WHAT IS A REPUBLICAN?

The primary election which is called for Saturday afternoon will answer the above question for the State of Oregon. At least, it will furnish a definition which may be applied to the majority of the voters who have called themselves Republicans when they registered. If the election results in the nomination of candidates to appear on the Republican ticket at the coming general election who were selected by the delegates Republicans in party assembly, the answer will be that a Republican is a citizen who believes in the principles which the Republican party has stood for, who believes in maintaining the integrity of the party organization, who believes in nominating for office, men pledged to carry out the principle of the party platform and men who have the endorsement of an organized party which will stand or fall by their actions. If the election results in the defeat of the candidates who were nominated by the assembly, the answer will be that a Republican may be any man of legal voting age, whose political principles may be anything or nothing, who believes in strengthening parties instead of strengthening them by his support, who believes in nominating for office any man, who happens to want office, who has the endorsement of his own self-important ego and who is responsible to no party for the proper discharge of his duties. The first definition means something to every person. It means that the Republican party will live in Oregon to support the Republican party of the nation which has given the wide-spread prosperity now prevalent. The second definition means nothing. The assembly candidates are pledged to carry out the principles outlined in a platform adopted by 1200 leading Republicans of Oregon and if elected they will carry out those principles. The mass of other candidates have all announced their hobbies and they are riding them to their finish. If elected, there will be in the state offices a group of men standing for many different principles some good and some bad. They will work at cross purposes and accomplish little except the disorganization of the state's affairs. They will have got what they were after, the right to hold office, and having got it they will look for nothing more. Neither will they be responsible to a party whose future success depends on their good administration of the affairs of state and whose candidates in the future will be pledged to carry through to a successful end works started by them. The coming primary is vital to Oregon and on its result depends the proper administration of the state government.

The total registration of voters in Hood River county for the primaries is 1244 and it is estimated that in the neighborhood of 250 voters failed to register, so that the total voting population of the county is about 1000. It is interesting to note that there are fourths of the registration is in the Republican party, a little more than half the remainder registering as Democrats and the others among the smaller parties. The registration figures show 46 voters have declared themselves as independents. The party registration is Republican, 925, Democratic, 191, Prohibitionists 42, Socialist, 92, scattering 5. The polls will be open from noon until 7 o'clock in the evening and only the Republicans and Democrats will be entitled to vote at the primaries. The usual polling places will be used in the various precincts. The campaign has been warming up during the past week and the mails are flooded carrying literature to the registered voters. There is little contest for any of the Democrat nominations, but the fight for places on the Republican ticket is becoming hot. The main division is between the regular Republican, who favor the maintenance of a party organization through the assembly, and the discontented wing of the party who are getting the support of the members of other parties registering as Republicans in order to have a hand in nominating the candidates of the leading party. In the contests for the various county offices it is expected that the voters will follow their own choice and vote for the men they believe to be best qualified to hold office. In the vote for the state offices the lines will be drawn between the regular candidates who are backed up by the assembly of the party and the other candidates who are running independently. The anti-assembly spirit in this county does not seem to be as heavy as in other sections of the state, and A. J. Mason, who is one of the most pronounced of the anti-assemblyites, said a few days ago that he believed Hood River county would give the assembly ticket the largest proportion of support received from any county in the state.

OTEN BUILDING OCCUPIED.

The new building just completed by John Otten at the corner of Oak and Fourth streets is now occupied, the large corner store room being taken by Morlan & Lathrop and the smaller by J. & L. Hawley. The dry goods and clothing firm moved the early part of the week and are getting settled for the formal opening of their new quarters Saturday. A larger store room and better facilities for displaying goods are afforded in the new building. The Hawley millinery store now occupies the new room on the east side of the building and celebrated the opening of their new store with the regular opening and showing of new styles in millinery.

Kinnaird & Kinsey Move.

Kinnaird & Kinsey have moved their grocery store from the Chapman building on the Heights into the building at the south east corner of Oak and Second streets recently vacated by Morlan & Lathrop. The new room is an excellent location and is well adapted to the needs of a grocery store. It has been well fitted up and the firm is now situated to better handle a growing business.

