SECOND ANNUAL BANQUET
GIVEN BY BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION

Affair Was Well Attended, Well Planned, and Thoroughly Enjoyed.

The second annual banquet under the auspices of the Business Men's Association was held at the Odd Fellows Hall Tuesday evening, and the affair rather eclipsed the one of a year ago held at the same place.

Covers were laid for eighty guests, and when the hour arrived for the feast not a seat was vacant.

Frank A. Cram, president of the association, was toastmaster of the evening, and after coffee and cigars called the meeting to order and in a few well chosen words made the address of welcome and introduced the first speaker of the evening, Chas. H. Merrick, of Portland, secretary of the state association.

Mr. Merrick's remarks were largely of the work of the association throughout the state, stating its objects, benefits and the good which it had accomplished not only for the merchants but the communities as well. He said that he was not surprised at anything in Hood River. Hood River had done more to make Oregon famous than any other community in the state, and it had done so largely through organization. Boosting prices as an object of the association was a mistaken idea. The greatest benefit came by personal acquaintance and contact with each other. The business man upon acquaintance with his competitor finds that he is not such a bad fellow after all. Price cutting and credits are not the only problems of organization. Getting acquainted is the greatest benefit. Endeavor to build the business up by a square deal. The local paper is the best aid to success. Advertise in it, and tell your customers what you have to sell. The merchant complains of the mail order house, but he should not send away for goods himself which he can buy at home. The association should take up this matter with their own members. Another proposition is credit. It is the bane of the modern business man. Fully 75 per cent of business is done on credit. Fortunes are lost because collections cannot be made promptly. Peddlers who come into the country and pick up business are an injury. They pay no taxes, contribute nothing to the schools or other enterprises of the towns, and should not be allowed. We have this year succeeded in getting through some legislation on this subject. We have now the best law in the United States. Half of a man's wages can be now taken for family expenses. Salaries of public officials can also be garnished. It is now a misdemeanor to misrepresent goods in advertisements. These are good laws and will be a great benefit to the community. Hood River business men are well organized, but they had to do it to keep pace with the farmers.

A solo from Paul Hubbard was the next on the program, and was well received. Mr. Hubbard responding to the cheers.

Rev. J. G. Tate was introduced by President Cram as Farmer Tate, with the warning that the merchants might expect a roast from the farmers' viewpoint. Mr. Tate said he was expected to roast, and there were a few things he would talk plain about. However, when the farmer had anything to buy he was anti-monopoly, and when he had something to sell he was a monopolist. Yet the merchant is a friend in the basis of close business relations. He and it was very convenient for the farmer to have a place to buy supplies at home, and also to get credit when he needed it. Confidence is the basis of good business relations. Extraneous leads to the mail order house, and it is a mighty poor place. In the end it does not pay. The farmer sometimes sells produce which is not as represented, and he is a good customer of yours, and you let it go, but you cannot afford to keep a customer at that price who is not honest, any more than you can afford to sell goods not as represented. The retail merchant carries us when we need it, but not the mail order house. Friendship is the basis of close business relations. Right here I want to say, clean up your streets. You should have roads that can be traveled, so we can get to it to trade.

E. H. Hartwig secretary of the association, made an earnest appeal on behalf of organization and spoke of some of the benefits that had been derived. For one thing it had brought about early closing, so that the merchant could have some time to devote to his family entertainments and mental recreation. The merchant should have some time outside of his business.

Truman Butler was called upon, and after a few remarks told one of his stories that always seem to fit the right place, and made a pleasant diversion from the more serious turn.

J. Adrian Epping rendered a solo which was loudly applauded, and for an encore told a couple humorous yarns that pleased.

E. Howard, the Rockford merchant, after reminding Farmer Tate that the roads at Rockford were good and built on a solid foundation, settled down to the subject of character and honesty in business, and close attention was paid to his address.

