming at the markets yesterday, Portlanders do not begrudge paying this steep price for the royal bird.

The Oregon turkey crop this year was the largest ever produced, but the supply available for the Thanksgiving trade was reduced by the purchase several weeks ago of over three thousand turkeys by the Government for the use of the troops in the Philippines. That left just about the same quantity available for Portland as was on hand last year. The demand, however, is much stronger this year. One year ago, with the bank troubles everywhere, things looked a little hazy in a financial way, and not everybody cared for turkey. This year it is different, and if any one does not eat turkey to day it will be because there are not enough to go around.

The wholesale people got through with their part of the game yesterday. The front street dealers did not handle as many birds as usual, because a large packing firm cut into the business. These packers declare they handled over half of the supply that was sold here. They had to turn down orders yesterday for 2000 turkeys and the front street dealers had orders for about 1000 that they could not fill. With the demand greater than the supply, the wholesale price steadily advanced from 22 cents quoted on the street Tuesday morning, to 26 cents, asked by the packers yesterday afternoon.

The total receipts of dressed turkeys in the past three days were about 250,000 pounds. A good part of this was shipped out to other markets in the filling of early orders.

Double Whist Party Event

A pleasant double social event that took place last Thursday and Friday evenings was given by Mrs. E. A. Franz and Mrs. Derrilla Jackson at the handsome home of the former. Whist was played both evenings. The decorations were Oregon grape and holly berries and produced a very beautiful effect. Dainty refreshments were served. The winners of the favors the first evening were W. F. Laraway and Mrs. J. Van Neice Bandy and on the second evening Mrs. H. D. W. Pineo and C. E. Markham were the fortunate ones.

Gave Fine Entertainment

George Gilbert Bancroft who lectured here Tuesday and Wednesday evenings under the auspices of the Christian Church gave a very superior entertainment. Mr. Bancroft had his audience with him from the start and delighted them with his wit, humor and pathos. In addition to entertaining them in a lighter vein he told some truths that brought home to them facts that brought conviction. Both nights he was greeted by many hearers who were more than well pleased with his lectures.

Mrs. M. E. Daggett, of Portland is the guest of Mrs. Alma Howe for Thanksgiving.

Wm. Haynes, formerly of Hood River, but now of Portland, came up this week to spend Thanksgiving here. Warren Wells was recently offered $27,000 for his place on the east side but refused to entertain the proposition.

Robt. Wright, an aged resident of Westport, who has been sick here for some time was brought up from there Wednesday and taken to the hospital.

Mike Welch has secured the agency in this district for the National Live Stock Association and reports that he is doing considerable business.

A shoot that was advertised to take place on the flat below the railroad station during the early part of the week attracted many sportsmen. The trophies were geese and ducks as turkeys were too scarce to be supplied.

Friends in this city who have heard from Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Frank who are traveling in California state that they were recently in San Francisco and will spend the winter in the Golden State. They expect to spend their time at various places in the state.
