They will also later carry a stock of confectionery and fruits and enlarge their supply of bakery goods.

CLEVER SWINDLER PICKS UP $300

Several hundred Hood River residents became apprised of the fact Monday that they had been swindled out of several hundred dollars by a clever sharper who gave the name of J. R. Boyd, and who represented himself as the agent of a magazine subscription agency in Salina, Kan.

The knowledge of the wholesale swindle was made known through several letters received here from publishing houses that disclaimed all knowledge of Boyd or the Wilson Magazine Agency, which he claimed he was representing, and advised the writers of the letters who had entered a protest because they had not received the magazine they subscribed for that they would not be forthcoming unless the subscription price was forwarded.

It is said by one of the many victims that Boyd came here about the latter part of November and offered magazines at cut rates. He claimed to be a mute and had several printed cards which he handed to his prospective victims. As it was about the time of year when many subscribers to magazines renew their subscriptions, he did a big business and is estimated to have cleaned up about $300.

The stormy days this week have given them a good opportunity to work uninterrupted as business has been very quiet.

Feed Yard for Ranchers

The feed yard which F. W. McReynolds has been building is now ready for business and will no doubt fill a long felt want for ranchers who have at times had no place to tie their horses under cover during wet or cold weather. The new yard is situated opposite Lucky's blacksmith shop and is provided with long sheds and feed boxes are to be provided. Mr. McReynolds has placed a man in charge who is on duty day and night to look after the teams. Any kind of feed that is desired can be obtained and many ranchers are taking advantage to the new accommodations for their horses.

"Ben Hur" at the Hellig Theatre.

Towering triumphantly as the most massive and picturesque as well as the most impressive dramatic spectacle in the history of the world, "Ben Hur" will seek new honors at the Hellig Theatre, Portland, Oregon, on Monday evening January 18, where it will remain for an engagement of one week. In addition to the regular evening performances, special matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

Of all spectacular productions of modern times, none has been credited with so long a run of prosperity as this great and popular dramatic spectacle "Ben-Hur" is today crowned with a record of more than 2500 performances in America and 200 in London, in a little over nine years, and has been seen by more than seven million people. The success of the play is credited to the religious sentiment that prevails in the theme, making it particularly attractive to the non-theatregoer, who as a rule avoids the playhouse, owing to religious scruples.

"Ben-Hur" has the endorsements of the leading lights of the church world and has appealed to all theatregoers as the most powerful drama that has ever been created for the stage.

Wallace had few peers and no superiors in the art of presenting to the eye the imagery of scriptural scenes. In "Ben-Hur," his masterpiece, he gives the life, the color, the feeling, of the time of Christ. With these he presents an intense heart story, a heroic drama, filled with the tenderest emotions, tinged with the romance of love and war, exalted by the evidence of Divine miracles performed by the Nazarene. Although the sacred presence is not shown, it is felt, and throughout the play runs the strong undercurrent of religious feeling which distinguishes "Ben-Hur" from all other dramatic offerings based on Biblical themes. The symbolism of Rome and Jerusalem, of Jew and Gentile, of peace and war, are shown, surrounding the great mystery of the presence of Christ. Each scene unfolds as a perfect picture, the whole blending in a living pageant.

In order to take care of out-of-town patrons for "Ben Hur," Manager Calvin Hellig, of the Hellig Theatre, will fill mail orders in accordance with date of their receipt, when accompanied by remittance. The sale of prices will range from 50 cents to $2.00. Seats will go on sale Thursday, January 14.

Starr-Watson

Miss Anna Starr, who has been employed as a waitress at the Mount Hood Hotel for some time and Wm. Watson, of Seattle were married in the city on Saturday January 2, by at C. Buck, Justice of the peace. Mr. Watson had been staying at the hotel for some time and the couple were given a very lively skimmelon by some of the boarders Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Watson left for Seattle Wednesday morning.

Jackson-tierking.

David M. Jackson and Miss Mary C. Gerking were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gerking, at Pine Grove at high noon on Christmas Day in the presence of a number of relatives and intimate friends.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. S. White and took place on the thirty second anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents. To commemorate that occasion, Miss Gerking wore some lace that had been worn by her mother at her wedding.

The bride was gowned in white and carried a bouquet of white carnations and the bridesmaid, who was Miss Florence Wilcox, carried pink carnations. The groom was attired in the conventional black and his groomsmen were Mr. Joseph Gerking. The room in which the ceremony took place was decorated in evergreens.

After receiving the congratulations and best wishes of the wedding party an elaborate lunch was served and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left later on the evening train for Portland where they were the guests of Mrs. Angie Junkin, Mrs. Jackson's aunt, for several days, and then went to White Salmon as the guests of Mrs. E. H. Dress, Mrs. Jackson's sister.

Mr. Jackson is well known here being the son of Capt. E. M. Jackson and on their return he and his bride will take up their residence on his place adjoining that of his father. The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents. Among those present at the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lage, Miss Florence Wilson, White Salmon, Robt. Foley and Lawrence Gerdes.
