Nap-a-tan Shoes keep dry feet

"NOW THAT'S A CINCH."

Others can worm, others can squirm, but the fact remains FRANK A. CRAM is the only dealer in Hood River who has the Nap-a-tan Shoes to actually deliver to you. They tell you "it's Nap-a-tan leather;" they tell you "it's just as good;" they tell you genuine Nap-a-tans "are too expensive;" but I tell you I have the goods, because they "keep dry feet."

THE ATHLETES ARE WORKING OUT

The Hood River Amateur Athletic Club is a reality. The gymnasium which has been fitted up in the back room of the Kamoon Hotel attracts a large bunch of the members every evening and the sounds of the boxers pummeling one another and the thuds of the wrestlers on the mat proclaim the fact that something is doing. One batch of the gymnasium apparatus has arrived and has been installed and the rest of it is expected the latter part of the week.
J. Grant, who is the instructor in the many art of self-defense, has formed classes in boxing and wreting and the members are taking a great interest. F. H. Irwin, formerly instructor in gymnastics at Washington and Jefferson College, is forming classes for the regular physical culture courses. He has enrolled a number of younger boys for this work who will be given the privileges of the club afterwards and the instruction for a small fee. Mr. Irwin is an expert gymnast and understands the work. He will not only lead classes but will give special individual attention to the proper physical development of the members.
The building is being equipped for a gymnasium although the club does not expect to be located there permanently. There are two new buildings to be built during the year, which will be constructed for a permanent home of the club providing the membership becomes large enough to insure support. In the present building dressing rooms have been instead and a shower bath will be put in. The club weights are here and are being used. There is a movement on foot to consolidate the athletic club with the Commercial Club in order that the members of the two organizations may share the advantages.

The Man Who Don't Advertise.
The business man who does not advertise simply because his grandfather did not, should wear knee breeches and a queue. The business man who does not advertise because it costs money, should quit paying salaries for the same reason.

The business man who does not advertise because somebody said it did not pay, should not believe the world is round because the ancients said it was flat.
The business man who does not advertise because he can not know absolutely that it is going to pay, should commit suicide to avoid being killed by an accident.
Lafean Hill Pigeonholed.
According to a dispatch from the Oregonian News Bureau in Washington, the Latham apple package bill, which is being opposed by the growers of the northwest, has been pigeonholed in committee and stands little chance of passing. Congressman Hasley, of this state, is a member of the committee on Agriculture, and should a move be made to report it to the house he will summon the Oregon growers to show that it is unfair to this part of the country.

Husum is on the Map.
There is only one Tom Richardson, but at Husum, Wash., is a man who is in training for his place, and if we are not mistaken will get before the year is out. Husum is a house. It is perched on one side of a precipitous canyon about 500 feet wide. The canyon is in one of the most out of the way parts of the world, and Husum is in the exact center of it. A dozen or 20 families live out an existence in the canyon within as many miles of Husum. Yet the man who lives in the house that is called Husum, has made it the best advertised city in three states. You can't pick up a Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane or Boise paper which hasn't one or more circumstantial accounts of the mad whirl that is called life in Husum. There are more "slug heads" over Husum date lines than over any other in the world except London, New York and Washington. We take all our hat to the population of Husum, and we are glad to note that his efforts to boost his town are meeting with the reward they deserve. A wood shed is to be built back of the house at Husum this spring, thus almost doubling the size of the city at one fell swoop. Next year an acre of ground will be cleared and it is rumored that the year after foreign capital will be enlisted in a scheme to grow a crop of turnips on the land.—Yakima Republic.

DEBATE WITH PARK-PLACE SATURDAY

The Hood River High School debaters will meet Park-Place High School in a debate on Capital Punishment at the opera house Saturday night. The local team will be composed of Eva Brock, Merrill Geisling and Helen Orr. The students have been sinking their teeth into the matter since they met the Dalles a few weeks ago and an interesting discussion is promised for Saturday night. This is the second of the series of interscholastic debates. Tillamook was to have been met at the same time but owing to a misunderstanding they used the present question in their preliminary debate and were ruled out of the present contest. As Park-Place is only a mile out on the place team, Herbert Phillips, Burton Joyce and Ed Le Spaulding, who compose the other team, will go there a week later. The debate will be held at 8 o'clock and the party will go as far south as Los Angeles.

Christmas Shopping Scheme.

The following from a Portland paper gives a line on how the "apple king" did his Christmas shopping:
One man solved the Christmas shopping neatly. This was Oscar Vanderblow, the apple man of Hood River. Oscar blew into Portland with a list of a dozen people he wanted to remember. Going to a department store he went to one of the young women and said:
"Here is two dollars and fifty cents. I want you to take this money for my trouble. Then I want you to take this list of people and pick out something for each one, paying the price set opposite each name. You wrap, stamp and send the bundles; this check will cover the total, and don't want to hear any more about it."
The girl accepted, but the price of $2.50 for selecting presents for a dozen people is not just compensation. Vanderblow might at least have given the girl one Hood River apple for the work.
Easterners Admire Apples.
Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bales, of this city, the first of the week, received a very much appreciated present from Mrs. Bales' brother, James B. Hunt, of Hood River, Ore.
It was a package of the famous Hood River apples, and consisted of all the varieties that make the country famous. The apples were perfect specimens of fruit, and all were wrapped in paper, like the most selected varieties of oranges.
The apples were grown on land worth $100 per acre at such orchard must yield that value in fruit, per acre each year, or the orchardist feels that he is losing money.
The choicest apples in that part of the country are sold by the pound instead of by the bushel. For commercial uses the apples are sorted and sold at so much per box—Auburn (Neb) News.

MARVEKOUS HEALING SPRINGS OF PASO ROBLES

THE ATTENTION OF THE WORLD ATTRACTED.
California Has Astounded the Entire Medical World with Her Great Hot Springs.
When Admiral Evans was taken from his feet and placed at Paso Robles to be cured of his aggravated case of rheumatism, the whole world marvelled, but when after three weeks' sojourn he was placed once more on his feet, the command of his fleet, the amazing magic of Paso Robles was understood.
These springs are now being spoken of and investigated by the leading medical men of every country.
The early Indian used to carry his sick over plain and desert to be healed at Paso Robles; then came Padre Junipero Serra (1767) with his associates, the holy Franciscan brethren, and the cures of the springs became as miracles when in written form they went home in reports to Spain. Then came the pioneers and the building up of California until with the prominence of Admiral Evans' visit the entire world has at last awakened to the realization of what these springs really accomplish.
In cases of rheumatism, gout, kidney, stomach, organic and neurotic diseases these springs act with absolute and unfailing success. Men and women, in every degree of rheumatism, come to Paso Robles, and from all walks of life. Here one can see the rich, the poor, the bank president and the laborer making the same pilgrimage after health, and Paso Robles does not disappoint them.
Men so bent and doubled up with rheumatism that the slightest movement makes them scream with pain, leave Paso Robles after short treatment in a state of health one could scarcely understand.
The bath house is the finest in the world. If one suffers from ill health, no matter what condition it may be, Paso Robles should be visited at once. The condition of your purse should not make you hesitate. The rich man can secure all the luxuries he desires and the poor man may live well on a small amount.
A small book, neatly illustrated, has been recently published by the management telling of the story of the Hot Springs in a most interesting manner and giving complete information. Send for it, either to Wm. McMurray, General Passenger Agent of the O. R. & N., Portland, Ore., or Dr. F. W. Sawyer, Manager, Paso Robles, Cal.