APPLE HARVEST ON IN EARNEST

The Apple Growers Union warehouse is a mighty busy place this week with the closing week of the packing school and the beginning of the rush of the apple shipping. Two carloads are going out every day from the local warehouse this week and this number will be increased up to the first of October when the big shipping will open up. After that date the Union has 30 cars a week ordered from the railroad and expects to be able to use still more than that number. The east side warehouse near Van Horn is being opened this week and shipments are now being made from that point. Sam Campbell has charge of the shipping from Van Horn.

The Kings are now being shipped in carloads to New York and other varieties which are not coming in such large quantities are being consigned in mixed cars. The last of the Gravensteins, Jonathans, Snows, Columbias, Wealthys and Grimes Golden are being shipped to the end of the season. A large number of Winter Nellis pears are also being handled through the Union at this time. The picking of the Newtowns and Spencers will begin within the next ten days in the larger east side orchards and as soon as these varieties are packed and started there will be from five to ten carloads going out every day. A large platform has been built east of the Union warehouse on which much of the fruit will have to be handled outside. While there have been a large number of students in the packing school this week and last, indications are still that there will be a shortage of packers in a few weeks when the big orchards begin to send their apples to the warehouse.

HUNGARIAN STUDIES HOOD RIVER PACK

Matthias Machacs, a horticulturist, of Budapest, Hungary, traveling in the United States on a "stipendium" granted him by his Government, is spending several days in Hood River investigating and studying the methods employed here in the packing and shipping of apples. Mr. Machacs, who speaks good English, was a prize graduate of the University of this city and was for this a recipient of the scholarship which he is now using to come to the United States in order that he might study the methods of fruit raising in this country. He has visited California and came to Hood River to study apple culture from a scientific standpoint. He visited the packing school in session at the Union warehouse and spent considerable time in the orchards. He was especially interested in the methods used in the extermination of orchard pests to the end of producing perfect apples. He highly approved of the Apple Growers Fellowship recently organized here and from here he expects to go to Corvallis to visit the government experimental station and Oregon Agricultural College.

WRITE HULBURT'S NAME ON BALLOT

To the Republican voters:—Through a misunderstanding as to the last day on which petitions could be filed with the county clerk to get on the ballot of the primary election my petitions were not filed. I am a candidate for the office of county surveyor. My petitions were properly circulated and contained many more than the necessary number of signatures. On September 9, the day I had understood to be the last day for filing, it being 15 days before the primary election, I was notified that it was too late. My name will not appear on the ballot, but there is a blank space provided in which my name may be written. I respectfully urge voters to write in my name with their pencils and then to be sure and make the necessary cross in front of my name.

If elected to the office I will perform the duties in a business-like way for the best interests of the taxpayers of the county. The charges for county work are fixed by law, it is true, but there is room for extravagance in the performance of the work. I propose, if elected, to use the same economical method in conducting the county business that I would employ in my own affairs. I am for good roads and will use my influence at all times for the proper building of the same. Your support will be appreciated. W. F. Laraway, Carroll M. Hurlburt.

Mrs. Herman Plath, of North Yakima, is seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia at the home of her son, C. A. Plath, in this city. She came for a visit a couple of weeks ago and became ill upon her arrival. She is 71 years old and because of her advanced age her chances for recovery are less. Her husband and daughter, Mrs. Velkany, of North Yakima, and sons, Fred and Robert Plath, of Spokane, are at her bedside.

W. F. Laraway went to Portland Wednesday.

AN OPEN LETTER BY MURRAY KAY To the voters of Hood River County: The Hood River Glacier is placing this space at my disposal for an open letter expressing my views as to the conduct and handling of the business which belong or may belong to the office of County Surveyor, for which I am a Republican candidate at the Primary, September 24.

present company or a municipal plant. If the latter whether from pumping plant, Tucker's Spring, or other source, purity, abundance and pressure are most important. It will never be my function to take part in any controversy, but when such is settled, if I am called upon for advice or work I shall be prepared to handle it. I am in favor of permanent hard surface paving throughout the city, beginning with the main blocks, so soon as water pipes are down, and of the placing of all wires underground, if practicable to do so at that time. The early final establishment of all city lines and grades where not already fixed, and the making of a correct map within city limits, from precise surveys, is a necessity which should not be put off too long. Let me say that the government corners and other marks should never be disturbed, in fact, it should be against the law to tamper with them. This, of course, does not preclude the piling of stones about such corners for their easy location. All notes of surveys made, or to be made by me, will be open for inspection at all times, and will be at the call of the city and county for their use in making future maps. I am prepared to give the office my full attention and will look for your vote on September 24th.