Fred Wilson, of The Dalles prosecuting attorney for this district, was the last speaker on the program, and with his usual eloquence made a brief talk, which was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Wilson said that Hood River must be looked upon with envy. He was proud of the fact that he had an interest in a Hood River orchard. The Dalles looked upon Hood River with pride and all fair-minded men rejoiced in its prosperity. We do not realize the future that is before us. He knew of no place where the advantages of nature were so great. In regard to bad roads, The Dalles were as bad off, and were now reeling with the paving proposition for themselves. He played a naive quartette, composed of L. Darling, first tenor; G. A. Clarke, second tenor; Paul Hubbard, first bass, and Ed Root, second bass, sang a couple of songs, which were loudly applauded, and this concluded the entertainment of the evening.

The committee of arrangements which so successfully carried out the affair were: D. McDonald, G. A. Clarke, W. McQuire, E. A. Franz and R. W. Perigo.

The magnificent banquet provided was furnished by the ladies of the Christian church, and many compliments were paid the ladies for the very fine spread, as well as the excellent way in which it was served.

The table decorations were pleasing, a new idea being the substitution of the candles or small globes set on the tables, with a large number of the library electric lamps.

FIVE LAWYERS IN CABINET
Wants Help in Constitutional Correction of Corporate Abuses.
Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—President-elect Taft arrived here Sunday morning from Cincinnati and with Mrs. Taft, who came from New York to join him, is the guest of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. A conference took place between the President-elect and Frank H. Hitchcock, who came here at the request of Mr. Taft.

Mr. Taft admits he is making headway in the selection of a secretary of the treasury, but maintains that the place is not yet filled. In

MEANS MUCH TO HOOD RIVER

Finest Equipped Machine Shop in Oregon Outside of Portland.

The Hood River Manufacturing Engineering Co. are ready for business, and have installed the finest machinery in the state this side of Portland. They will at once begin the manufacture of the Luckey patents, the ball bearing hub and lock nut.

The plant, however, has been equipped with the idea of doing any kind of work that can be handled by a machine shop, from the smallest to the largest job, and expert mechanics are in charge to do the work with neatness and dispatch. The company have been fortunate in securing the services of E. A. Hanson, who has been superintendent of a large plant in Denver for many years. Mr. Hanson is not only an expert machinist, but a draftsman, and in making special machines for the manufacture of the Luckey patents or other work, can work out the ideas on paper.

One of the new machines which has attracted the attention of mechanics and been much admired, is the Cincinnati Universal Milling Machine, which is the most complete machine of its kind made. It is a wonderful machine and with it, in conjunction with the lathe, almost any shape can be worked out in iron and steel, with absolute accuracy. It will plane metal, cut gears, threads, eccentrics, and do a hundred things necessary in making machinery and tools.

In addition to this is an improved lathe with all modern attachments, a large iron drill, cutter grinder for sharpening milling machine tools, emery grinder, etc. A new machine is for the purpose of turning out the hub on a buggy wheel for the putting on of the ball bearing attachment. By the aid of this machine the attachment can be put on the wheel of any vehicle without even marring the paint.

In speaking of the enterprise, J. J. Luckey says: "Hood River will have no cause to complain of this new enterprise. We have not asked the city for any help, have not asked the Commercial Club for any aid, yet we expect to have an industry built up which will employ a thousand men. We have additional ground here to build a large factory, and will do so when the business warrants. I have a standing offer of $20,000 to move this plant to another city, but prefer to stay in Hood River if we get proper encouragement."

The manufacturing plant is a separate corporation from the Luckey patents, and will make the ball bearing hub and lock nut for the other company. It will also be prepared to do manufacturing or repair work of any kind in the machine and iron line, and it will be a good addition to the other shops of this kind already established on a more moderate scale.

Manufacturing enterprises are what the city needs as much as anything to build up the town. The growth of the city on account of the Iron industry will always be limited, but factories with a large payroll will develop the place along other lines and make it a city of liberal proportions. With plenty of power, developed and undeveloped, ideal conditions for residence, good transportation facilities and close proximity to railroad terminals, it should offer special inducements to the location of manufacturing enterprises. To Mr. Luckey and the enterprising local business men who have put money into his project, is due the credit of establishing the nucleus of a business which has every promise of developing into a big thing, not only for the company but the city.

