

DON'T HURRY! DON'T WORRY!

The Winter has stuck rather persistently, but think of the time we will have in the joyous days of Spring time. This is a good world anyhow. It might be a whole lot worse, but it isn't. So during these days when you cannot get out, do your spring sewing, and be happy. We will take care of your telephone orders and use our best judgment in filling them.

So Let Us Be Cheerful

WATER GRANTED FOR 2000 ACRES

The Dee Irrigation & Power company has been granted water from the West Fork of Hood River by State Engineer Lewis to use in irrigating about 2,000 acres of land between the West and East-Middle Forks of Hood River. This water was under dispute last fall when W. K. Winans filed claims on the same stream claiming that he needed all the water for a $1,000,000 power plant which he proposed to put in at Winans. However nothing has been heard of his scheme lately and the Dee company has been granted what it asked for.
The Dee company has completed about two-thirds of the main ditch and as soon as the weather will permit work will be commenced this spring and it is expected that the ditch will be completed by June 1. The land which will be served by the Dee company is an area which was logged off by the Oregon Lumber Company. It has been subdivided into small tracts and a large amount of it is already set to trees. A number of the orchardists in that district are expecting to put in strawberries next year when there will be plenty of water to irrigate them.
Goff Sells to Davidson.
E. E. Goff has sold his stock in the Hood River Electric Light, Power & Water Company to H. F. Davidson, president of the company, who already held the controlling interest in the corporation. Mr. Davidson now owns approximately 87 per cent of the stock of the corporation and the other 13 per cent is owned by N. C. Evans. Mr. Goff has been here for about four years and has had charge of the electric department of the water and light company. He expects to leave Hood River shortly and has not decided where he will locate.

HOTEL PLANNED BY C. A. BELL

According to plans which are now being drawn by Architect Albert Sutton, C. A. Bell, proprietor of the Mt. Hood hotel will soon begin the erection of a fine new hotel building at the southeast corner of Cascade avenue and Second streets. The new structure will be of brick and steel, three stories high and will practically cover the quarter block being 100 by 28 feet. The architecture will be of the French Renaissance style and the exterior will have a dark buff brick facing with a trimming of lighter brick. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $35,000.
The ground floor will have besides the lobby, dining room and sample room of the hotel, five store rooms. The entrance will be on Cascade avenue through a tiled and marble vestibule into the commodious lobby, which will have a tiled floor with wainscoting and a beamed ceiling. The dining room which will be on the east side of the building so that it may be served from the present kitchen of the Mt. Hood hotel, will have a big fireplace as will the lobby. A billiard room for ladies will be one of the features of the new hotel.
The two upper floors will each have 26 rooms which will be hot and cold water and telephones. Adjoining the rooms will be 16 private baths. The whole building will be steam heated and electrically equipped. There will be a freight elevator to handle baggage.
Mr. Bell expects to run the new hotel separate from the old, although the whole building will be steam heated and electrically equipped. The new hotel which is expected to complete by the autumn, will be run on the European plan throughout while the old hotel will be conducted along the same lines as at present. No change in the new hotel has yet been made public.

Feed The Birds.
A little black-headed snowbird flitted down to the back porch under cover, while all outside, ground, roof and trees, was covered with a mantle of snow. If he didn't say, he might have said, while casting his eye up to the kitchen window, "The folks inside have breakfasted, the horses and the cow at the barn have had their ration, the hens under the shed have had their wants supplied, but where do I come in? I'm one of the members of these family premises; I, and my little feathered friend, the brown thrasher, looking wishfully from a nearby cherry tree. The fruit grower and the farmer have no better friends than we. Nearly all the pests that you are fighting in your orchards, we, too, help to destroy. The seeds of the noxious weeds also form a part of our simple food, and we do you little, if any harm. Why not give us just a little attention? A handful of cornmeal, coarse Graham, rolled oats or rolled wheat will last a half dozen of us all day, but when it's gone give us a little more; it won't cost more than a cent. But, mind you, be sure and place it where the cat can't spring upon us, the dog can't lick us, as well you. We'll pay you back and more too during the coming season."
The gist of this colloquial presentation of the matter is: we should feed the birds; to do so is just; it is humane; it is politic. A great percentage of the feathered tribes are our friends and benefactors. A noted ornithologist has said: "Destroy all the birds and in a few years the pests would cover the world."
Do not let the birds perish for the want of food, as some did during the previous storm.
J. L. Carter.

Stockholders Call Meeting.
The directors of the Farmers' Irrigating Co. have called a meeting of the stockholders of the company to be held in the K. of P. hall at 10 a. m. Saturday, March 5. They also ask for an estimate of the cost of reconstruction of the ditches and flumes of the company. They want this report to be made at a later meeting of the stockholders.