SECOND ADJOURNED DITCH MEETING The East Fork Irrigating company failed to get a quorum at its adjourned meeting which was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon to consider the adoption of a new water contract to be made between the company and the stockholders. The contract which puts the water rent on an assessment basis was read to the meeting and a second adjournment was taken until Saturday, October 1, when an attempt will be made to get a quorum for its consideration. The meeting held last Saturday was a lengthy one, much time being taken with the discussion of a proposed new bond issue by the ditch company. The present bonded indebtedness of the company comes due within two years and there are other loans which the company will have to pay off. It is to raise this money that the new bond issue is wanted.

Bright and early this morning the big contest starts for new members to the Commercial Club. It will be a contest to the finish between the Newtowns and the Spitzbergs and while they are both working to get the same results the crowds which line up the most new members of the club is the winner of "big feed" to be served them by the losers at the close of the contest. It will be a miracle if any man in the valley gets by the Golden Guards of Newtowns and the Cardinal Cohorts of Spitzbergs without becoming a member of the Club. On Saturday, October 1, the scalps will be counted and the honors awarded. George R. Wilbur and Ernest C. Smith, both men learned in the law, are the captains of the Spitzbergs and Spitz, respectively, and they have their forces lined up in battle array for the Nine Days' Battle. The members of the opposing teams are: Newtown—Geo. R. Wilbur, R. H. Waugh, G. R. Castner, Phil Carroll, E. R. Moller, J. J. Carter, A. P. Manning, A. B. Cutler, C. A. Bell, John R. Putman, Wilson Fike, W. S. Gribble, E. T. Fols, George W. Dimmick, Leslie Butler, J. H. Schmeltzer, C. T. Early, J. L. Carter, W. H. Walton, Homer A. Rogers, Capt. C. P. McCann, Harry Connaway, J. M. Culbertson, Russell G. Pond, V. Winchell, W. M. Sylvester, R. W. Kelly, F. A. Stram, W. H. Marshall, W. S. Montgomery, C. H. Marshall, and P. M. Morse. Spitzbergs—Ernest C. Smith, E. H. Shepard, J. E. Hall, Jr., Henry Hackett, R. J. Melsano, James E. C. Brock, R. E. Perigo, H. A. Cunningham, J. P. Lucas, D. C. Eccles, Frank Chandler, John Goldsberry, Truman Butler, G. Y. Edwards, R. E. PRIMARY BALLOTS ARE PREPARED The Republican and Democrat ballots to be used in the primary election Saturday have been prepared by County Clerk George D. Culbertson. The state and county tickets bear the names of the aspirants for office and spaces are left where the names of the voter's choice may be written in if it is not on the ballot. There are candidates for all the state offices on the Republican ticket and the only county office without a candidate is that of coroner. There are many vacancies on the state Democratic ticket, and only one name appears on the county ticket, that being William Ganger, who is running for the nomination of his party for sheriff.

Miss Joy Mason has been ill at her home in Pine Grove during the past week. Miss L. Mae Weeks, of the Style Shop, was in Portland the early part of the week. Dr. J. McL. Loehnd, of Indianapolis, was here over Sunday the guest of W. S. and James E. Montgomery. H. P. Coburn came Wednesday from Indianapolis to visit his sister, Mrs. W. B. Allen, in the Oak Grove section. There will be a dance at Oak Grove Friday night, September 23. Excellent music is assured and a supper will be served at midnight. The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Orr on Tuesday afternoon, September 20. The meeting proved an interesting one but not enough members were present to transact the business. They adjourned to meet with Mrs. Gill next Tuesday, September 27. Everyone interested in the cause is requested to be present.

At the reception held in honor of the teachers of the public schools on Monday September 4, an association was proposed to be known as the Hood River School and Home Association, and a committee appointed to consider the formation of plans. This committee has drawn up a constitution which will submit to a public meeting to be held at the Unitarian church on Monday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock. A literary and musical program is being arranged and will be announced later. All who are interested in our schools are requested to be present. H. A. MacDonald, A. W. Onthank, J. J. McLaughlin, Committee.