Nason-Holmes.
William W. Nason has become a benedict. He has sprung a surprise on his friends by quietly going east and getting married. The following account is given in the Hillsboro, Ohio, Dispatch of January 25:
"A very beautiful home wedding took place at high noon at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Holmes when Mr. Will W. Nason was united in holy matrimony to Miss Laura Holmes, Dr. Jas. R. Colley performing the ceremony. The bride wore a lovely dress of messaline satin, color carried a magnificent bouquet of white roses. After an elegant four-course dinner the young folks started on their honeymoon trip to Brunswick, Maine, the home of the bridegroom's parents, from thence they go to his home at Hood River, Oregon.

The entire Holmes orchard was present, including Mrs. Walton, from Milo, Iowa, and other guests were Miss Fallon, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Colley, of Hillsboro. We wish the young folks Bon Voyage.

Private letters to friends from Mr. Nason state that they are enjoying a visit at his old home in Maine, and will be back in Hood River in the near future.

George T. Prather Returns
George T. Prather returned the last of the week from his California trip much improved in health. He spent most of the time in southern California from Los Angeles to San Diego, meeting Mr. and Mrs. Shelley at the latter place.

Mr. Prather says that after seeing that much boomed country he thinks more of Hood River than he did before, and values his orchard land as he says that the roads in that country are almost impassable. Outside of a few thoroughfares east of Los Angeles built by the millionaires, it is almost impossible to pull loads on the less traveled roads, and that he saw through hazy hub deep in some of the streets of Los Angeles. Climate is the chief asset of California and tourists the principal crop.

Notice
Annual meeting of the East Fork Irrigating Company will be held at the Commercial Club rooms at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, March 13th. It is requested that there be a large attendance. By order Board of Directors.
R. H. Wany, Secretary.

GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM.
George W. Wickersham, who will be President Taft's attorney-general is one of the leading members of the New York City bar.

the list of cabinet appointments Mr. Taft has heretofore announced there are five lawyers. It may be stated that this fact is not a mere coincidence but is an accomplishment which has been carefully planned and striven for by the incoming President. Constitutional legal restrictions on corporate abuses are the accomplishments he will strive for.

"DRY FARMING" CONGRESS
Aims at Making Arid Western Lands More Productive.
Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 23.—More than a thousand delegates, representing every state in the west and several foreign countries, were present at the opening today of the third annual transmississippi dry farming congress in the Capitol Avenue theater.

Although the movement to bring together the tillers of the arid lands of the west is only three years old and its formal organization dates from last year's congress, it already ranks in importance with the national irrigation congress and the transmississippi commercial congress. The purpose of the congress is the discussion and comparison of methods by which the arid districts can be placed under tillage and the natural rainfall conserved.

Paying Honor to Father George.
Washington, Feb. 22.—Although the celebration of the centennial of the birth of Lincoln has overshadowed the birthday of George Washington, the usual honors are being paid today to the memory of the Father of his country. As a legal holiday today is far more widely observed than Lincoln day, since the adoption of the latter day as a holiday has not become general in the greater part of the states. Washington's birthday is a legal holiday in every state except Mississippi. There, as elsewhere, the day is observed with exercises in the public schools.

Lewiston, Feb. 23.—Plans are under way for holding a pioneer reunion in Lewiston on March 3, that being the date on which Idaho was made a territory. Lewiston was the first seat of the territorial government and among the residents of the city at this time are a number who were here when the first territorial council was called to order.

RIOT AND PILLAGE IN OMAHA
Scores Injured, Homes Burned or Wrecked.
Omaha, Neb., Feb. 22.—Following a harangue at a mass meeting in the city hall, in South Omaha, Sunday afternoon, at which two members of the state legislature and an attorney were the principal speakers, a wild mob of 800 or 1000 men started for the Greek quarter to avenge the death of Patrolman Edward Lowery, who was shot and killed Friday night by a Greek whom he had placed under arrest.

Before their thirst for blood had been satisfied more than 30 buildings were burned, wrecked or badly damaged and probably a score of persons injured, half that number seriously. By heroic work the police have prevented actual loss of life.
