> Article on Fruit Industry. "The Fruit Industries of the Northwest' is the title of an extended article, fully illustrated, that will appear in the January number of the "World Today."

This article is written by Sidney C, Miller, familiar with the fruit valleys in the Northwest, having been en-gaged in the buying and shipping fruit from these sections for several years. It is written with the purpose of showing the wonderful development of the most productive fruit lands in the world. The article describes how by irrigation and scientific cultivation the territory is now producing peaches pears, grapes, apples and prunes that in color, size and flavor rank foremost among the horticultural products of the world. The crop this season is conservatively estimated at 25,000 caroads and not to exceed 25 per cent of the trees are of bearing age, and only a small part of the available lands are under cultivation. By these salient facts this article sets forth the great future for this, the fruit garden of the world, and, finally, it describes the perfection to which the science of nodern transportation has been brought to place this fruit in the markets of the world and in the homes they feed. All the famous fruit val-leys in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana will be fully described.
